CONTRIBUTORS

- Dr K. A. E. ARCHIBALD, M.Sc., UWI, Ph.D. (London). Lecturer in Animal Production, University of the West Indies. Formerly, agricultural manager, coconut beef project, island of Nevis, West Indies. Research interests include animal production systems and forage utilization.
- Dr P. R. BAKER, B.Sc. (Wales), Ph.D. (East Anglia). Senior Lecturer, School of Development Studies, University of East Anglia, Norwich. Formerly, Consultant Adviser, Saudi Arabia, and consultant researcher, man and biospheres programme, UNESCO, Paris. Research interests include institutional structure; pastoralist communities and regional planning; change in nomadic societies and development of arid zone resources.
- Mr J. T. BLACKBURN, F.R.C.V.S., B.Vet.Med., D.T.V.M., Dip.A.H. Consultant to O.D.A., District Veterinary Officer, State Veterinary Service, Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food. Formerly worked in Tanzania, Kenya, Ethiopia and Egypt. Concerned with the training and use of auxiliary staff.
- Dr A. J. De BOER, B.A., Ph.D. (Minnesota). Agricultural Economist, Winrock Livestock Research and Training Centre. Formerly, Lecturer in Agricultural Economics, Department of Agriculture, University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia. Research interests include animal production economics and animal production systems research.
- Dr W. L. BRINCKMAN, B.Sc., D.S.C. (Wageningen). Lecturer, National Agricultural College, Deventer, Netherlands. Formerly worked at the National Animal Production Research Institute, Zaria. Research interests include sheep and goat production in the tropics.
- Dr P. J. BRUMBY, M.Agr.Sc., Ph.D. Senior Agriculturalist, World Bank, New Delhi, India. Formerly, Chief of Livestock Group, FAO/IBRD, Rome. Research interests include animal breeding and integration of crop and livestock production.
- Dr M. BURNS, B.Sc. (Edinburgh), Ph.D. (Leeds). Freelance writer and adviser. Formerly, research worker at the Animal Research Institute, Ghana. Research interests include sheep and goat production, particularly in the tropics, acclimatization of animals, genetics and wool biology.
- Mr C. CAMPBELL, M.A., M.Sc., M.I.Biol. Director, Sheep and Dairy Programmes, U.S. Feed Grains Council, U.K. Formerly, Regional Nutritional Adviser for Levers Feeds, Ltd. Research interests include the development of breeding and nutritional systems to intensify sheep production throughout the world.
- Dr D. M. CHAVUNDUKA, B.V.M.S., M.R.C.V.S., B.Sc. Senior Government Veterinary Officer, Department of Veterinary Services, Zimbabwe. Research interests include veterinary extension methods in tribal society and unconventional sources of animal protein used by indigenous people.

- Dr P. R. N. CHIGARU, B.Sc. (Agr.) London, Ph.D. (Aberdeen). Lecturer in Agricultural Biochemistry and Animal Nutrition, University of Zimbabwe. Research interests include cattle nutrition.
- Mr T. E. de la HUNT, B.Sc. Executive Director, Triangle Animal Feeds, Ltd., Zimbabwe. Formerly, Provincial Officer, Department of Conservation and Extension in Rhodesia. Research interests include the development of commercial animal feeding from sugar cane and fermentation by-products.
- Dr C. DEVENDRA, B.Agr.Sc. (N.Z.), M.Agr.Sc. (Malaysia), Ph.D. (Nott.). Principal Research Officer and Head of Feed Resources and Animal Nutrition Branch, Malaysian Agricultural Research and Development Institute (MARDI). Formerly, Animal Nutrition Chemist, University of the West Indies. Research interests include applied animal nutrition and tropical animal production with reference to buffaloes, cattle, goats, sheep and pigs.
- Mr J. G. DISNEY, B.Sc., Dip. Chelsea College in Biochemistry. Head of Fish, Meat and Dairy Products, Hides and Skins Section, Tropical Products Institute, London. Formerly, Meat Technologist with J. Sainsbury, Ltd. Research interests include the handling and processing of meat with a special interest in the utilization of by-products.
- Mr A. R. DORMAN, O.B.E., M.R.C.V.S. Consultant. Formerly, team leader, British Veterinary Team, Yemen Arab Republic and Director, Veterinary Services, Kenya. Interests include animal health programmes in relation to the import and export of livestock by-products.
- Mr R. M. EDELSTEN, M.Sc., B.V.M.S., D.V.S.M., M.R.C.V.S. Lecturer in Tropical Animal Health at the Centre for Tropical Veterinary Medicine, University of Edinburgh. Formerly, Veterinary Investigation Officer in Maiduguri, Nigeria and Field Veterinary Officer with the British Veterinary Team in northern Somalia. Interests previously included diseases of camels; current teaching responsibility covers bacterial diseases.
- Dr M. F. FULLER, M.A., Ph.D. Principal Scientific Officer, Applied Nutrition Department, Rowett Research Institute, Aberdeen. Formerly, Animal Production Officer, F.A.O., Taiwan. Research interests include pig production, especially energy, protein and amino acid nutrition and climatic physiology.
- Mr I. G. H. GODDARD, B.Sc., (Agr.), M.Phil. (Poultry Sc.), D.T.A., Trinidad. O.D.A. Specialist and Lecturer in Animal Production, University of Jordan. Formerly, Lecturer in Animal Production, University of Khartoum. Research interests include poultry management, nutrition and broiler processing.
- Dr R. I. HUTAGALUNG, D.V.M., M.Sc., Ph.D. (Kentucky). Associate Professor in Nutritional Biochemistry at the University of Agriculture, Malaysia. Formerly, Lecturer in Animal Nutrition at the University of Indonesia, Bogor. Research interests include the evaluation of agricultural by-products and agri-industrial wastes as animal feeds.
- Dr A. JACKSON, B.Sc., Ph.D. Research Fellow at Aston University, Birmingham, working for the Tropical Products Institute, London. Formerly with the Marine Biological Association, at Oban in Argyll. Research interests include fish nutrition with particular interest in tropical species.

- Mr W. J. JORDAN, M.V.Sc., B.Sc., M.R.C.V.S., M.I.Biol. Chief Wildlife Officer, R.S.P.C.A., U.K. Formerly, Lecturer, Onderstepoort, South Africa and Consultant Clinician to the Government of Iran. Interests include clinical problems, especially infertility.
- Mr E. M. KIDNER, Consultant, Minster Agriculture, Ltd., Thame, Oxfordshire. Formerly, Animal Production expert with F.A.O. in Pakistan, Bangladesh and Nigeria. Interests include pasture agronomy.
- Dr I. R. LANE, B.Sc., Ph.D. Lecturer in Tropical Animal Production, University of Edinburgh. Formerly, pasture research officer, Lesotho and Lecturer in Animal Production, University of Dar es Salaam, Tanzania. Research interests include the utilization of cultivated tropical pastures and the use of remote sensing in range management.
- Dr A. LOUCA, B.Sc. (General Agriculture), M.Sc., Ph.D. (N. Carolina). Director of the Department of Agriculture, Nicosia, Cyprus. Formerly, Head of the Animal Production Section, Agricultural Research Institute, Nicosia, Cyprus. Research interests include the production and breeding of small ruminants.
- Mr A. K. MCGUCKIAN. Director, Masstock Projects, Ltd., Pembroke House, 3-4 Upper Pembroke Street, Dublin 2, Eire.
- Mr A. MARSDEN, B.Sc. (Hons.) Agriculture, Dip.Agr., M.B.I.M., M.I.Biol. Poultry Husbandry Advisory Officer, A.D.A.S., England. Formerly, Poultry Research Unit Manager, University of Reading. Research interests include the energy nutrition of poultry.
- Dr G. MONTSMA, Ingenieur (Wageningen). Reader in the Department of Tropical Animal Production at Wageningen (Netherlands). Formerly, Lecturer in Animal Production, Legon, Ghana. Research interests include dairy production in developing countries and meat production from dwarf goats.
- Dr J. F. MUIR, B.Sc. (Edinburgh), Ph.D. (Strathclyde). Research Fellow, O.D.A. Tropical Aquaculture Project, University of Stirling. Formerly, Nuffield Teaching Fellow, University of Stirling. Research interests include engineering and resource use in fish culture waste treatment and fish culture.
- Dr P. M. MULVANY, M.A. (Oxford). Agricultural Officer with the Intermediate Technology Development Group, Ltd., London. Formerly with the Dairy Husbandry Department of the National Institute for Research in Dairying in Reading. Research interests include the reproductive husbandry of dairy cows and small farmer agricultural systems.
- Dr W. H. PARR, B.Sc., Ph.D., F.R.I.C. Head, Protein and Animal Feed Section, Tropical Products Institute, London. Formerly with the Department of Agriculture, Western Australia. Research interests include the composition and utilization of crops and by-products for animal feeds.

Dr W. J. A. PAYNE, M.A., Dip.Agr.Sc. (Cantab.), Ph.D. International Consultant in Animal Science and visiting Professor at the University of the South Pacific, Alafua, Western Samoa. Formerly, Head of the Animal Husbandry Division, East African Agriculture and Forestry Research Organization and Deputy Director. Research interests include the physiology and nutrition of domestic and game animals.

Dr T. R. PRESTON, B.Sc., (Hons.), Ph.D., D.Sc. Consultant in Tropical Animal Production, Sugar Research Institute, Dominican Republic, and University of Yucatan, Mexico. Formerly, Director, Instituto de Ciencia Animal, University of Havana, Cuba and Animal Nutrition Officer with the F.A.O., Rome. Research interests include the utilization of tropical feeds for beef and milk production.

Dr B. QUIJANDRIA, B.Sc., M.Sc., Ph.D. Senior Animal Scientist, Tropical Agricultural Research and Training Centre, Costa Rica. Formerly, Head of Animal Science Department, Agrarian University, Peru. Research interests include animal genetics and swine production.

Dr J. I. RICHARDS, B.Sc. (Hons.), Ph.D. (Cantab.). Animal Productionist. Research Fellow in Tropical Animal Production, University of Edinburgh. Formerly, Senior Lecturer in Animal Production, University of Nairobi; also worked in Uganda and Canada. Research interests include the effects of environmental stresses on animal production and reproduction.

The late Mr F. ROY-SMITH, M.R.C.V.S. Research Fellow in Goat Nutrition at the Centre for Tropical Veterinary Medicine, University of Edinburgh. Formerly, Veterinary Research Scientist with the Boots Company (Australia). Interests included goat production in the tropics.

Dr M. E. RUIZ, Ph.D., M.S., B.S. Animal Nutritionist, Tropical Agricultural Research and Training Centre, Turrialba, Costa Rica. Interests include the development of beef and milk production systems and utilization of agricultural by-products and crop residues in animal feeding.

Dr W. SCHAEFER-KEHNERT, Dip.Ing.Agr. (General Agriculture), Dr.Sc.Agr. (Agricultural Economy). University Professor at the University of Gottingen. On leave of absence as Senior Lecturer at the Economic Development Institute, World Bank, Washington. D.C. Research interests include the economics of livestock production, rural credit and farm mechanization in developing countries.

Mr J. M. SWANNEY, M.R.C.V.S., D.V.S.M. Deputy Director, Cattle Breeding Services with the Scottish Milk Marketing Board, Perth. Formerly in general practice in Great Britain and New Zealand.

Mr P. THANGARAJAH. Veterinary Research Institute, Peradeniya, Sri Lanka.

Dr J. C. M. TRAIL, B.Sc., N.D.A., Dip.An.Gen., Ph.D. (Edinburgh). Principal Scientist, International Livestock Centre for Africa, Kenya. Worked formerly in animal production research posts in Uganda, Botswana and Ethiopia. Concerned with livestock productivity in developing countries.

Mr J. R. WALTERS, B.Sc., M.Phil., M.I.Biol. Company Technical Manager, Master Breeders (Livestock Development), Ltd., Basingstoke. Formerly, Lecturer in Animal Production. Research interests include pig breeding and fertility.
