ANGLICAN LITURGIES
of the 17th and 18th Centuries

W. JARDINE GRISBROOKE

42s. net

Published for the Alcuin Club

This book contains the texts of 12 Anglican Communion Offices, 1637-1764, an important period for both historian and liturgist. Only two of these texts have hitherto been conveniently available to the student. Historical, theological and liturgical commentary on the texts is provided.

THE BELIEF OF CHRISTENDOM

J. BURNABY

17s. 6d. net

Professor Burnaby writes for the many who today, while attracted towards Christian faith, find difficulty in Christian belief as expressed in the Creed. He writes without assuming knowledge of technical terms, and his book will help many to understand how the Creed safeguards the Faith.

TOWARDS THE CENTRE

CHARLES JEFFRIES

4s. 6d.

'A layman's brilliant treatise on union. . . . It would be hard to overpraise Sir Charles' masterly epitome of the course of the movement towards Christian unity and the impartiality of his estimate of how it stands today. His book is a splendid statement of that minimum knowledge and understanding lacking which no one can contribute responsibly to the debate.'
Glasgow Herald

CONSUMMATUM EST

A. CORELL

25s. net

'It is a study of eschatology in relation to the doctrine of the Church in St. John's Gospel. Few words nowadays are more abused than "eschatology" and its adjective. It is no small merit in this writer that he preserves their strict meaning, together with their background and present relevance.'

THEOLOGY IN CONFLICT

Gustaf Wingren

An invaluable aid in the understanding of the far-reaching implications of the ideas of Barth, Bultmann and Nygren, this book concentrates on the important relationship between the law and the gospel. Gustaf Wingren reveals what he believes to be the basic flaws in the assumptions of these great theologians.

ELIJAH AND ELISHA

Ronald S. Wallace

'Mr Wallace writes lucidly and with real spiritual insight. Listening to such expositions a congregation could not but grow in knowledge and understanding of the Faith they profess. It is a volume to be commended not only to the laity, but to ministers, for it is a fine example of expository preaching.'—The Scotsman

CHRIST IN OUR PLACE

Paul van Buren

A study of the substitutionary character of Calvin's doctrine of reconciliation. '... a good book and well deserves the praise with which Karl Barth recommends it in a foreword. Not only is it the first English book on Calvin's doctrine of the atonement, but it really penetrates into its subject and reaches the heart of the matter.'

THE NATURE AND AUTHORITY OF THE BIBLE

by RAYMOND ABBA

'The plan and content which Professor Abba has adopted are unusual in a book on this theme, and valuable. First we have an outline of the Bible as a whole, arranged under five periods. Then follow chapters on special topics such as Revelation through History, Myth, Legend and History, Miracles and finally The Word of God. . . . The book should be available to all serious teachers of divinity, to training college lecturers and to students—not less to people in university departments of education.'

—Religion in Education

'In closing the book one has the feeling of having consulted a library, amid which none the less the author's opinions are clearly and forcibly expressed. . . . The book will prove of very great value to preachers, students, and the lay reader.'

—Expository Times

'A balanced judgment on a difficult problem is found in every chapter of Mr Abba's attractive study. . . . the theological student will find here a condensed library of theology. . . . Mr Abba is particularly helpful in his discussion of myth, legend and history.'
