THE ALBERT C. OUTLER PRIZE IN ECUMENICAL CHURCH HISTORY

The Outler Prize was established to encourage the critical study of ecumenical church history, broadly conceived, and to facilitate the publication of such studies. "Ecumenical" is to be construed as chiefly concerned with the problems of Christian unity-and-disunity (doctrinal, cultural, institutional) in any period of church history; or with interactions between Christianity and other religious movements. Works of a partisan nature are excluded. The following categories are eligible:

- a. Studies, chiefly narrative and critical, of ecumenical church history dealing with historical controversies and divisions, or with notable instances of reconciliation and consensus.
- b. Analyses of church councils, dialogues, and debates, or interactions between Christianity and other religious traditions.
- c. Biographical studies of significant leaders, or of persons whose involvement in ecumenical dialogue and action was noteworthy.
- d. Critical editions (preferably annotated) of significant ecumenical documents.
- e. Bibliographical reviews and evaluations in major areas of ecumenical church history.
- f. Pioneering studies that advance scholarly knowledge and ecumenical understanding.

The prize consists of an award of $1000 to the author and a possible grant of up to $3000 for publication (or in exceptional cases, for necessary expenses in the preparation of a book-length manuscript accepted for publication). The prize will be awarded annually, though no award will be made in any year when none of the manuscripts is adjudged to be outstanding. Complete manuscripts in final form must be received by William B. Miller, Secretary, American Society of Church History, 328 Deland Avenue, Indialantic, FL 32903, by 1 June. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.

THE JANE DEMPSEY DOUGLASS PRIZE

The Douglass Prize is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay on some aspect of the role of women in the history of Christianity. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted to Stephen J. Stein, Chair, Committee on Research, American Society of Church History, 1420 E. Maxwell Lane, Bloomington, IN 47401, by 1 August each year. No award will be made in any year when none of the manuscripts is adjudged to be outstanding. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.

Doctrine and Practice in the Early Church

STUART G. HALL

“At a time when seminary professors and ecclesiastical bureaucrats are busily sawing off the historic branches on which the churches have sat, it is gratifying that theological students and faithful laypeople should have available to them such an account as this of the missionary, moral, and intellectual achievements of the scriptural and traditional church of the early centuries. Stuart Hall’s book provides an excellent introduction, both scholarly and accessible, to the formative period on which any recognizable version of Christianity will continue to depend.”

— GEOFFREY WAINWRIGHT
Duke University

“Hall walks with a scholar’s ease and grace through the ancient texts. His book has the advantage of treating more explicitly the liturgical practice of the ancient church, in addition to key persons, doctrinal issues, councils, and movements. . . . The author’s literary skill enhances what could have been a heavy technical presentation, making the book suitable for classroom use. . . . Scholars will find fresh perspectives on old issues.”

EAVESDROP ON MATTHEW FOX AND THOMAS AQUINAS

Listen in on a revealing “conversation” between the great thirteenth-century theologian and the provocative popularizer of creation spirituality. “Just as Jung was not a Jungian and Jesus was not a Christian and Buddha was not a Buddhist, so Aquinas was not a Thomist.

... I am a student of Western spirituality for the purpose of learning what wisdom lies hidden in the recesses of our tradition for changing our ways of living, relating, celebrating, and healing. . . . In writing this book I have come to admire Aquinas as a genius who is as imposing as Albert Einstein, Wolfgang Mozart or Hildegard of Bingen.

I find much power and wisdom in Aquinas and the purpose of this book is to make available to others some of that wisdom and some of that empowerment.”
