CONSTRUCTING THE WORLD

A Study in Paul's Cosmological Language

Edward Adams

In this ground-breaking study of Paul, Dr Adams focuses on Paul's understanding and use of the cosmological concepts 'world' and 'creation', and examines Paul's social and historical context.

THE RELIGIOUS CONTEXT OF EARLY CHRISTIANITY

A Guide to Graeco-Roman Religions

Hans-Josef Klauck

Translated by Brian McNeil

This comprehensive guide to the world of religion in the Graeco-Roman environment of early Christianity describes ordinary domestic and civil religion and popular belief (including astrology, divination and 'magic'), and also discusses ruler and emperor cults, the religious dimensions of philosophy, and Gnosticism.

JOHN CALVIN: STUDENT OF THE CHURCH FATHERS

Anthony N. S. Lane

A fine study of John Calvin and his relationships with the fathers and medieval scholars, by one of the leading present-day experts in Calvin studies. Specific themes explored include Calvin's knowledge of the Greek fathers, his use and sources of Bernard of Clairvaux, and the sources for his Genesis commentary.

JUST JAMES

The Brother of Jesus in History and Tradition

John Painter

This book evaluates the many facts and traditions surrounding this first bishop of the Jerusalem church, such as Mary's perpetual virginity and James' kinship to Jesus. Painter examines James' relation to Judaism and explains why Christian leaders have sought to minimise James' true significance.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Articles for SJT must be submitted on disk as well as in hardcopy. One copy of a proposed article should be submitted in hardcopy with an accompanying disk to: Professor Iain Torrance, Department of Divinity, University of Aberdeen, Aberdeen AB24 3UB, Scotland, UK. The authors of articles should send an email address, if possible, to Professor Torrance, and their submission will be acknowledged in that format.

Submission of a disk is essential, as the article will be sent to international referees as an email attachment. Only 3.5 inch disks are usable. The very much preferred format is MS Word for Windows.

The average length of articles is 5000–6000 words. Those in excess of 8000 words cannot be considered. Shorter articles are much more likely to be accepted. Articles should be formatted with footnotes (not endnotes), and the footnotes should be fully justified. Single quotation marks should be used for quotation, and double quotation marks for quotation within a quotation.

Disks, once submitted, will be understood to contain the final form of an article, and if the article is accepted, a first proof will be produced from the author's disk (with minor editorial emendations). Beyond minor corrections, no further revisions or additions should then be made by authors.

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published in English, and is not being considered for publication by another journal.

With the increased use of email, the editors will draw on US as well as British scholars to contribute book reviews. Articles have always been international.

First proofs of articles (but not of reviews) will be sent to authors for correction, and must be returned within three weeks of receipt. Corrections should be confined to typographical errors. Other corrections may be made only with the concurrence of the editor.

Contributions from North America may use North American spellings. Greek and Hebrew words, which should be used sparingly, need not be transliterated. Capitalisation should be kept to a minimum, and in particular should not be used in pronouns referring to God.

Contributors of articles and of article reviews (but not of reviews) receive one copy of the journal in which their article appears without charge. Extra copies may be ordered at half price from the publisher.
