

a contribution during their year as Judicial Fellows but who will contribute to understanding and support of the judiciary and its effective operation in the future. The Fellows work in the area of judicial administration, not case decision-making, and are involved in a wide range of participant-observer activities.

For further information and application materials, write to the Judicial Fellows Program, Suite 4, Supreme Court of the United States, Washington, D.C. 20543.

German Academic Exchange Service

The German Academic Exchange Service's Haus Rissen, a research institution preparing and evaluating academic conferences and conducting its own research projects, announces the availability of a grant for a ten-month internship. Its main field of research are questions of international relations. The institution cooperates closely with scholars and universities in Germany and abroad particularly with institutions concerned with international politics.

Applicants must hold the PhD degree — preferably in the social sciences — and should take a special interest in European or German questions. A working knowledge of German is required. The applicant must have US citizenship and should be single.

The intern will receive an amount of DM 1000 per month. Board and lodging will be provided free of charge.

For further information please write to: Haus Rissen; Institut f. Politik & Wirtschaft; 2 Hamburg 56; Rissener Landstr. 193; or: German Academic Exchange Service; New York Office; 1 Fifth Avenue; New York, N.Y. 10003.

Marshall Fund Common Problems Fellowships

The German Marshall Fund of the U.S., an American private foundation, announces five to eight full-time Marshall Fund Common Problems Fellowships for 1975-76 for outstanding U.S. scholars whose work is designed to contribute "to the better understanding and resolution of significant contemporary or emerging common problems of industrial societies," particularly in their comparative, international, social, political and economic aspects. Write for information and application form (deadline Oct. 31, 1974) to the German Marshall Fund, 1717 Mass. Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

NAS Exchanges with USSR & Eastern European Academies

The National Academy of Sciences invites applications from American scientists who wish to make visits beginning during the period September 1975 through August 1976 in the USSR, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania or Yugoslavia. Under agreements with the respective academies of sciences, American scientists may make visits of a minimum of one month's duration for familiarization with current scientific research or longer visits of 3 to 12 months for research. The NAS accepts applications for one-month visits in the USSR in alternate years and cannot accept them in this year.

Applicants must be US citizens and have a doctoral degree or its equivalent in mathematics; the physical, biological, or engineering sciences; or social or behavioral sciences by the time of the intended visit. For the purposes of the exchange programs, those social and behavioral sciences which are empirical and quantitative and which focus on individual and group behavior are included. All necessary expenses will be met by the NAS and the foreign academy, including reimbursement for salary lost up to $1,500 a month during a visit of 3 months or more and expenses for accompanying family on visits of 5 months or more.

Requests for applications should reach the National Academy of Sciences not later than November 7, 1974; deadline for receiving completed applications is November 21, 1974 (NAS, Commission on International Relations, USSR/EE, Washington, D.C. 20418).

In addition, the National Academy of Sciences is prepared to review proposals and provide liaison with the USSR Academy of Sciences for joint research projects. Only those projects which have been developed jointly or in consultation with Soviet researchers will be considered. Funding must be sought by the interested participants.

Announcement of Awards

American Council of Learned Societies — Social Science Research Council Grants

The American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council have announced the following grants:

Post-Doctoral Research in the Humanities and Related Social Sciences (ACLS only)

George A. Feaver, University of British Columbia: The Thought and Influence of Sidney Webb (1859-1947).

Elizabeth W. Marvick, Claremont Graduate School: A Psychoanalytic Study of the Reign of Louis XIII and Richelieu.

Program of Soviet Study

Zvi Gitelman, University of Michigan: The Political Socialization of Soviet and American Immigrants in Israel.

Alvin Z. Rubinstein, University of Pennsylvania: The Soviet-Egyptian Influence Relationship since the June 1967 War.

Research and Training Support
Announcement of Awards

Donald V. Schwartz, University of Toronto: Recent Adaptations of Systems Theory to Administrative Theory in the Soviet Union.

Peter H. Solomon, Jr., University of Toronto: Specialists in Soviet Policy-Making: Criminologists and Criminal Policy in the 1960's.

Program of South Asia Studies

Donald E. Smith, University of Pennsylvania: Secularization and Political Change in Sri Lanka.

Myron Weiner, Massachusetts Institute of Technology: Early 20th Century Migrations in India and Their Effects on Ethnicity.

Theodore P. Wright, Jr., Graduate School of Public Affairs, SUNY, Albany: The Politics of the Muslim Minority in India.

Lawrence Ziring, Western Michigan University: The Pakistan Muslim League, 1947-1958.

Program of East European Studies

Scott McN. Eddie, University of Toronto: Agrarian Reforms in Eastern Europe, 1919-1939.

Frances E. Svensson, University of Michigan: Technological Alienation and the Marxist Response.

Program of East European Language Study

Nicholas P. Lovich, Jr., University of Denver: Serbo-Croatian.

Salie M. Hicks, The American University: Slovene.

Andrew C. Janos, University of California, Berkeley: to attend the Third International Congress of Southeast European Studies, Bucharest, Romania, September 4-10, 1974.

Program for African Studies

Ronald H. Chilcote, University of California, Riverside: for research in Conakry on Guinea-Bissau: the impact of Revolutionary Struggle on Two African Generations.

Program for Research on Contemporary and Republican China

Gordon A. Bennett, University of Texas, Austin: for research in the United States and Hong Kong on the politics of the Chinese finance-trade system.

Pichon P.Y. Loh, Upsala College, for research on aspects of the politics of Chiang Kai-shek in relation to the political development of Kuomintang China.

Allen S. Whiting, University of Michigan, for research in the People's Republic on China, Taiwan, and Japan on the Chinese perception of, and communication on, arms control.

Program for Japanese Studies

Scott C. Flanagan, Florida State University: for a comprehensive analysis and synthesis of survey data on mass political behavior in Japan.

Ellis S. Krauss, Western Washington State College: for research in Japan on urban politics in the prefecture of Kyoto.

Bradley M. Richardson, Ohio State University: for a synthesis of Japanese political behavior research and a comparison of Japanese political behavior with Western models.

Program for Korean Studies

Sungjoo Han, Brooklyn College: for research in Korea on social, economic, and political consequences of government policies in the rural areas of South Korea since 1963.

Byung Chul Koh, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle: for a comparative study in the United States, Seoul, and Tokyo on the foreign politics of North and South Korea.

Tong-Whan Park, Northwestern University, for research in Korea on two Koreas in Asian conflict: the dynamics of arms race, deterrence, and coexistence, 1945-1972.

Program for Research on the Near and Middle East

Farhad Kazemi, New York University, for research in Iran on political, social, and economic consequences of rapid urbanization.

SSRC Research Training Fellowships

Three political scientists have received Research Training Fellowships from the Social Science Research Council. The awardees are: L. Douglas Dobson, Northern Illinois University, post-doctoral fellowship for study at the University of Chicago of mathematical models in the social sciences; Patricia Giles Leeds, University of Wisconsin, postdoctoral fellowship for advanced training in mathematics, statistics, and economics; and Jonathan Pool, SUNY, Stony Brook, postdoctoral fellowship for training at McGill University in research in cross-cultural psycholinguistics.

Guggenheim Fellowships Awards

The John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation in its 50th annual competition has awarded fellowship grants to the following political scientists:

Walter D. Burnham, Massachusetts Institute of Technology: Pressures on Political Stability in Great Britain and the United States.

Scott M. Eddie, University of Toronto: Agrarian Reform in East Europe, 1919-1938.

Barbara Hinckley, University of Wisconsin, Madison: Studies on Coalition Theory and Congress.

Raymond F. Hopkins, Swarthmore College: The Internationalization of Domestic Bureaucracies.

Francis G. Hutchins, Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, New Jersey: Law and Enforcement in India.

George A. Kelly, Brandeis University: The Political Theory of the French Revolutionary Terror.

John F. Manley, Stanford University: The Conservative Coalition in Congress, 1933-1972.

Austin Ranney, University of Wisconsin, Madison: American Modes of Political Action, 1776-1976.

Alfred Stepan, Yale University: The State and Society in Latin American Politics.

Michael A. Weinstein, Purdue University: An Existential Analysis of Freedom in the Context of Contemporary Organizations.

E. Victor Wolfenstein, University of California, Los Angeles: Woody Guthrie, the American Left, and the Transformation of American Society, 1912-1952.

Council for European Studies Pre-Dissertation Fellowship Program Awards

Seventeen political scientists have been selected to receive Council for European Studies Pre-Dissertation Awards. The winners are:

Margaret Garner Bleek, Princeton University.
John Bokina, University of Illinois, Urbana.
Philip Mark Dine, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Albert Thomas Ferguson, Princeton University.
Douglas Jaenicke, Cornell University.

John T.S. Keeler, Harvard University.
Miles Edwin Kahler, Harvard University.

Susan Koch, University of Connecticut.

Joel Krieger, Harvard University.

Carl Francis Lankowski, Columbia University.

Gary Griffith Meyers, Stanford University.

Harris Miller, Yale University.

Dieter Raabe, University of California, Santa Barbara.

Gail Elizabeth Russell, Princeton University.

Ilja Scholten, Carleton University.

Michaela Wenninger, City University of New York.

Harlan Albert Wright, Temple University.

Carnegie-Mellon University Award

Two grants totaling $42,800 have been awarded to the School of Urban and Public Affairs at Carnegie-Mellon University to develop plans for an Educational Management Development Center. The grants include $22,900 from the Charles F. Kettering Foundation and $19,900 from the Carnegie-Mellon Education Center. Norman Johnson, Professor of Social Policy is Director of the Education Management Development Center.

NEH Grant to Governors State University

The Public Service Program of Governors State University, Park Forest South, Illinois, has received a $30,000 Planning Grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. The purpose of the grant is to conduct experimental courses aimed at integrating the study of ethics into public service curriculum. John A. Rohr will serve as Project Director and Paula Wolff will serve as Assistant Project Director.

American Institute of Pakistan Studies Awards

The American Institute of Pakistan Studies has announced its first awards for research and travel in Pakistan. Political Scientists receiving grants are:

Ferenc Vali, University of Massachusetts: Aspects of Pakistan's Foreign Policy.

Carol C. Webster, University of Puget Sound: Feasibility Study: Political Socialization in the Schools of Pakistan.

1974-75 White House Fellows

Two political scientists are among the fifteen White House Fellows selected for 1974-75. The two are: Adam W. Herbert, Associate Professor and Chairman of Urban Affairs Program, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, and Roger B. Porter, Teaching Fellow and Ph.D. Candidate, Department of Government, Harvard University.

Smithsonian Institution's Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars Fellows

Among the political scientists who have recently been granted fellowships at the Smithsonian Institution's Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars are Alistair F. Buchan, Oxford University; Reinhard Bendix, University of California, Berkeley; Michael Pomerance, Hebrew University; Radomiro R. Tomic, University of Texas, (visiting) and Elena Aga - Rossi Sitzia, University of Padua.

Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation Doctoral Dissertation Fellowships in Women's Studies

A political scientist, Alana Northrop, of the University of Chicago, was among twenty-seven outstanding young scholars to receive a Woodrow Wilson Foundation Dissertation Fellowship for 1974-75. The topic of her dissertation is Feminism and Social Leadership in America: A Longitudinal Analysis of a Critical Generation. Candidates were chosen for their ability to make significant scholarly contributions to the growing body of knowledge about changing women's roles, particularly those in contemporary American society.

Conference Group on German Politics

THE CONFERENCE GROUP ON GERMAN POLITICS (CGGP), an independent organization of scholars who devote a major portion of their professional work to the study of German affairs, has appointed ten Interns and Scholars-

Research and Training Support
Announcement of Awards

in-Residence for the 1974-75 period, with cooperation of the offices involved.

The programs are supported by the CGGP with partial assistance from some of the offices and travel assistance from the Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst (DAAD).

Interns

Internships aim at combining study with contributions to the work of the office. Interns spend periods ranging from two to nine months in a German governmental or quasi-governmental office. These awards are generally for students or younger scholars or governmental officials.

The following appointments have been made for 1974-75:

William N. Chandler, Assistant Professor of Political Science, McMaster University, Ontario, Canada. Akademie Für Öffentliche Verwaltung, Bonn.

Jeanie Grinstead, Graduate Student in German, Indiana University, USA. Informationszentrum Berlin.

Jacqueline Hardaker, Graduate Student in International Studies, University of Surrey, England. Informationszentrum Berlin.

Michael Hatch, Graduate Student in Political Science, School of Advanced International Studies, The Johns Hopkins University, Washington, and Staff Assistant, Congressman Wayne Owens of Utah, U.S. House of Representatives, Wissenschaftliche Dienste, Deutscher Bundestag, Bonn.

William Sharp, Graduate Student in Political Science, University of Oregon, USA, Informationszentrum Berlin.

Charles Taylor, Associate Professor of Political Science, Virginia State University and Polytechnic Institute, USA, Deutscher Bundestag.

Harlan Wright, Graduate Student in Political Science, Temple University, Philadelphia, USA, Deutscher Stadtetag, Cologne.

Jutta Helm, Assistant Professor of Political Science, Western Illinois University, Deutscher Gewerkschaftsbund, Düsseldorf.

Scholars-in-Residence

This program aims at providing scholars or officials an opportunity for intensive observation of the activities of German offices in order to stimulate research planning or gain experience relevant to their teaching or work. A contribution to the work of the office is not expected, nor is the interest of the grantee to be limited by a specific research project.

The following appointments have been made for 1974-75:

Linda Dolive, Assistant Professor of Political Science, Northern Kentucky State College, Statistisches Landesamt, Land Nordrheinwestfalen, Düsseldorf.

Margot Nyitray, Assistant Professor of Political Science, University of Missouri, St. Louis/USA, Wissenschaftsrat, Cologne.

The CGGP Intern and Scholar Selection Committee is composed of Louise Holborn, University of Florida, Chairman; Gerard Braunthal, University of Massachusetts; George Romoser, University of New Hampshire; and former intern, D. Brent Smith, Harvard University.

Limited funds for the third year of these programs will be available. Inquiries should be directed to the CGGP after September 1, 1974 and P.O. Box 345, Durham, New Hampshire 03824/USA. Detailed application forms will be sent.