The Office of Intellectual Disability Services — Department of Community Services — Victoria

This comprehensive study represents an effort to respond to a growing need for information on respite care by seeking a clearer understanding of specific needs these services are attempting to address. Key factors that need to be considered when developing and implementing respite care programs for families of disabled children and also when assessing their value and impact are also highlighted.

The study represents vital reading for anyone concerned with the plight of disabled children and their families!
