Speculum Scientiarum

Bulletin international de la science contemporaine
International bulletin of contemporary scholarship

ERASMUS is a critical and biographical journal for the humanities and the social sciences.

ERASMUS covers the following fields:

Religion	General Literature
Philosophy	History
Psychology	History of Art
Pedagogy	Law
Aesthetics	Economics
Antiquity	Political Science &amp; Sociology
Philology	General Works

ERASMUS aims at coordinating these sciences on a large international scale in the spirit of humanism as it was embodied by its renowned humanist forbear whose name it bears.

ERASMUS publishes its reviews in the three internationally recognized languages: English, French, German, according to the choice of the reviewer.

ERASMUS, being a world wide Speculum Scientiarum, fills an urgent desire of scholars, writers, politicians and general readers.

ERASMUS is published under the auspices of illustrious names such as:
