Ramus: Critical Studies in Greek and Roman Literature is a journal of innovative literary criticism aimed at new analysis and interpretation of ancient Greek and Roman literary texts. It is intellectually pluralist, and offers its pages to the full range of contemporary theoretical positions and methodologies from Marxism, feminism, postcolonialism and social anthropology, to narratology, deconstruction and reception studies. It is, however, a journal of criticism, not of theory, and it is primarily concerned with original and significant elucidation of ancient Greek and Roman authors.

The Classical Quarterly

Published for The Classical Association

Editors

Bruce Gibson, University of Liverpool, UK

Andrew Morrison, University of Manchester, UK

The Classical Quarterly has a reputation for publishing the highest quality classical scholarship for over 100 years. It publishes research papers and short notes in the fields of language, literature, history and philosophy. Two substantial issues (around 300 pages each) of The Classical Quarterly appear each year, in May and December. Given the quality and depth of the articles published in The Classical Quarterly, any serious classical library needs to have a copy on its shelves.

Notice to Contributors

Contributions within the scope covered by the journal (see inside front cover) are invited and should be sent to either of the Editors. Electronic submission is preferred in either pdf or Word format. Greek or other non-Roman script should be submitted in a unicode font.

Normally contributions should be between 5,000 and 10,000 words in length (inclusive of footnotes and bibliography), though shorter articles will be considered.

Contributors should be sure to keep a copy of the version submitted. Articles are routinely sent to one or more referees for peer review.

Authors will be sent a pdf version (plus cover and contents page) of the final formatted copy of any article published in the journal.

Preparation of Copy

Articles should be typed in double spacing. Footnotes should be numbered consecutively and typed in double spacing. Greek quotations should be in Greek script and not transliterated. A translation of longer passages of Greek and Latin should normally be included.

Quotations in Latin should be italicised (or underlined to indicate italics), except for long indented passages; quotations in English, French, German, etc. should be put in single inverted commas. A quotation within a quoted passage has double inverted commas. Single words or self-contained phrases (such as faute de mieux) may be italicised (or underlined to indicate italics). The following should not be italicised: ad loc., ap., c., cf., e.g., ibid., i.e., s.v., viz.

References should normally be given in the footnotes, in the following form:

BOOKS

G.H. Gellie, Sophocles, A Reading (Melbourne 1972) 53-78.

A.D. Trendall, The Red-Figured Vases of Lucania, Campania and Sicily 1 (Oxford 1967) 193-4, or 1.193-4.

Authors' initials should be stated, at least at their first mention.

ARTICLES

A.S. Henry, 'Euripides, Hippolytos 790-855', CQ 26 (1976) 229-31

or A.S. Henry (CQ 26 [1976] 229-31).

Both year and volume number should be given.

Journal abbreviations may follow the style of L'Année philologique or the OCD.

ANCIENT AUTHORITIES

Ar. Birds 136; Arist. Nic. Eth. 3.9.7 or Arist. Pol. 1273a2; Hom. Il. 5.1 (not E 1); Cic. Phil. 2.19; Quint. 10.1.45; Soph. O.T. 225. Single references to ancient authors and documents should be placed in the text, rather than in footnotes.

When a modern work is referred to several times in footnotes, it is preferred that its full title be given only in the first footnote in which it appears; subsequent references to the work should be by author's name, abbreviated title and initial footnote number. Otherwise, cross-references inside an article should be kept to a minimum and, if used, the author should indicate the relevant page and line of the typescript.

The following abbreviations should be noted:

CAH 9.536; CIL 6.29271; FGrH 115 F 225; *PIR*² C 763; RE 4A.629-753; TLL 6.2878.16.

BC/BCE/CE should appear after, and AD before, the number of the year.
