NEW FROM CHICAGO

PORNOGRAPHY, THE THEORY What Utilitarianism Did to Action Frances Ferguson

"In this profoundly original study, Frances Ferguson persuasively makes the startling claim that modern pornography can best be understood by its analogies to utilitarian social structures. . . . This exciting and brilliantly argued book will be widely read and passionately debated."

—Leo Bersani, author of The Culture of Redemption

PAPER $18.00

WOMEN, COMPULSION, MODERNITY

The Moment of American Naturalism

Jennifer L. Fleissner

"An extraordinary piece of original scholarship. . . . This book will be read as perhaps the most significant contribution to the discussion of literary naturalism since the flowering of new historicist work."—Kenneth Warren, author of So Black and Blue

WOMEN IN CULTURE AND SOCIETY SERIES
PAPER $25.00

INVALIDISM AND IDENTITY IN NINETEENTH-CENTURY BRITAIN

Maria H. Frawley

"A judicious, thorough, and engrossing study of the phenomenon of invalidism in nineteenth-century Britain. [Frawley's] examination of the centrality of the invalid as a register of the social and cultural preoccupations of the age constitutes a significant contribution both to the social history of the sick person and to our understanding of the making of modern identity."

—Miriam Bailin, author of The Sickroom in Victorian Fiction

CLOTH $39.00

THINGS

Edited by Bill Brown

Based on an award-winning special issue of Critical Inquiry, Things features eighteen thought-provoking essays by contributors such as Bill Brown, Matthew L. Jones, Bruno Latour, Jessica Riskin, Jeffrey T. Schnapp, Peter Schwenger, Charity Scribner, and Alan Trachtenberg.

PAPER $25.00

A SENSE OF THINGS

The Object Matter of American Literature

Bill Brown

"Bill Brown takes up the story of commodification and its discontents as it reaches a climax of a kind in America in the 1880s and 1890s. Although Brown is by no means the first to argue that literature can 'redeem' the material world from commodification, he does so engagingly, with ingenuity, tact, and an admirable breadth of reference."—David Trotter, London Review of Books

CLOTH $32.00

THE LAWS OF COOL Knowledge Work and the Culture of Information Alan Liu

"It is rare in our profession to see someone rise above scholarly interests to address the greater contextual and historical issues posed by such large-scale developments as the establishment of a networked society, but such work is crucial if the academy is to have a realistic sense of its position in the world. Asking fundamental questions about the nature of knowledge construction, the place of the literary, and the interpolation of academia into larger social structures, The Laws of Cool will be a much discussed and debated book, controversial in the best sense of the word."—N. Katherine Hayles, author of How We Became Posthuman

PAPER $22.50

MY COCAINE MUSEUM

Michael Taussig

"A passionate, terrifying book. . . . Mixing ethnography, critical theory, autobiography, allegory, and fabulous storytelling, Taussig has a mesmerizing voice that conjures the muddy materiality of daily life, transforming it to poetic gold, and then rendering the gold back down to the dross of prosaic fact in the twinkling of a dialectical image."—W. J. T. Mitchell
