"Everything that is thinkable is also possible."

Nowadays, scholars generally have good access to current and recent periodicals but there is a mine of information available from journals going back as far as the end of the eighteenth century, covering a wide range of subject areas within the humanities and social sciences.

If you are studying Wittgenstein, for example, you might miss an article on developments in his view of ethics from the Philosophical Review in 1965. You might fail to see a piece by Gilbert Ryle from the Italian journal Rivista di filosofia from 1952. You could even overlook Wittgenstein's own letter to the editor of Mind in 1933.

Periodicals Contents Index takes in 2,076 titles covering 8,384,618 records, and grows by one million articles each year. PCI gives you the ability to search two centuries of journal writing in less time than it takes to explain the Theory of Forms.

If you would like to find out more, please visit the PCI web sites.

Necessity or Contingency?

The Master Argument and its Philosophical Solutions

Jules Vuillemin

The Master Argument, recorded by Epictetus, indicates that Diodorus had deduced a contradiction from the conjoint assertion of three propositions. There have been many attempts at reconstructing it in logical terms, without excessive worry about historical plausibility. This text takes exception to recent tradition, translating the propositions into logical terms.

Information for Authors

Prospective authors should send their contributions, typed and doublespaced on quarto or A4 paper, to the Editor, Professor Anthony O'Hear, Royal Institute of Philosophy, 14 Gordon Square, London WC1H 0AG. They should retain a second copy for the purpose of checking proofs. When an article has been accepted for publication, the author is strongly encouraged to send a copy of the final version on computer disk (Apple Macintosh or IBM compatible PC) together with the hard copy typescript, giving details of the wordprocessing software used (Microsoft Word, Word or Word Perfect). However, the publisher reserves the right to typeset material by conventional means if an author's disk proves unsatisfactory. Authors should observe the conventions of the journal. The Editor may alter manuscripts wherever necessary to make them conform to the stylistic and bibliographical conventions of the journal. Single quotation marks should be used except where there is a quotation within another. The titles of books and journals should be underlined (i.e. to be printed in italics), as should foreign words. Titles of articles should be in single quotation marks.

Notes and references will be printed as footnotes and should be typed (double-spacing) on a separate sheet, numbered consecutively. They should be referred to in the text by superscripts. Citations should be as follows:

The return of contributions cannot be guaranteed unless they are accompanied by stamps, or in the case of contributions from abroad, by international coupons, to cover postage. A self-addressed envelope should also be enclosed.

Only corrections of printer's errors can be allowed in proofs. Authors are therefore asked to send any alterations or additions to Professor O'Hear as soon as possible after receiving his letter of acceptance.

Authors of articles, discussion papers and review articles will receive twenty-five offprints free of charge. Additional offprints can be ordered when proofs are returned by arrangement with the Institute.

Books for review should be sent to the Editor at the Institute and not to Cambridge University Press. Publishers are asked to note that non-philosophical works are not reviewed in Philosophy.
