CONTENTS

- International Integration and Democracy: No Love at First Sight Eric Stein 489
The article correlates levels of integration in the World Health Organization, the World Trade Organization, NAFTA, and the European Union with the scope and intensity of the discourse about the “democracy-legitimacy deficit.” It explores measures that might reduce the deficit through action in the national legal orders of the member states as well as within the four organizations and concludes by offering some possible “palliatives” and “grand and desperate cures” with implications for other international organizations and regimes.
- The Role of Public International Law in the WTO: How Far Can We Go? Joost Pauwelyn 535
WTO dispute settlement panels must decide matters in accordance with the applicable law in the context of general norms of international law and jurisdiction. The author argues that although the panels’ jurisdiction is limited to WTO claims, the applicable law may include any rule of international law, which may, depending on the relevant conflict rule, even prevail over the WTO treaty.

Security Council Governance of Postconflict Societies: A Plea for Good Faith and Informed Decision Making Frederic L. Kirgis 579
