

D. C. Heath Puts Politics in Perspective

New for 1987!

American Government Brief Edition

James Q. Wilson, Harvard University and University of California, Los Angeles
1987 Paper 298 pages
Instructor's Guide/Archive Testing Program/Videotapes/Film Policy

The new American Government, Brief Edition introduces your students to the fundamentals of political institutions and processes and to the excitement of politics in twelve brisk, engaging, and accessible chapters. Highlights include extensive coverage of the Constitution, civil liberties, and civil rights, as well as a concluding chapter placing American politics and policymaking into a historical context. Helpful tables and graphs throughout underscore important points; essential reference matter, including Federalist papers 10 and 51, is found in the Appendix.

American Government Institutions and Policies Third Edition

James Q. Wilson, Harvard University and University of California, Los Angeles.
1986 Cloth 642 pages
Instructor's Guide/Study Guide/Test Item File/Archive Testing Program/Video Cassettes/Film Policy

The thoroughly updated Third Edition keeps pace with recent developments in the field, linking governmental institutions and political processes with the outcomes of public policy. Offering thorough coverage of the 1984 elections, and with revised chapters on the Constitution, policymaking, and interest groups, this text provides students with a provocative analysis of today's political scene.

New for 1987!

European Politics in Transition

Mark Kesseiman, Columbia University
Joel Krieger, Wellesley College
Christopher S. Allen, University of Georgia
Joan DeBardleben, McGill University
Stephen M. Hellman, York University
Jonas Pontusson, Cornell University
1987 Paper 600 pages est.

This introduction to European politics combines thorough coverage of institutions and processes with a special focus on political economy and the connections among social movements, party politics, and state policy formation. Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, and Sweden are explored separately within a thematic framework of change and adaptation to new economic challenges and increased social pressures. A substantial section on the Soviet Union and selected nations of Eastern Europe bridges the gap between Eastern and Western Europe and addresses problems of democracy and economic coordination in complex industrial societies. Reflecting the most current international developments and scholarly research, the text features in-text explanation of important terms and concepts, ample illustrations, and comprehensive bibliographies.

For details or sample copies, call us toll free: 800-235-3565

D. C. Heath and Company
College Division ★ 125 Spring Street ★ Lexington, MA 02173

A Preface to Politics Fourth Edition

David F. Schuman, University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Bob Waterman, Gonzaga University
1986 Paper 305 pages

Characterized by bold insights and incisive wit, this text offers a unique perspective on American politics. The Fourth Edition incorporates new material on the political climate of the '80s and challenges students to critically examine their assumptions about the American Political system.

American Politics Policies, Power, and Change Fifth Edition

Kenneth Dolbeare, Evergreen State College
Murray J. Edelman, University of Wisconsin
Assisted by Linda Medcalf, Olympia Technical Community College
1985 Paper 572 pages
Instructor's Guide/Film Policy

Providing updated and accessible coverage of American government and politics, this text thoroughly discusses national governmental institutions and the economic, social, and ideological contexts in which they function. The text's analytical approach encourages students to develop evaluative and critical skills as they familiarize themselves with the workings of American government.

Also Available . . .

Writer's Guide Political Science

Arthur W. Biddle, General Editor, and Kenneth Holland, with Toby Fulwiler, all of the University of Vermont
1987 Paper 192 pages est.

The Writer's Guide explores the writing process, providing students with clear advice and guidelines for dealing with the broad range of writing assignments encountered in political science courses.

Announcing

The First Annual Educom/Ncriptal

Higher Education Software Awards Program

To reward developers and faculty members whose computer software products or their applications exemplify the best in instructional computing, EDUCOM and NCRIPAL (National Center for Research to Improve Postsecondary Teaching and Learning) have established an annual software awards program. The program has received initial financial support from NEXT, Inc. and it is anticipated from other organizations. Academic associations are also participating, including the American Political Science Association. There are two divisions of awards; 1) Product Division, for the development of instructional software including tutorials, simulations, educational tools, and exploratory environments; and 2) Application Division, for the use of computers and existing software to solve important educational problems. There will be monetary awards and certificates for each category. The program is open to any individual or team of individuals, but only completed software and applications in undergraduate higher education are eligible. The preliminary application deadline is March 31, 1987. For additional information and application materials write to:

Dr. Robert Kozma

National Center for Research to Improve
Postsecondary Teaching and Learning
2610-A School of Education
The University of Michigan
Ann Arbor, MI 48109-1259