

ANNUAL SURVEY OF COMMONWEALTH LAW 1971

Editor: H. W. R. WADE, Q.C., LL.D., D.C.L., Honorary Bencher and Barrister; Professor of English Law in the University of Oxford.

Assistant Editor: HAROLD L. CRYER, M.V.O., M.A., Barrister; Captain, Royal Navy (Retd.), formerly Chief Naval Judge-Advocate.

Edited at the Bodleian Library, Oxford, this important series provides a comprehensive survey of new law throughout the British Commonwealth. The Solicitors' Journal wrote of last year's volume, "The presentation of so vast an array of source material, from so many and diverse jurisdictions, is quite masterly. . . . The discriminating selection and narrative treatment of authorities reviewed invariably gives a reliable and succinct first indication of important developments and sets them in their political and social context very clearly."

This latest volume covers the period 1st July 1970 to 30th June 1971, and maintains the series' high standards of scholarship and critical commentary. Subjects treated cover a very wide field and include public and private international law, fundamental rights and civil liberties, property law, taxation, family law and many other topics. Each Annual Survey facilitates a reciprocal flow of ideas and attitudes between the U.K. and the Commonwealth. No legal practitioner or law student should be satisfied with an insular view of his subject, and this series as a whole provides a continuous source of knowledge with which to broaden his overall perspective.

Law in Africa Series

No. 30. Cases and Materials on East African Mercantile Law

by R. W. Hodgkin

The book draws exclusively from local case material, statutes and from articles written on East African law. It includes several unreported decisions of the High Courts of the three countries. The largest section of the book covers cases on the law of contract, as contract is the basis of mercantile law. A brief outline of the court system is included and also an explanation of the importance of East African and English cases. The chapter headings are as follows: Introduction; Law of Contract; Bailment; Law of Agency; Partnership; Sale of Goods; Hire-Purchase; Law of Insurance; Law of Negotiable Instruments; Law of Bankruptcy; Arbitration; Contracts of Guarantee; Trade Marks and Passing Off; Remedies for Breach of Contract.

No. 31. East African Cases on the Law of Tort

by E. Veitch

The cases have been chosen to show the historical development of the received law since colonisation, the inter-action of the customary with the received law and the hindrances, posed by ill-reporting of cases and early judicial attitudes to the development of an independent law of tort. The recent cases illustrate the new courses of direction in the law in response to changing local conditions.

After an introduction, which outlines the history of the law of tort in East Africa, there follows Chapters on Negligence; Vicarious Liability; Liability for Harm Done by Dangerous Things; Nuisance; Defamation; Trespass to the Person; Trespass to Goods; Trespass to Land; Deceit and Passing Off; and Damages.

No. 32. The Nigerian Penal System

by Alan Milner

This is the first full-length study of the problems of sentencing and the treatment of offenders in an African country. It draws on the author's personal experience and research work in Nigeria as well as all the published sources.

The Chapters headings are: Crime in Nigeria; The Sanctions of Customary Criminal Law; The Modern Problems of Sentencing; The Patterns of Sentencing; Settlement Procedures; Fines, Forfeiture and Disqualification; Binding Over, Discharges and Probation; The Prison System; The Problems of the Local Prison; Corporal and Capital Punishment; Young Offenders; An Integrated Penal Policy for Nigeria.
