

ISRAEL LAW REVIEW

Hebrew University  Faculty of Law

Israel's Leading English-Language Law Journal

The Israel Law Review has for over three decades been an indispensable tool for the English-speaking jurist interested in the principal developments of law in Israel. The Review contains articles on contemporary Israeli law, Jewish law, international law, comparative law, and topics of general legal interest, as well as digests of major decisions laid down by the Israeli Supreme Court.

SPECIAL ISSUES

- Refusals to Serve-Political Dissent in the Israel Defense Forces: A series of articles and comments discuss the challenges faced by the Israeli society in deciding if a citizen called to serve in the IDF should be allowed to express his ideological dissent by refusing to serve in specific missions.
Vol. 36:3 (2002) 266 pages Price: US $25
- Social Science in the Law: A series of articles from a conference that sought to provide a forum for debate regarding the role of social science in the law and a setting for illustrating the relevance of social science to understanding legal institutions and the decisions they make.
Vol. 35:2–3 (2001) 353 pages Price: US $35
- Democracy and the Courts: Democracy and the Courts: Reprints of articles appearing in Vol. 32 on the perspectives on central developments in constitutionalism and their critiques in the U.S., Canada, Europe and Israel.
