Financial History Review

Contents

Special issue on the financial and monetary history of South-East Europe
Edited by Carsten Burhop and Clemens Jobst

Carsten Burhop and Clemens Jobst
Introduction 1

Matthias Morys
A century of monetary reform in South-East Europe: from political autonomy to the gold standard, 1815–1910 3

Michael Pammer
The Hungarian risk: the premium on Hungarian state bonds, 1881–1914 23

Irfan Kokdas
Land ownership, tax farming and the social structure of local credit markets in the Ottoman Balkans, 1685–1855 53

Other articles

Håkan Lindgren
Parish banking in informal credit markets: the business of private lending in early nineteenth-century Sweden 83

Erika Vause
A subject of interest: usurers on trial in early nineteenth-century France 103

For further information about this journal please go to the journal web site at: cambridge.org/fhr

Downloaded from https://www.cambridge.org/core/terms. https://doi.org/10.1017/S0968565017000117
Financial History Review

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Editorial policy
Financial History Review, published by Cambridge University Press on behalf of the European Association for Banking and Financial History e.V., is an international, interdisciplinary journal that considers original articles, book reviews, and shorter communications dealing with research on banking, history of finance, and related topics. It is committed to high international scholarly standards and invites scholars doing research on banking, financial and monetary history from different perspectives, including theoretical and empirical analysis, and the interfaces between history, finance, policy, and culture. The Review particularly encourages submissions from younger scholars.

Articles should normally be of 8,000 words including footnotes, tables and any other graphical or illustrative material (a graph occupying as a page is deemed equivalent to 2,000 words). The journal is published in English and contributions should be submitted in that language. Authors whose native language is other than English are encouraged to seek assistance in their manuscript to a professional native translator for a preliminary revision before submission.

Submissions
Manuscripts may be submitted through the new online submission facility available on the Review’s web page http://journals.cambridge.org/FHR. Authors are required to upload:

1. A title page with the following details: article title, full names and affiliations of all authors (affiliations should be given in brackets), full contact details (email and telephone) of the corresponding author (affiliation should be given in brackets) and an abstract (maximum 200 words) for submission purposes. Code per-copy fee of $US 12.00 (or in the USA, Canada and Mexico: $12.50) for individuals who are not registered for EU subscribers (outside the UK) who are not registered for institutional subscriptions (in USA, Canada and Mexico 50% off the institutional price). MA subscribers (outside the UK) who are not registered for institutional subscriptions (in USA, Canada and Mexico 50% off the institutional price) plus postage.

2. A blinded copy of the manuscript. The cover page of the document should include the paper’s title, a short abstract (maximum 200 words), a short list of keywords and JEL codes. Please note that you should supply a WORD or RTF document for the main text (including footnotes, bibliography, references, appendices) and a different single document in PDF for Tables and Figures. A submission cannot be peer reviewed in any language other than English and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. Upon acceptance of a paper, the author will be asked to assign copyright (as certain condition) to the European Association for Banking and Financial History e.V.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material in which they do not own copyright, to be used in both print and electronic media, and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgement are included in their manuscript.

Preparation of manuscripts
1. Manuscripts should be double-spaced throughout on A4, 200 x 300 mm, or 8½ x 11” paper. Whole margins should be left on all sides.

2. Pages should be numbered consecutively, beginning with the title page, the page number being placed at the top right-hand corner of the page.

3. Footnotes should be typed, double-spaced, numbered consecutively and be grouped together at the end of the manuscript. Footnotes will appear in the journal at the bottom of each printed page. Footnotes should clearly be concerned with matters of source citation. Substantive footnotes, involving commentary or argument, should be avoided, with material more closely connected properly contained within the body of the text. If an elaborate commentary on source is required, and cannot be incorporated within the body of the article, it should form an appendix to the article (to be included in the total text length).

4. Tables should be typed, single-spaced and headed appropriately, be divided into subsections designated by Arabic numerals and control by the page. Sub-headings within an article should be typewritten.

5. Tables and figures should be submitted on separate pages and grouped together in a section at the end of the manuscript. Please number tables and figures consecutively with Arabic numerals, using that figure within the text, e.g., Table 1, Map 1, Figure 2. Their appropriate position in the body of the text should be indicated in the text, e.g., place Table 1(a) here.

6. Contributors should follow exactly the editorial instructions we set out below, treating the final version of their articles. Copy-editing is tedious and time-consuming and as a consequence, the Editors reserve the right to correct a contribution submitted for publication solely on the grounds that it does not follow the conventions.

Corrections
1. Spelling: British spelling is preferred, using -re in words with alternative -ir/ere (e.g., F. Smith, rather than F. Smith). However, American spelling will be accepted.

2. Foreign words or phrases in an English text should be underlined (or italicized, for emphasis, or in the footnotes, henceforth IMF, etc.) should follow accepted national styles, always giving an extended version for the first document cited from a source, e.g. (International Monetary Fund, Stevens, and Zumer, 1993, henceforth IMF, Stevens, and Zumer, 1993).

3. Quotations: follow the punctuation, capitalization and spilling of the original source. Within the body of the text or an article a quotation should begin and end, with single quotation marks, with double quotation marks only used for quotations within quotations. Quotations of more than about 40 words should be set off from the body of the text by being indicated in the left-hand margins in a hanging block of text, within the body, of the text. Extensive quotations from non-English language sources should be translated into English in the text and (if necessary) the original text supplied in a footnote. A maximum of two quotations of 40 words or more may be used, per footnote.

4. Numbers: spell out number one to ten, but use Arabic numerals thereafter and standard contractions, as well as for million. Spans of numbers should be avoided (e.g., in 1776–1993, rather than in 1776–1993). Percentages should be given in full (e.g., 70% rather than 70). Any other expressions should be avoided, so that 4 percent equals 0.04, the turn of the century (1999) should be used, as should footnotes and tables. Standard fractions can be used in number.

5. Dates: use the American day-month-year (e.g., 1999/10/15) format, except for dates in italics, and the international century (the 14th century, not the 1400s). Dates should be contracted (e.g., 1999, not 1999/1).

6. Ellipses: whether within, or at the end of a sentence should be indicated by three spaced full stops.

7. Footnotes: all bibliographical information should appear at the end of the text, in a separate section. The references listed in the footnotes should be given in order of appearance in the text, hencefootnotes may not appear in the text.

8. Abbreviations: initials and acronyms used in the text should be defined in the first instance, henceforth IFS, IMF, etc.

9. Copying: Organizations authorized by the Copyright Clearance Center, 225 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, USA, to register for copying for commercial purposes, Caltech Library, 1234 Main Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19154, USA, is authorized to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only. The journal is registered with the Copyright Clearance Center, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, USA. Organizations in the USA which are also registered with CCC may therefore copy material (beyond the limits permitted by sections 107 and 108 of US copyright law) subject to payment to CCC of the per-copy fee of $US 12.00. This consent does not extend to multiple copying for promotional or commercial purposes.

10. British spelling is preferred, using -ise/ize in words with alternative -ise/ize (e.g., F. Smith, rather than F. Smith. However, American spelling will be accepted.

11. Spelling: British spelling is preferred, using -re in words with alternative -ir/ere (e.g., F. Smith, rather than F. Smith). However, American spelling will be accepted.

12. British spelling is preferred, using -ise/ize in words with alternative -ise/ize (e.g., F. Smith, rather than F. Smith). However, American spelling will be accepted.

13. British spelling is preferred, using -ise/ize in words with alternative -ise/ize (e.g., F. Smith, rather than F. Smith). However, American spelling will be accepted.

14. British spelling is preferred, using -ise/ize in words with alternative -ise/ize (e.g., F. Smith, rather than F. Smith). However, American spelling will be accepted.
Contents

Special issue on the financial and monetary history of South-East Europe

Edited by Carsten Burhop and Clemens Jobst

Carsten Burhop and Clemens Jobst

Introduction

Matthias Morys

A century of monetary reform in South-East Europe: from political autonomy to the gold standard, 1815–1910

Michael Pammer

The Hungarian risk: the premium on Hungarian state bonds, 1881–1914

Irfan Kokdas

Land ownership, tax farming and the social structure of local credit markets in the Ottoman Balkans, 1685–1855

Other articles

Håkan Lindgren

Parish banking in informal credit markets: the business of private lending in early nineteenth-century Sweden

Erika Vause

A subject of interest: usurers on trial in early nineteenth-century France