

'Military Munchausen's': assessment of factitious claims of military service in psychiatric patients

Sir: May I draw your attention to an error in Martin Baggaley's paper (Psychiatric Bulletin, March 1998, 22, 153-154). He states that officers have five figure service numbers whereas the correct number is six. All officers have six figure numbers and other ranks eight.

OP42 Handbook for Doctors on the Overseas Doctors' Training Scheme, £7.50, June 1998

This handbook is intended to provide guidance to doctors about to embark on the scheme by covering all those areas which might concern trainees during their early months in the UK. It includes information on a wide range of issues relating to cultural adjustment, clinical practice within the NHS and postgraduate training in psychiatry. It also provides advice on more practical issues such as visa application, General Medical Council (GMC) registration, accommodation and benefits.

OP44 Handbook for Doctors on the Overseas Doctors' Training Scheme, £7.50, June 1998

This sixth annual census undertaken by the Royal College of Psychiatrists indicates psychiatric staffing in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland as at 30 September 1997. The census provides a good picture of the changing situation over the past few years, particularly with regard to consultant staffing.
