GUANZI

Political, Economic, and Philosophical Essays from Early China

A Study and Translation - Volume II
Translated by W. Allyn Rickett

Named for the famous Chinese minister of state, Guan Zhong (d. 645 B.C.), the Guanzi is one of the largest collections of ancient Chinese writings still in existence. With this volume, W. Allyn Rickett completes the first full translation of the Guanzi into English. This represents a truly monumental effort, as the Guanzi is a long and notoriously difficult work. Throughout the text, Rickett provides extensive notes. He also supplies an introduction to the volume and a comprehensive index.

GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

BSOAS spans all periods, from ancient times to the present day, of the cultures and civilizations of the Near and Middle East, South Asia, Central Asia, East Asia, South-East Asia, and Africa. It publishes articles and shorter communications which are both scholarly and readable on the history, religions and philosophies, literatures and languages, music, arts and archaeology, law, anthropology and related studies of these regions.

ARTICLES

All submissions are refereed by specialists in the field. The preferred upper limit for a paper is around 20 printed pages or 10–12,000 words. Submissions should be sent as hard copy, double-spaced (including footnotes, which should be given separately at the end), together with an Abstract of not more than 150 words. Where the typeface used does not have a clearly distinguishable italic fount, italicization should be indicated by underlining. Typesize should be 10pt with citations in the same size, indented and double-spaced. Articles should be amply subheaded. Spelling is UK English and house-style is -ize.

References: the preferred style of reference is citation by author and date, e.g. Hawley (1984: 26). This system must be accompanied by a complete reference list giving full bibliographical information, as follows:

Hawley, John Stratton. 1984. Śūr Dās: poet, singer, saint. (Publications on Asia of the Henry M. Jackson School of International Studies, 40.) Delhi: Oxford University Press.

A clear system of abbreviations or other critical apparatus should be used for archival and manuscript sources.

The following system of references will be accepted. A first footnote citation giving full bibliographical data, e.g. M. Boyce, Zoroastrianism: its antiquity and constant vigour (Columbia Lectures on Iranian Studies, 7, Costa Mesa: Mazda, 1992), 187, thereafter by short title; op. cit should be avoided and ibid. or loc. cit. used only to refer to the reference immediately preceding.

Titles: titles of books are italicized with initial capitals only for proper names. Titles of journals are italicized with initial capitals. Citation by volume and part is in the following form BSOAS, 60 1, 1997, 231–9. Titles of articles are roman within quotes.

Illustrations and scripts: line drawings, graphs, etc. should be supplied as good quality originals. Authors are expected to clear copyright and provide the form of acknowledgement. Because of the high cost of production, photos and non-roman scripts, including Chinese and Japanese characters, will only be accepted where they are essential to the text. Where possible, the latter should be supplied as camera-ready copy.

Transcription: diacritics must be given fully and consistently on all italicized transcriptions. More detailed guidelines on the romanization of various language groups are available from the Bulletin Office: BSOAS, Thornhaugh Street, Russell Square, London WC1E 0XG.

NOTES AND COMMUNICATIONS

The average length is around 2500 words and above conventions apply.

REVIEWS AND SHORT NOTICES

The recommended upper limit for a review in BSOAS is 900–1000 words, that is, about three double-spaced sheets of A4. Where a review overruns the limit to a significant extent it will in most cases have to be cut. Where a reviewer considers a book to be of major importance and therefore to warrant reviewing at greater length, this can be agreed with the Board. Reviews and short notices should be submitted in typescript form, double-spaced, preferably within three months of receipt of the review copy unless it is agreed otherwise. The purpose of the 'Short Notices' section is to present readers with concise descriptive accounts of new publications, which do not call for a detailed critical assessment. Bibliographical details at the head should be given in the following form.

DANIEL MARTIN VARISCO: Medieval agriculture and Islamic science: the almanac of a Yemeni sultan. (Publications on the Near East, no. 6.) xv, 349 pp. Seattle and London: University of Washington Press, 1994, $40.

Footnotes are not permitted in the reviews section and references to other works should be incorporated into the main text as author, title (place and date of publication).

Proofs: proofs are sent to authors and reviewers. They should be returned promptly to avoid postponement of publication. Corrections are to be limited to errors only.

Copyright

It is a condition of publication in the Journal that authors assign copyright to the School of Oriental and African Studies. This ensures that requests from third parties to reproduce articles are handled efficiently and consistently and will also allow the article to be as widely disseminated as possible. In assigning copyright, Authors may use their own material in other publications provided that the Journal is acknowledged as the original place of publication, and Oxford University Press is notified in writing and in advance.
