The Philosopher

THE JOURNAL OF
THE PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY OF ENGLAND

Edited by: Michael Bavidge, Geoffrey Brown,
Keith Dowling and Martin Hughes

The Society was founded in 1913 'to promote the study of philosophy among the general public'. It helps to bring together professional philosophers and non-professionals, to bring philosophical ideas and problems to the public attention, and to encourage wider discussion of both traditional and topical philosophical issues.

The Journal always carries articles of interest to professional philosophers and to non-specialists.

Each issues contains DISCUSSION, BOOK REVIEWS and SOCIETY NOTICES

SUBSCRIPTIONS £6. per annum. All correspondence to:
Department of Philosophy, University of Newcastle upon Tyne,

Studies in History and Philosophy of Science

STUDIES IN HISTORY & PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE

Joint Editors: G BUCHDAHL and
N JARDINE, *University of
Cambridge, Department of History
& Philosophy of Science, Free
School Lane, Cambridge CB2 3RH,
UK*

Studies in History & Philosophy of Science is essential reading for those working in the areas of the philosophy and methodology of science and of the historical, social and intellectual contexts of science. It publishes philosophically oriented studies of material in the history of science as well as studies of the history of scientific method and epistemology, and of the interactions between science and philosophy.

The papers published are of the highest quality, and, since the journal's inception, it has proved an indispensable literary source for students of the philosophy of science. Relevant papers are welcomed for editorial consideration.
