Meditations on Eternity for Religious

By Venerable Mother J. MORELL, O.P. 18/6

Here is no sentimental, pious lyricism designed merely to provide devotional entertainment; it is an objective approach to the problem of life based on those essential truths of Faith which are the foundation of any substantial spirituality. The Religious who is surfeited with pious sentimentality and yet unsatisfied by a bare, pedagogical presentation of doctrine, will be overjoyed to find a volume of Meditations, transporting her into an atmosphere of deep, practical Faith, wherein souls live, their eyes fixed steadily on eternity.

In the Spirit of Saint Francis *

By Rev. T. FOLEY, O.F.M.Cap. 13/6

Clear and searching, it offers material for both readers and reference and will be found exceptionally fruitful as spiritual reading during private or community devotions and in retreats.

Saint Maria Goretti *

By MARIE BUEHRLE. 18/6

The full story of the Italian girl of twelve, 'daughter of the people' and virgin martyr, who died of knife wounds defending her purity.

The Indwelling of the Holy Spirit in the Souls of the Just *

According to the Teaching of St Thomas Aquinas. By Rev. B. FROGET, O.P. Translated by Rev. S. A. Raemers. 18/6

Here we have a clear, concise and pungent analysis of the dogma of the Indwelling of the Holy Spirit in the souls of the just—a dogma which is the inexhaustible source for study and contemplation, the very marrow of Christianity.

A Month of Roses *

Thirty-one Meditations on the Rosary. By Rev. P. H. FAGES, O.P. 13/-

Fr Fages guides us through the Mysteries of the Rosary in a new, vigorous, and often startling manner. As the Mysteries unfold, they afford us a deeper insight into the life of Christ. Here the reader finds the primary purpose of the Rosary: to plant our feet squarely in the footsteps of Christ.

The Religious Life and The Vows *

By Mgr CHARLES GAY. 20/-

The chief value of this book lies in the fact that it insists on the positive aspects of the Religious Life and the enriching value of the Vows.
