The Model 4175 Rutherford Backscattering Surface Analyzer is a compact, easy to operate instrument, designed for routine surface and depth characterization of thin films and solid materials. Rutherford Backscattering provides:

- Quantitative analysis without standards
- Mass and Depth analysis without sputtering
- Atomic stoichiometry without sensitivity factors
- Excellent detection limits

The system features fast computerized data acquisition, a small footprint, and simple push-button operation. A one-day training period, is all that's necessary. We've made it that simple. We invite you to send us a sample... Find out what RBS can do for you.

Direct all inquiries to Dr. David Stern, RBS Product Manager at General Ionex Corporation, 19 Grant Rd., Newburyport, MA 01950 (617) 462-7147
