NEW FROM UNC PRESS

AGROTOPIAS
An American Literary History of Sustainability
Abby L. Goode

"A significant contribution to a growing field of studies on pre-twentieth century antecedents to contemporary sustainability rhetoric and practices . . . highlights the ways that U.S. agrarianism has been entangled from the beginning with nativist and eugenic assumptions about population control and racial purity."

—William Gleason, Princeton University
294 pages $34.95 paper

ORIENTAL, BLACK, AND WHITE
The Formation of Racial Habits in American Theater
Josephine Lee

"Details a number of historically important examples of interracial intersections onstage, unmooring conventional approaches to understanding race in America and providing a timely and much-needed story of racial representation and impersonation in American cultural history."

—Esther Kim Lee, Duke University
344 pages $29.95 paper

UNMOORED
The Search for Sincerity in Colonial America
Ana Schwartz

"A stunner. Schwartz's careful rereading of sincerity reveals settler colonialism to be a practice, embedded in social activities that nominally exist toward other ends. This book is one of the most sophisticated, interdisciplinary studies I have ever read in this considerably sophisticated, interdisciplinary field."

—Jordan Alexander Stein, Fordham University
Published by the Omohundro Institute of Early American History and Culture
288 pages $32.95

@BOOK Most UNC Press books are also available as E-Books.

UNC Press books are available through Books @ JSTOR and Project Muse – and North Carolina Scholarship Online (NCSO) on Oxford Scholarship Online.

CITIZENS AND RULERS OF THE WORLD
The American Child and the Cartographic Pedagogies of Empire
Mahshid Mayar

"A lively and ambitious project. Mayar marshals an amazing untapped body of evidence that complicates current (and older) assumptions about childhood, education, and the roles of nationalism and imperialism at the turn of the twentieth century."

—Martin Brückner, University of Delaware
264 pages $32.95 paper

CLASS INTERRUPTIONS
Inequality and Division in African Diasporic Women's Fiction
Robin Brooks

"Shows that writers have engaged class consistently, even as class remained a lacuna in literary critical studies. Brooks confidently contributes this much-needed component to advance a new generation of literary scholarship in which class has as much analytical presence as does race or gender."

—Carole Boyce Davies, Cornell University
238 pages $27.95 paper

GROTESQUE TOUCH
Women, Violence, and Contemporary Circum-Caribbean Narratives
Amy K. King

"King provides us with excellent analysis of a fascinating range of literary and visual texts. Few scholars of the circum-Caribbean engage with both the literary and the visual with as much rigor and facility as King does here, and her work is crucial for understanding the contemporary United States and Caribbean."

—Raphael Dalleo, author of American Imperialism's Undead
248 pages $39.95 paper
