Zeitschrift für Gerontologie

European Journal of Medicine and Research in the Elderly.
Since 1 January 1984, consolidated with "Current Gerontologie" (Aktuelle Gerontologie), founded in 1971 by A. Störmer, Munich.

Zeitschrift für Gerontologie is the only German-language gerontology journal and, therefore, has warranted much attention from practioners. The journal includes contributions from the expansive fields of gerontology, and geriatrics, as well as psychology and sociology of aging, and those concerning the practical care of the elderly.

The Zeitschrift für Gerontologie is published bimonthly at a base subscription price of DM 276.- (not inclusive postage).

The Journal of Cross-Cultural Gerontology is an international and interdisciplinary journal providing a forum for scholarly discussion of the aging process and the problems of the aged throughout the world. The journal emphasizes discussions of research findings, theoretical issues and applied approaches that deal with non-Western populations, as well as articles that provide a comparative orientation to the study of the aging process in its social, economic, historical and biological perspectives.

The core of the journal comprises a broad range of articles dealing with non-Western societies, written from the perspectives of history, anthropology, sociology, political science, psychology, population studies, health/biology, etc. A second category of papers includes articles from Western societies comparing sub-cultural groupings or ethnic minorities such as Vietnamese, Turks, etc. Comparative studies of topics related to aging comprise the third group of articles. Such comparative analyses have been on Western and non-Western societies as well as on comparisons of Western societies, such as socialist vs. capitalist systems, for instance, or societies with different social service delivery systems.

With societies becoming ever more multicultural and with many societies experiencing a 'graying' of their population on a hitherto unprecedented scale, the Journal of Cross-Cultural Gerontology stands at the forefront of one of the most pressing issues of our times.

Journal of Cross-Cultural Gerontology is surveyed by Sociological Abstracts, Current Literature on Aging, Biological Abstracts, Sage Family Studies Abstracts, Referativnyi Zhurnal, International Bibliography of the Social Sciences, Psychological Abstracts, Combined Health Information Database.

Ageing in Europe: Innovation and Good Practice in Community Care

7-8 October 1993, The Park Hotel, Cardiff, Wales

To highlight the 1993 European Year of Older People and Solidarity Between Generations, an international conference, "Ageing in Europe: Innovation and Good Practice in Community Care" will be held in Cardiff on the 7-8th October 1993. The Welsh Office, Commission of the European Communities and the University of Wales, Bangor are sponsoring this particularly timely conference. The aim of Ageing in Europe is to provide delegates with the opportunity of interaction and discussion with professionals in the caring services, particularly those with policy and management responsibilities; researchers; practitioners and anyone whose work involves older people. A number of distinguished international speakers will be featured in plenary sessions focusing on issues of ageing across Europe and of promoting a positive image of older people within the community. Concurrent sessions have been designed to emphasise an exchange of experiences within the community in other European countries as well as the UK. The conference will also feature an exhibition and a charity display area.

Registration:

A reduced registration fee of £175 resident (includes accommodation) and £100 non-resident is offered to those delegates registering by 16 August 1993. After that date the registration fees are £200 resident and £125 non-resident. The registration fee includes attendance at conference sessions, and poster presentations, access to the exhibition, lunch and refreshments both days and VAT at the prevailing rate. The Conference Dinner is included in the resident's fee and is available to the non-resident delegates for £20.

Accommodation:

The resident delegate fee includes one night's accommodation. A block of rooms have been reserved for delegates at the conference headquarters hotel, The Park Hotel with smaller blocks of rooms available at two other hotels. There is limited accommodation in each of the hotels and bookings will be processed in order of receipt of requests and payment. Delegates are encouraged to register in advance to ensure their accommodation in the conference headquarters hotel.

Notes for Contributors

All contributions and correspondence should be sent to: Professor Peter G. Coleman, The Editor, Ageing and Society, University Department of Geriatric Medicine, Level E, Centre Block, Southampton General Hospital, Southampton SO9 4XY, England. All books for review should be sent to: Professor Anthony M. Warner, Age Concern Institute of Gerontology, King's College London, Cornwall House, Waterloo Road, London SE1 8TX, England.

General approach and preparation of manuscripts

Authors are asked to bear in mind the multi-disciplinary and international nature of the readership when writing their contribution. In particular, care should be taken to draw out the implications of the analysis for readers in other fields, other countries, and other disciplines. Stereotypical presentation of individuals or social groupings, including the use of ageist language, should be avoided.

Articles should generally contain between 5,000 and 10,000 words, although longer or shorter articles may be accepted by arrangement with the Editor. Articles in the Forum section will normally be shorter (3,000–6,000 words).

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. If an author is publishing a related article elsewhere, this fact should be stated. Contributors of articles or reviews accepted for publication will be asked to assign copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press.

Authors of papers should send three copies of their article and keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs. Contributions (articles, review articles, reviews) should be clearly typed on one side of A4 (or an equivalent) size paper. All material should be typed double-spaced (including endnotes) with generous margins.

The title of the article (with main words in capitals), followed by the author's name and affiliation, on separate lines, and then by an abstract of between 100 and 200 words, should be typed on a removable cover page (to facilitate the anonymous refereeing procedure). The text of the article should start on the next page.

Citation of references

Contributors may follow either the standard conventions: (a) in-text citation of sources (author/date system); (b) citation in notes (the system used in vols 1–9 of Ageing and Society).

(a) In-text citation. Give author's surname, date of publication and page references (if any) in parentheses in the body of the text, e.g. '(Hendricks and Hendricks 1986: 222)'. A complete list of references cited, arranged alphabetically by authors' surname, should be typed double-spaced at the end of the article in the form:

Hendricks, J. and Hendricks, C. D. 1986. Ageing in Mass Society: Myths and Realities, third edition Little, Brown & Co., Boston & Toronto.

(See further below for citation of edited volumes, articles).

(b) Citation in notes. References should be given in notes, numbered consecutively through the typescript with raised numbers, and typed double-spaced at the end of the article. Full publication details should be given in the notes when a work is first cited; for second and subsequent citations a short form may be used.

Notes should be presented as follows:

- 1 Kivnick, H. Q., Through the life cycle: psychosocial thoughts on old age. In Pollock G. H. and Greenspan, S. I. (eds), The Course of Life, Vol. 5. International Universities Press, Madison, CT, 1989; Dowd, J. J., Stigmatization among the Aged. Brooks/Cole, Monterey, 1989.
- 2 Walker, A., The social creation of poverty and dependency in old age. Journal of Social Policy, 9 (1980), 49–75.

Notes

Notes other than bibliographical references should be kept to an absolute minimum. If they are essential, they should be numbered consecutively in with the bibliographical notes.

Tables

Tables should be clearly laid out on separate pages, numbered consecutively, and designed to fit a printed page of 234 × 155 mm. Titles should be typed above the body of the table, with an initial capital for the first word and proper names only and underlined (for italics). Vertical lines should not be used and horizontal lines should be used only at the top and bottom of the table and below column headings. Totals and percentages should be labelled and units identified.

Figures

Figures should also be provided on separate pages and numbered consecutively. Captions should be provided on a separate sheet. Indicate in the margin of the typescript approximately where in the text tables and figures should fall.

Proofs and offprints

First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where appropriate, within seven days of receiving them. The master proof will always be sent direct to the Editor by the printer; contributors will receive duplicates. Authors will receive 25 offprints free of charge; additional copies may be purchased if ordered at proof stage.
