

Cambridge Journals in the Social Sciences

Ageing and Society

A new international journal devoted to publishing contributions to the understanding of human ageing, particularly from the social sciences and humanities. Its interpretation of ageing as a subject is wide and includes all aspects of the human condition whether they relate to individuals, groups, institutions or societies. £24.00 for institutions £17.00 for individuals

Archives européennes de sociologie European Journal of Sociology

The aims of this journal are firstly to reaffirm and continue the European tradition of historical and comparative sociology, and to incorporate in it the more important contributions made by empirical studies. Secondly, they are to encourage comparative studies of the institutions of European societies, and of European institutions in other parts of the world. £22.00 for institutions £12.50 for individuals

Comparative Studies in Society and History

This is a truly international forum of social analysis which publishes the work of authors from throughout the world in many disciplines – including history, sociology, anthropology, political science, as well as law, economics and the humanities. £23.00 for institutions £12.50 for individuals

Journal of Public Policy

This new journal will publish articles that use concepts derived from any of the social sciences to illuminate a significant problem facing contemporary government. Articles which cross the conventional boundaries between the social sciences will be particularly welcome. £30.00 for institutions £15.00 for individuals

Journal of Social Policy

This journal is concerned with the historical and theoretical analysis of social policy and with processes and problems in the implementation of social policy at both national and local levels. It explores the relationship of social administration to all the social sciences as well as to social work and social action. £29.00 for institutions £17.50 for members of BSA

Ageing and Society

The Journal of the Centre for Policy on Ageing
and the British Society of Gerontology

Editor: MALCOLM L. JOHNSON

Policy Studies Institute, London

Review Editor: REX TAYLOR

M.R.C. Medical Sociology Unit, Aberdeen

We are pleased to announce a new international journal devoted to publishing contributions to the understanding of human ageing, particularly from the social sciences and humanities. Its interpretation of ageing as a subject field is wide and includes all aspects of the human condition whether they relate to individuals, groups, institutions or societies.

The Editor of Ageing and Society will welcome appropriate theoretical, methodological, research and policy contributions from any field of social gerontology (papers from the physical sciences and clinical medicine will be welcome when they relate specifically to the social world). The bulk of the journal's contents will deal with aspects of later life, but it is hoped that contributions will also extend the current confines of ageing by encouraging the analysis of age-related phenomena in the earlier stages of life. The Editor will welcome contributions from the fields of sociology, psychology, economics, policy studies, political science, environmental studies, anthropology, history and law, but he also wishes to encourage work from less developed fields, such as art, literature and creative writing. Papers will be selected on the basis of their contribution to the scholarly foundations of ageing studies, to empirical knowledge, or to policy applications, and for their readability by a multi-disciplinary audience.

Ageing and Society will also carry a review section comprising book reviews and shorter notices, review articles and symposia, and an abstracts service intended to draw readers' attention to relevant articles in other journals.

Volume 1: March, July and November 1981
£24.00 for institutions £17.00 for individuals
Single parts: £9.00

British Journal of Social Work

Editor: Martin Davies

Book Review Editor: Linda Hunt

Editorial Board

Nancy Hazel, Dorothy Ogilvie, Eric Sainsbury, Ian Sinclair, Sue Walrond-Skinner

Publication: Quarterly

Subscription: Volume 11, 1981

$58.00 (overseas)

£19.60 (UK)

This quarterly journal which was launched in 1971 has won a deservedly high reputation in academic circles and is one of the leading journals in this particular subject area. From 1980 it will be published by Academic Press. It aims to provide social workers, their educators and other academics in the Social Sciences a broad view of the developments in social work with particular emphasis on research findings and descriptive accounts of practice. Each issue contains a comprehensive Book Review Section. The Reviewers are chosen for their high reputation in their own fields and the reviews are more than simply descriptive in that they seek to give in-depth criticisms of each of the titles chosen. In addition all the books reviewed by the book review editors are listed, which means that over a year one can be certain of finding virtually all relevant material to social work which of course provides a valuable bibliography. There is also an extensive Abstracting Section where once again Abstractors renowned in their own field discuss at length articles in journals related to social work.

SOCIAL ADMINISTRATION ASSOCIATION

The Association exists for those whose work consists mainly of teaching or research in the fields of Social Administration and Social Policy. It was formed some years ago to enable staff from universities, polytechnics, technical and other colleges, independent and Government research organisations to meet and discuss matters of common interest.

The Association acts as a representative of its members and of Social Administration through contacts with the Social Science Research Council, the Council for National Academic Awards and the Business Education Council.

The Association has specialist groups which meet to discuss the teaching of social policy and public expenditure and social policy.

The Association holds an Annual Conference. The 1981 conference will be from 14th to 16th July in Leeds. The theme will be 'Theory and Social Policy'.

The current membership subscription is £21.00 per calendar year; this includes the subscription to the Association's Journal, the Journal of Social Policy (four issues per year).

Journal of Social Policy

Notes for Contributors

1. All contributions and correspondence should be sent to: The Editor, Journal of Social Policy, PSSRU, Cornwallis Building, The University, Canterbury, Kent, CT2 7NF. All books for review should be sent to: The Review Editor, Journal of Social Policy, Department of Sociology and Social Administration, University of Southampton, Highfield, Southampton SO9 5NH.
2. Articles should generally contain between 5,000 and 10,000 words including footnotes, although longer or shorter articles may be accepted by arrangement with the editor. Short articles stand a better chance of early publication.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere. If an author is publishing a related article elsewhere, this fact should be stated.
4. Contributions (articles, review articles, reviews) should be clearly typed on one side of the paper only using a conventional size of paper, preferably A4. All material should be typed double-spaced with generous margins. Contributors should send two copies and keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
5. Contributions should be accompanied by an abstract of between one and two hundred words, and a title page providing information about the position/s held by the author/s and giving full details of any acknowledgements.
6. Manuscripts will not be accepted for publication unless they conform to the usual journal style. Contributors are advised to look through earlier issues of the journal for general guidance, although a brief style sheet is available from the editor upon request. Particular attention should be made to the journal requirements about references and tables.
7. References to books and articles should include the following details: in the case of books, the full title and author or authors, place of publication, publisher and date; in the case of articles, the title and author or authors, full name of the journal, volume, year and page reference (first and last page). References and other footnotes should be numbered consecutively throughout and typed separately at the end of the article.
8. Tables should be clearly laid out and designed to fit on to a page 234 mm × 155 mm. Vertical lines between columns should be omitted, and horizontal lines limited to the top and bottom of the table, with an additional one below the column headings. Totals and percentages should be labelled, and units identified.
9. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the editor, by airmail where appropriate, within seven days of receiving them. The master proof will always be sent direct to the editor by the printer; contributors will receive duplicates.
10. Authors of articles and review articles (but not book reviews) receive twenty-five free offprints. Additional copies may be bought if ordered at proof stage.
11. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
