

The Text of the New Testament

Its Transmission, Corruption and Restoration

B. M. METZGER

This book supplies information concerning the science and art of textual criticism as applied to the New Testament. With an eye to the needs of the student, the author discusses a wide variety of textual problems, from the very simple to the more complex. While earlier textual criticisms have concentrated on individual books and passages, this is the first to deal with the New Testament in its entirety. There is a check-list of all known Greek papyri of the Testament.

The Revelation of St John the Divine

A Commentary on the English Text

AUSTIN FARRER

The author is convinced that all the clues to the interpretation of Revelation lie within itself. He gives a text, based on his own correction of traditional English versions, into which he has woven a commentary concentrating on the task of making St John's thought intelligible to the English reader.

Historical Tradition in the Fourth Gospel

C. H. DODD

A critical and historical investigation of St John's Gospel which shows that behind it there is an ancient tradition independent of the Synoptic Gospels. A sequel to the author's The Interpretation of the Fourth Gospel. 'It makes the historicity of the Fourth Gospel the liveliest issue in New Testament studies to-day...learned, lucid, accurate, balanced.' A. M. HUNTER in The Expository Times. 55s. net

The Setting of The Sermon on the Mount

W. D. DAVIES

Professor Davies examines the Sermon on the Mount in its historical context, describing the different forces which were at work both inside and outside the early Church and assessing the element of 'Law' in primitive Christianity. 63s. net

The Cambridge Greek Testament Commentary: St Mark

The second volume of The Cambridge Greek Testament Commentary, with commentary by C. E. B. Cranfield, is now available as a Paperback. Assuming that the student has his own text, Mr Cranfield gives a detailed commentary on theological matters and relates the contents of the Gospel to life and worship in the early Christian church.
