

Cambridge University Press

Standards of Living in the Later Middle Ages

Christopher Dyer

The book focuses on the varying fortunes of different social groups in the inflation of the thirteenth century, the crises of the fourteenth, and the apparent depression of the fifteenth. Dr. Dyer explains the changes in terms of the dynamics of a social and economic system subjected to stimuli and stresses.

Cambridge Medieval Textbooks

Hardcover $49.50 Paper $14.95

Richard III

A Study of Service

Rosemary Horrox

This first full-length study of royal patronage in a period of social and political upheaval will prove invaluable to those concerned with the dynamics of power and executive government at national and local levels; it will alter our understanding of the reasons for the fall of the last Yorkist King and shed light on broader issues in fifteenth-century politics.

Cambridge Studies in Medieval Life and Thought, Fourth Series

$49.50

The Birth of the English Common Law

Second Edition

R.C. van Caenegem

"This tour de force is a piece of mature scholarship based on exceptional first-hand knowledge of archives and literature dealing with early common law."

— Social Science Quarterly

Paper $13.95

Reissued...

The English Church and the Papacy

From the Conquest to the Reign of John

Z.N. Brooke

With a new foreword by Christopher N.L. Brooke

"One of the half dozen critical studies which are fundamental to our appreciation of the history of England in the times of the Norman and Angevin kings. It is a masterly piece of work, whether we regard it as an example of historical method or as an exposition."

— Sir Maurice Powicke,

The Cambridge Historical Journal
Hardcover $49.50 Paper $16.95

Now in paperback...

The Government of England Under Henry I

Judith A. Green

"The scholarship is sound, the tone good-mannered, and the final summing up a model of clarity and good sense."

— The Times Literary Supplement
Paper $16.95

The Rise and Fall of Anne Boleyn

Retha M. Warnicke

This fascinating and truly original study of Anne Boleyn, Henry VIII's second queen, tackles a series of longstanding and fundamental convictions about her personality and her fate. It develops a more reliable picture of Anne, the values on questions about her role at court, and the view that the queen's execution was the result of Henry's profound concern about the continuation of the Tudor dynasty.
$29.95

The First Modern Society

Essays in English History in Honour of Lawrence Stone
A.L. Beier, David Cannadine, and James M. Rosenheim, Editors

These essays, by former students of the distinguished historian Lawrence Stone, celebrate his seventieth birthday and his retirement. No single volume of essays could do full justice to the breadth of Stone's interests, and to these are added four appreciations by friends and colleagues from Oxford and Princeton, and a little-known but highly revealing autobiographical piece by Lawrence Stone. $49.50

Reissued...

Strafford in Ireland 1633-1641

A Study in Absolutism
Hugh Kearney

"This is a major contribution to Irish history which also illuminates much of the career of Charles I's greatest minister and many important aspects of early Stuart government."

— Economic History Review

Hardcover $54.50 Paper $15.95

Sport in Britain: A Social History Tony Mason, Editor

This book provides a unique compendium of analysis and information relating to the whole course of sporting development over the past century and a half.

Contributors: John Lowerson, Jeremy Crump, Stan Shipley, Jack Williams, Tony Mason, John Lowerson, Wray Vamplew, Helen Walker, Christopher Dodd, Gareth Williams. about $49.50

Reissued...

Clarendon Politics, History and Religion 1640-1660 B.H.G. Wormald

"...a subtle, glancing study... still the best thing on Clarendon published in this country."

— John Kenyon, the Observer

This celebrated study, first published in 1951, offers a reinterpretation of the writings and attitudes of Edward Hyde, Earl of Clarendon (1609-74), best known for his History of the Rebellion and the Civil War and his autobiography, which presents an excellent record of the English Civil War.
Hardcover $44.50 Paper $17.95

A Marginal Economy? East Anglian Breckland in the Later Middle Ages Mark Bailey

This is the first detailed study for medieval times of a "marginal region," an area of poor soil or geographical remoteness where farmers have experienced particular difficulties in grain production. Drawing on a wide range of sources, the author reconstructs Breckland's late medieval economy and shows it to be more diversified and resilient than the stereotype depicted in marginal theory.
$59.50

Ireland, 1912-1985 Politics and Society J.J. Lee

This is the first major study on this scale of Irish performance, North and South, in the twentieth century. The book fully explores the relationship between rhetoric and reality in the Irish mind and views political behavior largely as a product of collective psychology.
Hardcover $69.50 Paper $27.95

At bookstores or order from

Cambridge University Press

40 West 20 Street, New York, NY 10011. Call toll-free: 800-872-7423, outside NY State.
800-227-0247, NY State only. MasterCard & VISA accepted. Prices subject to change.

Harvard

British Studies

SOCIAL CHAUCER

Paul Strohm

"An ambitious book, and one that stands at the very center of contemporary Chaucer criticism—and is central to the current demand for a new kind of historicism."

—Derek Pearsall, Harvard University
$29.95 cloth

NATURE INTO ART

Cultural Transformations in Nineteenth-Century Britain

Carl Woodring

In this wide-ranging excursion through the literature, visual arts, and natural sciences of the era from Wordsworth to Wilde, Carl Woodring traces shifting ideas and attitudes concerning nature, art, and the relations between the two.

"One of the few books that deserves to be called 'magesterial'—the fruit of a lifetime of study and thought."

—Richard D. Altick

$30.00 cloth

FRANCIS BACON AND THE RHETORIC OF NATURE

John C. Briggs

John Briggs clarifies the close relationship between Bacon's famous and forward-looking reform of scientific method and his less well-known conceptions of rhetoric, nature, and religion. He uncovers, throughout Bacon's works, a darker, more Machiavellian and ingenious Bacon than the twentieth-century admirers of his "rationalist" facade have identified.

$30.00 cloth

MRS. THATCHER'S REVOLUTION

The Ending of the Socialist Era

Peter Jenkins

"A shrewd and thought-provoking study which will absorb the general reader as much as the specialist."

—Gillian Peele,

Times Literary Supplement

33 halftones/$12.95 paper

BEN JONSON

A Life

David Riggs

"Riggs's biography, with its panoramic account of the poet in his world and its careful treatment of each play in both its historical context and the psychological fabric of Jonson's life, is a scholarly achievement of the prize-winning kind and has the power, if we're lucky, to direct fresh attention to the most neglected comic master in the whole history of literature."

—Chicago Tribune

$14.95 paper

COMMUNITIES OF DISCOURSE

Ideology and Social Structure in the Reformation, the Enlightenment, and European Socialism

Robert Wuthnow

"Robert Wuthnow's book is a brilliant masterwork in comparative history and social theory. Analyzing the rise of three modern critical ideologies, Wuthnow questions established theories about culture and social structure."

—Theda Skocpol, Harvard University
$49.50 cloth

FOLLOWING IN FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS

Social Mobility in Ireland

Michael Hout

This is the first systematic study of patterns of social mobility in Ireland covering the 1960s when Ireland was undergoing rapid economic growth and modernization.

12 line illus., 65 tables

$48.00 cloth

FIVE IRISH WRITERS

The Errand of Keeping Alive

John Hildebidle

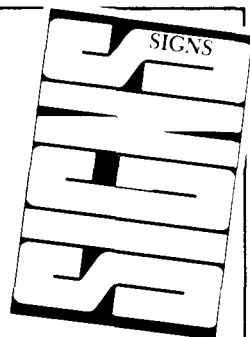

Liam O'Flaherty, Kate O'Brien, Elizabeth Bowen, Sean O'Faolain, and Frank O'Connor—theirs were among the most distinctive voices in Irish fiction in the twentieth century. John Hildebidle offers the first serious critical assessment of these writers examining the common themes that run through their work, among them family, war, the Troubles, myth, death, and exile.

$29.50 cloth

Harvard University Press

79 Garden Street
Cambridge, MA 02138

SIGNS: Journal of Women in Culture and Society

Documenting the transformation of the new scholarship on women

When it first appeared in 1975, Signs attracted much praise for its "first-rate scholarship . . . impress[ive] vitality and professionalism." "The combination of commitment and scholarship," wrote one scholar at the time, "has never been better served."

Now in its second decade of publication, Signs continues to attract hundreds of new subscribers each year. What is it about this unique journal that makes it so valuable to scholars throughout the social sciences and humanities?

VISION—With ideas and methodologies from a variety of disciplines, Signs provides important links between feminist theory and the realities of women's lives. Signs charts the progress of women's studies in history, literature, sociology, anthropology, public policy, and other disciplines.

VITALITY—Challenging the assumptions of traditional academic inquiry, Signs presents innovative discourse, provocative criticism and vital dialogue. Here you'll read incisive essays that will inspire your own research . . . and challenge the way you think about scholarship.

RELIABILITY—The relative longevity of Signs—a fully peer-reviewed journal—reflects the trust that scholars place in it. Guided by a large and diverse editorial board, Signs helps you keep pace with some of the best minds in the field—both established authors and emerging scholars.

CONTINUITY—Signs' articles have lasting value—many of them now "classics" of feminist scholarship. Each year, volume after volume, Signs subscribers build an impressive and functional collection that charts the changing tides of women's studies.

Edited by Jean F. O'Barr, Duke University
Published quarterly by The University of Chicago Press

Regular one-year subscription rates: Institutions $29.00, Individuals $62.00, NWSA Individual Members $23.00, Students (with copy of valid ID) $21.00. Outside USA, Please add $4.50 for postage. Visa and MasterCard payments accepted. To order, send complete credit card information, check, or purchase order to The University of Chicago Press, Journals Division, Dept. SF0SA, P.O. Box 37005, Chicago, IL 60637.

Tennyson

Second Edition

CHRISTOPHER RICKS

"The best study of Tennyson I have read. . . . Reading Professor Ricks's comments and observations convinces me that he is exactly the kind of critic every poet dreams of finding."—The Listener

"A first-class critical biography, shrewd and tough but also—and predominantly—deeply respectful and luminously affectionate."

—Observer

$25.00

The Rites of Knighthood

The Literature and Politics of Elizabethan Chivalry

RICHARD C. McCOY

The reign of Queen Elizabeth I witnessed a spectacular revival of chivalric ideals and practices. McCoy analyzes this phenomenon as an ideological solution to one of the most volatile contradictions of Elizabethan politics: the clash between honor and obedience. He examines the careers of three ambitious aristocrats and shows how they employed "the rites of knighthood" to assert their own authority and prestige. $27.00
The New Historicism: Studies in Cultural Poetics

Literature, Politics, and Culture in Postwar Britain

ALAN SINFIELD

"A major work of cultural criticism in the British Marxist tradition. It makes a significant 'intervention' in the very thing Sinfield is talking about, the social construction of literary and political values. It will be controversial, but I think it's brilliant; and all readers interested in contemporary British culture will recognize it as a major work."

—Patrick Brantlinger, author of
Rule of Darkness: British Literature and Imperialism

$45.00 cloth, $14.95 paper
The New Historicism: Studies in Cultural Poetics

England, Their England

Commentaries on English Language and Literature
DENIS DONOGHUE

New in paper—"The range and breadth of Donoghue's criticism has always been remarkable, but nowhere more so than in this, the 'English' volume of his essay trilogy."
—Marjorie Perloff

"A joy to read."—Booklist
$12.95 paper

At bookstores or order toll-free 1-800-822-6657. Visa & MasterCard only.

University of California Press

Berkeley 94720

Chicago

MARX AND THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

FRANÇOIS FURET

Translated by Deborah Kan Furet

With Selections from Karl Marx

Edited and Introduced by Lucien Calvié

“Marx thought of writing a history of the French Revolution, but never actually did so. The idea of bringing together his fragmentary writings on the topic and subjecting them to a systematic analysis is an excellent one, and Furet carries it off brilliantly.”—Keith Baker, University of Chicago

Cloth $34.95 256 pages

THE PERMANENT REVOLUTION

The French Revolution and Its Legacy, 1789–1989

Edited by GEOFFREY BEST

This book is not about the French Revolution then, but about the French Revolution now. Eight world-renowned scholars—Conor Cruise O’Brien, Hew Strachan, Eugene Kamenka, Geoffrey Best, George Steiner, Eugen Weber, Norman Hampson, and Douglas Johnson—examine the Revolution’s continued reverberations throughout the world. Issues include the practice of nationalism, the pursuit of human rights, the conduct of war, and the way people practice revolution or criticize it.

Paper $10.95 156 pages

Library cloth edition $24.95

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

5801 South Ellis Avenue, Chicago, IL 60637

New for Fall from Indiana

British Conquest and Dominion of India

Sir Penderel Moon

"... often bitingly critical and always readable... this book may long remain unsurpassed." — The Economist

Veteran India hand Sir Penderel Moon's life work: a large-scale history of the two centuries of British involvement in India—from the battle of Plassey in 1757 to the final independence of India and Pakistan some 40 years ago. A masterly account.

$89.95

Campion, Dowland and the Lutenist Songwriters and Gurney, Ireland, Quilter and Warlock

By Michael Pilkington

These two inaugural books in the series "English Solo Song"—the first surveying the music of the 16th and 17th centuries, the second presenting the songs of four important composers who lived in the 19th and 20th—describe each song in detail, give information on the poet and publication history, and provide indexes of first lines.

"... will be invaluable tools for singers and teachers of singing. Not only is the necessary information given, it is given with an obvious love for this marvelous literature."

— Dale Moore, President, National Association of Teachers of Singing

$25.00 each

Sex and Death in Victorian Literature

Edited by Regina Barreca

The contributors explore the relationship, implicit and explicit, of sexuality and mortality in 19th-century poetry and fiction, and they examine the points of intersection between these seemingly irreconcilable forces.

$37.50

New Readings on Women in Old English Literature

Edited by Helen Damico and Alexandra Hennessey Olsen

A milestone in Old English studies, this collection examines this literature from a feminist perspective, to reassess women as women, as they actually appear in the laws, in works written by women, and in canonical literature.

cloth $37.50

paper $14.50

At bookstores, or direct from

INDIANA UNIVERSITY PRESS

Dept. A0A1 • 10th & Morton Sts. • Bloomington, IN 47405 • 812-855-6804

Critical Inquiry

Keeps its readers at the forefront of critical thought

Facing the broader questions of creativity, Critical Inquiry publishes contemporary criticism in literature, history, philosophy, art, politics, film, and music. Renowned critics, scholars, and artists come together in the pages of CI to let you examine a range of topics central to today's culture. The result is a rigorous, lively, and sometimes volatile forum.

Continually challenging the status quo, Critical Inquiry defies ideological categorization. CI engages you in ongoing debates on established and emerging theories and methods. If you're not content with just one approach, CI will bring you a diversity of discourse.

Providing depth as well as breadth, Critical Inquiry presents frequent special sections and issues to help you consider specific themes in detail and from various perspectives. Recent examples include "Essays Toward a New Art History," a symposium on Heidegger and Naxism, and "The Sociology of Literature."

Testing traditional boundaries of discipline, CI continually assesses the state of the arts and humanities. If you're intrigued by the relation between language and visual representation, by the impact of political theory on critical theory, by philosophic contributions to the writing of history—then you'll be intrigued by Critical Inquiry.

Edited by W. J. T. Mitchell

Published quarterly by The University of Chicago Press

Regular one-year subscription rates: Individuals $29.00; Institutions $62.00; Students (with copy of ID) $20.00. Outside USA add $4.50 for postage. MasterCard and Visa payments accepted. To order, send complete credit card information, check, or purchase order to The University of Chicago Press, Journals Division, Dept. SF0SA, P.O. Box 37005, Chicago, IL 60637.

6/89

PROPHECY AND POWER

Astrology in Early Modern England

Patrick Curry

Patrick Curry rediscovers the history of astrology in early modern England: he seeks to overturn the accepted view that astrology was a marginal pursuit that died out after the mid-seventeenth century. Curry demonstrates that astrology was a vital part of English cultural life, surviving in various forms and despite powerful opposition throughout the eighteenth century. Drawing on a wide range of unpublished primary sources, he examines the heyday of astrology, its practitioners, clients, and critics and the power-struggles that characterized its development in the mid-seventeenth century.

Cloth: $27.50 ISBN 0-691-05579-3

Not available in the United Kingdom or Europe

AT YOUR BOOKSTORE OR

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS

41 WILLIAM ST. • PRINCETON, NJ 08540 • (609) 452-4900 • ORDERS 800-PRS-ISBN (777-4726)

Poverty, Migration, and Settlement in the Industrial Revolution

SOJOURNERS' NARRATIVES

James Stephen Taylor

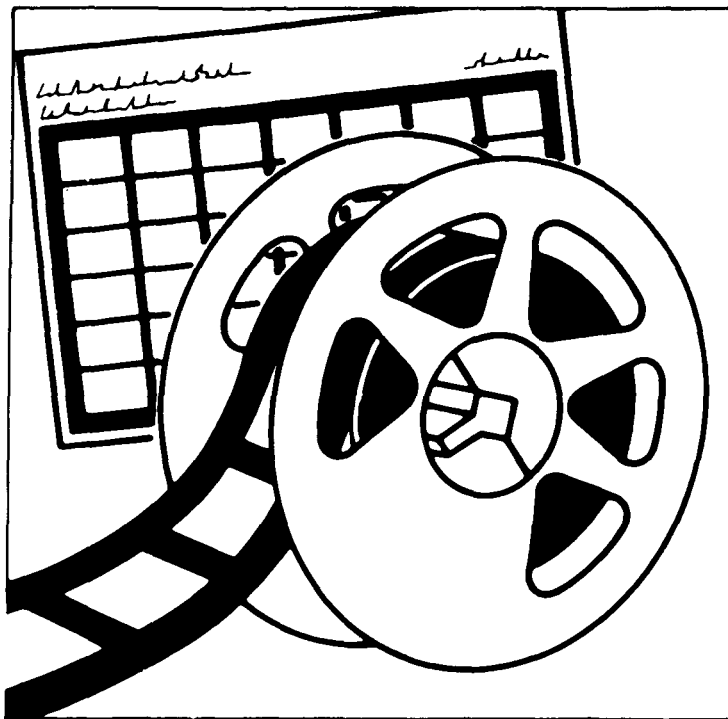

"This is a highly significant and original contribution to poor law studies. . . . It reveals the inner workings and human dimension of the settlement laws in a way that no other work I am aware of has managed to do. In the broader sense, it vividly re-creates the lives of individuals caught up in the wrenching social changes and moral dilemmas that accompanied industrialization."—Anthony Brundage

A wide range of settlement documents from London, Devon, and Westmorland—providing detailed narrative accounts of the lives of the poor—illustrate the problems of poverty and relief during the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. The documents are accompanied by extensive commentary, which illuminates both technical and general issues. 209 + x pages, illus. $28.00 USA, $32.00 elsewhere.

The Society for the Promotion of Science and Scholarship
(A nonprofit publisher)

4139 El Camino Way, P.O. Box 10139
Palo Alto, California 94303-0897

California residents please add sales tax on direct orders.

Back issues of this title available in microform

Send for our new catalogue.

Name	Title
Institution
Street
City
State	Zip

Kraus Microform

Route 100, Millwood, NY 10546
(914) 762-2200

A Division of Kraus-Thomson Organization Ltd

CHART THE INDUSTRIALIZATION OF BRITAIN— ATLAS OF BRITISH SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC HISTORY SINCE 1700 Edited by Rex Pope

This unique reference work is a visual guide to the social and economic history of England, Scotland, and Wales from 1700 to the present. With 255 thematic maps, charts, diagrams, and other illustrations and a concise text, it chronicles the industrialization and modernization of Britain.

The book is divided into twelve chapters, each concentrating on a particular aspect of British history:

- Agriculture
- The textile and chemical industries
- The metal, vehicle, and engineering industries
- Coal, gas, and electric supply
- Transport and trade
- Employment and unemployment
- Leisure
- Religion
- Education
- Labor movements
- Demographic changes
- Urbanization and living conditions

Each chapter uses maps to portray selected aspects of British history in order to illustrate regional differences in development, or disparities in wealth and welfare for example. Together, the maps comprise a vivid portrait of a society before, during, and after the industrial revolution in village, town, city, province, and as a nation.

This exceptionally valuable source of data brings together in one place an enormous array of statistics on virtually every important aspect of British economic, technological, political, and social life across more than 280 years. Here you will find maps that illustrate such items as:

- Rates of infant mortality, province by province, in 1841, 1872, 1901, and 1951
- Comparisons of the time it took coaches to travel to destinations in 1750 and in 1830

- Changes in production of coal, steel, cotton, wool, worsted, and carpets
- Imports and exports by region, and by commodity
- Railway growth and decline from 1850 to the nationalized British Rail network today
- Changes in population: growth, sex structure, regional differences, migration patterns, etc.
- Everyday life: houses without stoves, baths, or fixed water supply; drinking places in York, etc.

The maps are keyed to the text in each chapter and are accompanied by clear, easy-to-use symbols. The book also includes a thorough index and a list of books and articles for additional research. With its broad coverage of social and economic history, its use of local case studies to illuminate broad historical processes, and its focus on regional and class differences, the ATLAS serves all those interested in the making of modern Britain.

August 1989 • 272 pages •
ISBN 0-02-897341-0 • $85.00

For more information or to order:

MACMILLAN
PUBLISHING COMPANY

866 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10022
Attention: Dave Horvath

ORDER TOLL-FREE:
INDIVIDUALS: 800-323-2884
LIBRARIES: 800-257-5755

Journals from The University of Chicago Press

Send for our FREE Journals Catalog today

At the forefront of academic publishing since 1891, The University of Chicago Press brings you the highest standards of scholarship. Whatever your field, UC Press Journals Division publishes work for you.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

Adolescent Psychiatry
American Journal of Sociology
Child Development
Child Development Abstracts
and Bibliography
Crime and Justice
Current Anthropology
Economic Development and Cultural Change
Journal of British Studies
The Journal of Business
Journal of Labor Economics
The Journal of Law and Economics
The Journal of Legal Studies
The Journal of Modern History
Journal of Political Economy
Monographs of the Society for Research in Child Development
Ocean Yearbook
Public Opinion Quarterly
Signs: Journal of Women in Culture and Society
Social Service Review
The Supreme Court Review
Technology and Culture

EDUCATION

American Journal of Education
Bulletin of the Center for Children's Books
Comparative Education Review
The Elementary School Journal

PHYSICAL SCIENCES

The Astrophysical Journal
The Astrophysical Journal
Supplement Series
The Journal of Geology

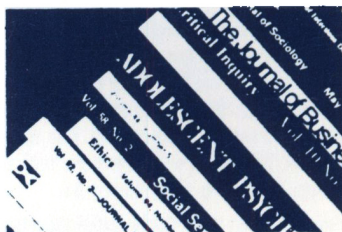

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES

The American Journal of Human Genetics
The American Naturalist
Botanical Gazette
The Journal of Infectious
Diseases
Molecular Biology and Evolution
Perspectives in Biology and Medicine
Physiological Zoology
Reviews of Infectious Diseases

HUMANITIES

Classical Philology
Critical Inquiry
Ethics
History of Religions
International Journal of American Linguistics
Journal of Near Eastern Studies
The Journal of Religion
The Library Quarterly
Modern Philology
Winterthur Portfolio: A Journal
of American Material Culture

Also distributing:
The Art Institute of Chicago
Museum Studies
Metropolitan Museum Journal

For a complete catalog—or brochures on individual journals—write to:
Sandra Willis, Circulation Department, The University of Chicago Press,
5720 S. Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago, IL 60637 USA