DEMOCRATIC FAITH

Patrick Deneen

Patrick Deneen proposes a form of “democratic realism” that recognizes democracy not as a regime with aspirations to perfection, but that justifies democracy as the regime most appropriate for imperfect humans.

“This is a powerful and poignant work in that it refines and deepens contemporary democratic theory.... Its relevance for our time resounds loudly.”—Cornel West, author of Democracy Matters

THE JEWISH SOCIAL CONTRACT

An Essay in Political Theology

David Novak

How can a traditional Jew participate politically and socially and in good faith in a modern democratic society? David Novak proposes that members of faith-based communities adhere to their own religious traditions when engaging in the political framework’s public forums.
