Early Latin America

A History of Colonial Spanish America and Brazil

JAMES LOCKHART and STUART SCHWARTZ

This textbook provides a general history of Latin America in the period between the European conquest and the independence of the Spanish American countries and Brazil, in the early nineteenth century. The authors integrate the older and newer historical literature, seeing legal, institutional and political phenomena within a social, economic and cultural context.

Law and Politics in Aztec Texcoco

JEROME OFFNER

This is the first modern analysis of the legal system of any Aztec state, and the first comprehensive study of the history and culture of Texcoco, the second most important Aztec city. Dr Offner's study of the structure of the Aztec legal system provides a guide to the poorly understood social and political structures of the Aztec states.

Juan Vicente Gómez and the Oil Companies in Venezuela, 1908-1935

B. S. McBETH

Dr McBeth explores the little-studied area of the early history of the oil industry in Venezuela, established during the dictatorship of Juan Vicente Gómez. He examines the relationship between Gómez's government and the oil companies, concluding that, in general, Gómez's strategy towards them was well calculated to maintain Venezuela's independence and bargaining power.

Brazil's State-owned Enterprises

A Case Study of the State as Entrepreneur

THOMAS J. TREBAT

This book provides the first systematic analysis of the performance of Brazil's large state-owned enterprises. Although the Brazilian economic system encourages private enterprise, the government owns and operates such critical industries as petrochemicals, steel, electricity and telecommunications, and the author argues that this has facilitated the recent rapid growth of the Brazilian economy.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Journal of Latin American Studies is published twice a year under the academic sponsorship of the Centres or Institutes of Latin American Studies at the University of Cambridge, Essex, Glasgow, Liverpool, London and Oxford.

The scope of the journal is the study of Latin America from the standpoint of the social sciences, including anthropology, archaeology, economics, geography, history, international relations, politics, sociology, etc., though it is not concerned with linguistic or literary studies.

Editorial policy avoids commitment to any political viewpoint or ideology, but welcomes free discussion of such issues in the Latin American context, on the understanding that all responsibility for opinions expressed rests exclusively with the author concerned and not with either the journal or its editors.

Contributions are invited from all parts of the world. Articles should generally not be more than 8,000 words long, and two copies, typed with double-spacing, should be submitted. Diagrams and maps may be included by arrangement with the editors. The journal is published in English, but articles written in other languages may be considered, and arrangements made as required for translation into English. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for use in correcting proofs.

All contributions and editorial correspondence should be addressed to Journal of Latin American Studies, Institute of Latin American Studies, 31 Tavistock Square, London, WC1H 9HA.

Each contributor will receive, free of charge, 25 offprints of the article and a copy of the issue of the journal in which it appears.
