Statistical Yearbook 1979-1980

The new Statistical Yearbook covers through 1980 and provides a compendium of internationally comparable socio-economic statistics. Data in the Statistical Yearbook makes it possible to study trends and changes in population and its composition, production, productivity, external trade, energy and transportation. Tables illustrate social statistics such as employment, housing, medical services and the consumption of fundamental commodities.

CAMBRIDGE

War and Change in World Politics

Robert Gilpin

“In his search for a valid theory of international relations, Gilpin explores economic, sociological and political approaches and finds the essence of the international system, throughout history, in an ever-changing equilibrium threatened by the uneven growth of power among states. The book is rich in the use of history and the breadth of its analysis and it breaks new ground.”—Foreign Affairs

Strategies for Change

The Future of French Society

by Michel Crozier

Foreword by Stanley Hoffmann

"Another pathbreaking contribution by one of Europe's foremost social scientists. The Future of French Society will be an important book for years to come. Incisive and cogently argued, it presents a realistic strategy for renewal that speaks to the heart of much of what's troubling all Western societies."—Professor Graham Allison, Dean, Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University

An influential forum for the discussion of those issues which concern international confrontation and peace

International Security focuses on new security problems as well as on traditional dimensions of international conflict. Trade, terrorism, supplies of strategic resources, in addition to military preparedness, are now central to a nation's security. International Security offers both theoretical and policy relevant analyses of these topics by scholars, industrialists, scientists and military and government leaders.

In the past years, authors have included:

*Richard Betts
Richard Burt
John Lewis Gaddis
Raymond L. Garthoff
Colin S. Gray
Stanley Hoffmann
Catherine M. Kelleher
Michael Mandelbaum
Robert L. Pfaltzgraff, Jr.
Gregory F. Treverton
Cyrus Vance
