in the plate...

Do you buy a Catholic paper because you feel it your duty to do so? Do you merely put threepence in the box, plate, or give it to the paperseller, then take the Catholic paper and, when you return home, put it somewhere and forget about it? Or are you a reader who enjoys good journalism?

If you are one of those who take pleasure in buying a newspaper for its value, then THE CATHOLIC HERALD will appeal to you. A Catholic and Christian view of world affairs, social problems, the arts, literature, etc.; reliable reports on everyday events throughout the world, these THE CATHOLIC HERALD offers the discriminating readers of Catholic taste. Contributors include authorities from all walks of life, and a page of correspondence offers to many the opportunity to express their own views in print.

Do you feel these to be the qualities you expect in your newspaper? Yes? Then pay threepence to buy the best in journalism. . . .

Supported by Voluntary Contributions

Phone STOneycroft 3339

The Hospice for the Dying was opened with a view to according spiritual and temporal comfort, tender nursing, and loving care to persons whose insufficient means and friendless condition prevent them from being properly cared for in their homes when death draws near.

Subscriptions and contributions in kind will be thankfully acknowledged by Rev. Sister Treasurer.

Remember 'THE HOSPICE' and PRAY for the SICK and the DYING.

WE HAVE NOW EXTENDED THE PROPERTY TO COMPRISE ANOTHER 36 BEDS,

at a cost of £30,000.

"THAT THE CHURCH MAY SPREAD AND INCREASE: this is the intention for which we must offer our prayers and our labours", says Pope Pius XII in his encyclical on the Mystical Body.

The work of the Mill Hill Fathers in Africa, India, the Far East and New Zealand, has this one aim. You can work with them for the spread of the Church by fostering vocations to the missionary priesthood.
