The Authenticity of the Rhesus of Euripides

WILLIAM RITCHIE

Dr Ritchie firmly assigns the Rhesus to the earliest period of Euripides' work before 440 B.C. He rejects, after scrutiny, the claims of external evidence and examines the play closely in terms of its vocabulary and syntax, style, versification and the structure of its lyric parts to show its resemblance to the other plays of Euripides. 40s. net

The Collation and Investigation of the Manuscripts of Aeschylus

R. D. DAWE

Sixteen collations of the MSS. of Aeschylus' Byzantine triad which replace those of Wilamowitz and therefore all editions in print. Dr Dawe discloses a general picture of the text entirely different from the accepted one. 75s. net

The Cambridge Ancient History

The first two volumes of The Cambridge Ancient History are being published in a revised edition. To prevent delay in publication paperbound fascicles, normally consisting of one chapter, are being issued separately. The most recent ones are: Greece, Crete and the Aegean Islands in the Early Bronze Age, by J. L. Caskey (6s. net); Elam and Western Persia c. 1200—1000 B.C., by René Labat (3s. 6d. net); Anatolia before c. 4000 B.C. and c. 2300—1750 B.C., by J. Mellaart (6s. net).

The Republic of Plato, Volumes I & II

EDITOR: JAMES ADAM

A new edition of Plato's Republic, edited in two volumes by the late James Adam. Mr D. A. Rees has written a new introduction in which he surveys Adam's work on The Republic and reviews subsequent work on the textual problems, language and meaning of the book.

METEORA:
The Rock Monasteries of Thessaly
DONALD NICOL

The Meteora Monasteries of Thessaly, the monasteries 'in the air', stand perched on the summits and in the caves of enormous rocks in a remote corner of the north of Greece. These rocks are among the strangest phenomena of nature; the monasteries themselves, which in the late middle ages constituted a second Mount Athos, are among the strangest monuments to the religious aspirations of mankind. This book aims to provide an introduction to their history and a general description of them as they exist today.

Story Patterns in Greek Tragedy

RICHMOND LATTIMORE

'Drama is shaped . . . by certain formal limitations . . . patterns of story as it were . . . The story itself, as an ordered series of events, has its own rights.' This is the principal theme of Professor Lattimore's Lord Northcliffe lectures for 1961, here published with the addition of extensive notes. An important consequence of his approach is that it renders untenable views which regard any one single pattern of Greek tragedy as constitutive of tragedy as such.

Death, Fate and the Gods

The development of a religious idea in Greek popular belief and in Homer

B. C. DIETRICH

Professor Dietrich examines the popular religious background upon which the Iliad and Odyssey were superimposed and in particular the cults of Moira, Erinys, and other figures connected with a primitive concept of fate. In the light of this discussion, which thoroughly reviews the work of previous scholars, he is able to clarify the role of fate in Homer and the relationships between men, fate and gods.

The Worship of the Sky-God

E. O. JAMES

This study concerns one of the two basic cultic figures among Near Eastern religions, the Sky-God or Sky-father. Taking as his starting-point the problem of the origins of monotheism in pre-literate society, Professor James moves to a detailed comparison of this celestial Supreme Being in the Fertile Crescent and the Ancient Near East, in Israel and India, and in Greece and Rome.

The Silver Coinage of Samos

J. P. BARRON

The last full-scale account of this important mint appeared in 1882. Dr Barron covers the period c.530 - c.200 B.C. and his use of modern numismatic methods leads him to conclusions which are often very different from those of earlier scholars. His catalogue offers a complete corpus of tetradrachms together with nearly all known specimens of other denominations; and all die-varieties are illustrated in 32 plates. His general account of this material pays special attention to the historical implications of the numismatic evidence.

George Grote

M. L. CLARKE

In this new life of the great historian Professor Clarke does justice to the catholic range of his subject's interests: a Member of Parliament, a philosopher of note, a leading reformer of university education, 'a moderate cricketer', a musician, a patron of science and the arts. A series of chapters discusses and offers a critical estimate of Grote's History of Greece and also of his writings on Plato and Aristotle.

THE BRITISH ACADEMY CROMER GREEK PRIZE

WITH the view of maintaining and encouraging the study of Greek, particularly among the young, the first Earl of Cromer founded a Prize, to be administered by the British Academy, for the best Essay on any subject connected with the language, history, art, literature, or philosophy of Ancient Greece.

The Prize, which is ordinarily a sum of £150, is awarded biennially in May*, under the following Rules:—

1. The competition is open to all British subjects and citizens of Eire of either sex who will be under thirty-two years of age on 31 December preceding the award.
2. Any Essay which has already received or is in competition for another prize of the same nature will be inadmissible. A candidate to whom the Prize has been awarded will not be eligible to compete for it again. But an Essay which has not received the Prize may be submitted again (with or without alteration) in a future year so long as the writer remains eligible under Rule 1.
3. Consideration of the adjudicators shall be limited to work submitted to them, whether published or unpublished, not exceeding 20,000 words in length.
4. Essays must be sent in to the Secretary of the Academy on or before 31 December of the year preceding the award. They must be typed or printed and should have a note attached stating the main sources of information used.

Communications should be addressed to 'The Secretary of the British Academy, Burlington Gardens, London, W.1'.

*The next award will be in 1965.

THE SOCIETY FOR HELLENIC TRAVELS 1965

Tours and Cruises Programme

includes a large variety of attractive itineraries, with an emphasis on archaeological sites and Byzantine monuments in Europe and North Africa. Each tour is accompanied by at least one distinguished Guest Lecturer (on Hellenic Cruises, five) and is carefully planned for the pleasure and relaxation of the participants. On certain tours, the study of Sites and Flowers makes a pleasing combination.

HELLENIC CRUISES

will, as usual, be operated in the comfortable, happy m.s. Moledet (7,800 gr. tons, stabilized and fully air-conditioned) with prices from 110 gns. in excellent six-berth cabins, including air travel to and from London and the ports of embarkation.

HELLENIC TOURS

will cover sites in GREECE, ASIA MINOR, SICILY, ISRAEL, THE LEBANON, JORDAN AND SYRIA, ETHIOPIA, RUMANIA, LIBYA AND TUNISIA with air travel between London and the destination. The majority of tours last from about a fortnight to three weeks; but those wishing to extend their stay abroad will often be able to use the return ticket at a later date, as scheduled flights are used.

* * * * *

The Society offers one free place on a cruise for a student, each year. This takes the form of a scholarship to be awarded on the basis of an essay on the art, history of archaeology of the Mediterranean. Full details of this and of the Society's general activities may be obtained from the Honorary Secretary, Mr. A. N. Brangham, 85 Claremont Road, Tunbridge Wells, Kent.

Holidays in Greece

WINGS Limited offer many varied holidays to Greece and the Aegean and originated Hellenic Air Cruises, visiting at leisure three or more centres such as Athens, Rhodes and Crete. During the past seven years, nearly 6,000 people have taken part in these cruises. On some holidays the itinerary includes Asia Minor, Istanbul and countries in the Middle East.

A coach tour of the Peloponnese (flying first to Corfu or Athens) visits Olympia, Sparta and Mistra, Epidaurus, Tiryns, Mycenae and Old Corinth, accompanied by a leading Greek archaeological guide. Visits are also made to Delphi, the island of Aegina, and Cape Sounion, and the tour throughout is escorted by our own representative.

Charges are very reasonable and full details will be found in the WINGS programme, available on request.

The Slides Collection is arranged in two main sections:

- (a) A general collection of over 10,000 slides ( $3\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{4}$  in.) covering a very wide range of subjects: the major Prehellenic sites, the Greek mainland and islands, Rome and Italy and the Roman Empire; sculpture, vases, painting, mosaic; coins; papyri.
- (b) About 40 sets of slides on specific subjects ( $3\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{4}$  in.) compiled by specialists who have also written notes to accompany the slides. These include Prehellenic Greece, Greek Gods and Heroes, Homeric Pictures, Greek Drama, Greek Sculpture, Greek Painting, Greek Vases, Athens, Greek Cities, Greek and Roman Architecture, Transport in the Ancient World, Ancient Furniture, Roman Portraits, The Roman Imperial Army, Rome, Ostia, Roman Gaul, Roman Britain, The Roman Wall, The Greek Theatre and its Scenery.

Over 2,000 colour slides ( $2 \times 2$  in.) are now available. There are sets, with notes, on the Athenian Agora excavations, Athens, Ostia, Pompeii and Lerna, Greek Papyri; and a general collection which includes many sites in Greece, Roman Britain, Roman France and Italy; Etruscan tomb paintings, Roman frescoes and mosaics, Greek vases, and objects from the Greek and Roman Life room of the British Museum.

A complete catalogue of coloured slides is available at 7s. 6d. a copy.

Slides may be hired by members of each Society at a charge of 10s. a set, or 4d. each for individual slides, plus postage.

Copies of coloured slides may be bought for 5s. each.

The annual subscription to each Society is £2. SCHOOLS ARE ELIGIBLE FOR MEMBERSHIP. For particulars apply to the Secretary of either Society at 31-34 Gordon Square, W.C.1.

NOTE

The Council of the Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies think it desirable, in view of recent requests to reprint articles from the Journal of Hellenic Studies, to protect the copyright in contributions to the Journal under the provisions of the Universal Copyright Convention. Accordingly the Council has resolved to invite all contributors of articles to assign to the Society the copyright in their contributions. The form of assignment which has been prepared ensures (a) that, while the Society will not in normal circumstances authorise reproduction of a contribution within five years of original publication, it will consider on its merits any application to republish made by a contributor (or his heir, or literary executor as the case may be) and will not unreasonably withhold its consent to republication, and (b) that no contribution will be reproduced by the Society without first consulting the contributor.

It will be necessary for publishers of reprints to obtain separate permission for the reproduction of illustrations from whoever holds the copyright, if this is not the author.

All net proceeds received by the Society in respect of any reproduction will be shared as to two-thirds for the contributor and one-third for the Society.
