Moroccan Mirages

Agrarian Dreams and Deceptions,
1912–1986

Will D. Swearingen

Morocco's future is threatened politically and economically by a growing agricultural crisis. Will Swearingen locates the roots of this crisis in French dreams for the "jewel" of their colonial empire. He demonstrates that, with disastrous results, contemporary Moroccan leaders are fulfilling a colonial vision, implementing policies and plans drafted during the protectorate period.

Moroccan Mirages is a path-breaking work that offers significant new insights into colonial policy making and national development processes in former colonies.

Workers on the Nile

Nationalism, Communism,
Islam, and the Egyptian Working
Class, 1882–1954

Joel Beinin and

Zachary Lockman

The authors of this study of the Egyptian workers' movement challenge traditional scholarship by demonstrating the importance of the working class and of class struggle in the history of modern Egypt. They explain the interpenetration of class and national consciousness among workers and the close yet contradictory relationship between labor and the nationalist movement from the end of the nineteenth century through the mid-1950's.

Medieval Persian Court Poetry

Julie Scott Meisami

Julie Scott Meisami reveals the high level of artistic excellence achieved by court poets of local Iranian dynasties from the beginning of the eleventh century A.D. to the end of the fourteenth. Dr. Meisami discloses previously neglected stylistic qualities and ethical purposes in medieval Persian court poetry, and shows that court poets were also moral instructors who examined and celebrated the values they shared with their audiences.

The Timurid Architecture of Iran and Turan

Lisa Golombek and

Donald Wilbur

This two-volume work is a comprehensive presentation of the entire range of building activity sponsored by the Timurids of Persia during the fifteenth century, including the monumental, color-clad masjids, shrines, and mausoleums. The cultural flowering that stretched from Iran to Central Asia, beginning in the fourteenth century, is documented through interpretive essays, an extensive catalogue of monuments, and a separate volume of photographs.

THE ISLAMIC TEXTS SOCIETY

The Islamic Texts Society was founded in 1981 as a non-profit scholarly society with the objective of promoting a deeper understanding of Islam through the publication of English translations of works of traditional importance to the Islamic faith and culture.

Among its recent successes have been Muhammad, His Life Based on the Earliest Sources by Martin Lings, Islam and the Destiny of Man by Gai Eaton, a two volume edition of E W Lane's Arabic English Lexicon and the video presentation entitled Islam: A Pictorial Essay in Four Parts. The Society has now established three imprints. Under the Golden Palm imprint the society is preparing a series of titles on the Islamic Arts including a revised and expanded edition of Martin Lings' Quranic Art of Calligraphy and Illumination, and an English version of Titus Burckhardt's Fez, City of Islam using the author's original photographs. This series will begin publication, in association with the publishers Thames and Hudson, in 1988.

In the Islamic Texts Society monograph series early 1988 will see the publication of new editions of two important works, Science and Civilisation in Islam by Seyyed Hossein Nasr, and Shāfi'ī's Risāla translated by Majid Khadduri. We are also preparing for publication in 1988 a new translation by Timothy Winter of Ghazālī's The Book of the Remembrance of Death and the Afterlife and a revised edition of Dr. Kojiro Nakamura's translation of Ghazālī's On Prayer. Also under active preparation is an edition of Ibn Qayyim al-Jauziyyah's Medicine of the Prophet. Several important reprints are also being considered.

In addition the Quinta Essentia imprint has been established to publish other works of Traditional value. Its first two titles are The Eleventh Hour: The Spiritual Crisis of the Modern World in the Light of Tradition and Prophecy by Martin Lings (£10.50), and Mirror of the Intellect: Essays on Traditional Science and Sacred Art by Titus Burckhardt (£20.50).

This Society is interested in learning from scholars who are working in the relevant fields and who have projects either in hand or who are planning such projects as might be of use to the Society's programme.

The Society has also opened The Green Street Book Shop at its premises in Cambridge. As well as holding a comprehensive stock of Islamic books the shop has a wide ranging stock of both new and secondhand books in the following fields:

Arabica, Religions, Egyptology, Metaphysics, Classical, Mediaeval and Renaissance Studies, Symbolism, History of Science, Byzantium, Ancient Civilisations, Mysticism, and Traditional Studies.

We issue specialist catalogues, the most recent of which Islam and the Muslim World (part one of a two part catalogue listing new and antiquarian titles) is now available. We invite you to add your name and address to our active mailing list for future news of the Society and for catalogues from the shop.
