Contents Volume 15:4 December 1992

Cordo, P. & Gurfinkel, V. Controversies			iii
Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A equilibrium-point control to guide sing			603
Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Does the n
information to control natural limb mov	vemen	ts?	614
McCrea, D. A. Can sense be made of spi	nal int	terneuron circuits?	633
Robinson, D. A. Implications of neural net	tworks	for how we think about brain function	644
Alexander, G. E., DeLong, M. R. & Cru
ganglionic motor areas use "motor prog			656
Bloedel, J. R. Functional heterogeneity w	~		000
	iui su	uctural homogeneity. How does	ccc
the cerebellum operate?			666
Fetz, E. E. Are movement parameters re	cogniz	ably coded in the activity of single neurons?			679
Stein, J. F. The representation of egocent	trie spa	ace in the posterior parietal cortex	691
Open Peer Commentary		Colby, C. L., Duhamel, J-R. & Goldberg, M. E.
		Posterior parietal cortex and retinocentric space	727
Adamovich, S. V. How does the nervous system	704	Connolly, C. I. A robotics perspective on motor	728 control the equilibrium trajectory? Agarwal, G. C. Movement control hypotheses:	704	programs and path planning Cordo, P. J. & Bevan, L. Successive approximation	120
A lesson from history	705	in targeted movement: An alternative hypothesis	729
Alexander, G. E. Neurophysiology of motor systems:		Dawson, M. R. W. FINSTs, tag-assignment
Coming to grips with connectionism	706	and the parietal gazetteer	730
Andersen, R. A. & Brotchie, P. R. Spatial maps		Dean, J. Is equilibrium-point control all there versus distributed representations	707	is to coding movement and do insects do it, too?	731
Barmack, N. H., Errico, P. & Fagerson, M. Microzones, topographic maps and cerebellar		Dietz, V. Control of natural movements: Interaction of various neuronal mechanisms	732
"operations"	709	Duysens, J. & Gielen, C. C. A. M. Spinal integration:	102
Berkinblit, M. B., Sidorova, V. Y., Smetanin, B. N.	.00	From reflexes to perception	733
& Tkach, T. V. Afferent influence on central		Eagleson, R. & Carey, D. P. Connectionist networks generators and the integration of proprioceptive		do not model brain function	734
input with afferent input from other modalities	709	Feldman, A. G. Fundamentals of motor control,	FOF
Beuter, A. Modulation of kinesthetic information can	711	kinesthesia and spinal neurons: In search of a theory	735 738 be explored with nonlinear dynamics Bischof, H. & Pinz, A. J. Artificial versus real neural	111	Flanders, M. & Soechting, J. F. Network magic Frolov, A. A. & Biryukova, E. V. Adaptive neural	100 networks	712	networks organize muscular activity to generate
Borrett, D. S., Yeap, T. H. & Kwan, H. C.		equilibrium trajectories	739
The nonlinear dynamics of connectionist networks:		Fuchs, A. F., Ling, L., Kaneko, C. R. S.
The basis of motor control	712	& Robinson, F. R. Network simulations
Bossut, D. F. Implication of neural networks for how	714	and single-neuron behavior: The case for keeping	740
we think about brain function Bower, J. M. Is the cerebellum a motor control	/14	the bath water Fuster, J. M. Brain systems have a way of reconciling	740 device?	714	"opposite" views of neural processing; the motor Braitenberg, V. & Preissl, H. Why is the output		system is no exception	741 of the cerebellum inhibitory?	715	Gandevia, S. C. How complex is a simple arm
Bridgeman, B. Taking distributed coding seriously	717	movement?	743
Bullock, D. & Contreras-Vidal, J. L. Adaptive		Gilbert, P. F. C. & Yeo, C. H. Cerebellar function: On-line control and learning	743
behavioral phenotypes enabled by spinal interneuron circuits: Making sense		Giszter, S. Spinal movement primitives and motor	140
the Darwinian way	717	programs: A necessary concept for motor control	744
Burgess, P. R. Equilibrium points and sensory		Gnadt, J. W. Area LIP: Three-dimensional space
templates	720	and visual to oculomotor transformation	745
Burke, D. Movement programs in the spinal cord	722	Goodale, M. A. & Jakobson, L. S. Action systems
Carey, D. P. & Servos, P. Is "attention" necessary	723	in the posterior parietal cortex Gordon, A. M. & Inhoff, A. W. Intermittent use	747
for visuomotor transformations? Cavallari, P. From neuron to hypothesis	723	of feedback during movement phase transitions
Cavanagh, P. R., Simoneau, G. G. & Ulbrecht, J. S.	. 20	and during the updating of internal models	748
Posture and gait in diabetic distal symmetrical		Gottlieb, G. L. Kinematics is only a (good) start	749
polyneuropathy	724	Graziano, M. S. & Gross, C. G. Somatotopically
Clark, F. J. How accurately can we perceive	T 0 T	organized maps of near visual space exist	750
the positions of our limbs?	725	Grobstein, P. Information processing styles and strategies: Directed movement, neural
Clarke, T. L. Mathematics is a useful guide to brain function	726	networks, space and individuality	750 strie, opened while incation during

Gutman, S. R. & Gottlieb, G. L. Virtual trajectory
as a solution of the inverse dynamic problem	752
Hallett, M. Operations of the motor system	754
Hamm, T. M. & McCurdy, M. L. Making sense of recurrent inhibition: Comparisons of circuit organization with function	756
Hasan, Z. Is stiffness the mainspring of posture	100
and movement?	756
Heuer, H. Computations, neural networks	.00
and the limits of human understanding	758
Horak, F. B., Shupert, C. & Burleigh, A.
Implications for human motor control	758
Iansek, R. Converging approaches to the problem of single-cell recording	760
Ingle, D. Spatial short-term memory: Evolutionary	=00 perspectives and discoveries from split-brain studies	760
Ioffe, M. E. The necessity of a complex approach	760
in studying brain mechanisms of movement	762 763
Ito, M. Function versus synapse: Still a missing link? Jaeger, D. Toward an integration of neurophysiology,	705 performance analysis, connectionism and compartmental modeling	763
Kalaska, J. F. & Crammond, D. J.	100
Neurophysiological mechanisms for the planning of movement and for spatial representations	764
Kirkwood, P. A. The identification of corticomotoneuronal connections	766
Kuo, A. D. & Zajac, F. E. What is the nature of the feedforward component in motor control?	767 Kupfermann, I. Neural networks: They do not have to be complex to be complex	767
Lacquaniti, F. Reflex control of mechanical interaction	700
in man Leo N. & Course B. F. Fauiltheime meint	768
Lan, N. & Crago, P. E. Equilibrium-point hypothesis, minimum effort control strategy and the triphasic muscle activation pattern	769
Latash, M. L. Are we able to preserve a motor	103
command in the changing environment?	771
Lemon, R. The meaning for movement of activity in single cortical output neurons	773 Levine, D. S. Toward a genuine theoretical neuroscience of motor control	774
Loeb, G. E. Past the equilibrium point	774
Lundberg, A. To what extent are brain commands for movements mediated by spinal interneurones?	775
MacKay, W. A. & Riehle, A. The single neuron is not for hiding	776
Masson, G. & Pailhous, J. Locomotion, oscillating dynamic systems and stiffness regulation by the basal ganglia	778
McCollum, G. Global organizations: Movement	110
and spinal	779
Morasso, P. & Sanguineti, V. Equilibrium point and self-organization	781
Neilson, P. D. & Neilson, M. D. Adaptive model theory	782
Nichols, T. R. Stiffness regulation revisited	783
Ostry, D. J. & Flanagan, J. R. Aspects of the equilibrium-point hypothesis (λ model)	FO (
for multijoint movements	784
Paillard , J. Between perception and reflex: A role for contextual kinaesthetic information	786
	001
Phillips, J. G., Jones, D. L., Bradshaw, J. L. & Iansek, R. Levels of explanation and other
- ANTER AN ARTICLE OF CAPTERIAUVIE AND UNION available clinical models for motor theory	787 available clinical models for motor theory Pouget, A. & Sejnowski, T. J. A distributed common	787 reference frame for egocentric space in the posterior parietal cortex	787

Pratt, C. A. & Macpherson, J. M. The many disguises of "sense": The need for multitask studies of multiarticular movements	788
Prochazka, A. A vital clue: Kinesthetic input is greatly enhanced in sensorimotor "vigilance"	789
Proctor , R . W . & Franz , E . A . Is the posterior parietal cortex the site for sensorimotor transformation? Cross-validation from studies of stimulus-response compatibility	790
Quinlan, P. Real space in the head?	791
Rager, J. E. There is much information in neural	709 network unit activations Ross, H. E. Command signals and the perception	792 of force, weight and mass	793
Rudomin, P. Presynaptic inhibition and information transmission in neuronal populations	793
Schieppati, M. Selection of task-related motor output	794 through spinal interneurones Schwarz, G. & Pouget, A. Signals, brains	194 and explanation	795
Seltzer, $\hat{\mathbf{B}}$. An anatomy of parallel distributed processing	796
Smeets, J. B. J. What do fast goal-directed movements teach us about equilibrium-point control?	796
Smith, A. M. Can the inferior olive both excite and inhibit Purkinje cells?	797
Stein, J. F. The role of the cerebellum in calibrating	- feedforward control	798 799
Stein, R. B. Varying the invariants of movement
Summers I I The demise of the motor program	- 800
Summers, J. J. The demise of the motor program Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not vet found?	800 800
Summers, J. J. The demise of the motor program Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory
Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory	800
Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found?Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memoryTsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theoryand engineering neural network: Can each afford	800 801
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? 	800
Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found?Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memoryTsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theoryand engineering neural network: Can each afford	800 801
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues 	800 801
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. 	800 801 802
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient 	800 801 802 803
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? 	800 801 802
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized 	800 801 802 803
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? 	800 801 802 803
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers 	800 801 802 803 804
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses 	800 801 802 803 804
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. 	800 801 802 803 804
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses 	800 801 802 803 804
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, 	800 801 802 803 804 805 805
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands 	800 801 802 803 804 805
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands McCrea, D. A. Spinal interneuronal connections: 	800 801 802 803 804 805 805 808 815
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands McCrea, D. A. Spinal interneuronal connections: Out of the dark comes a ray of hope 	800 801 802 803 804 805 805
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands McCrea, D. A. Spinal interneuronal connections: Out of the dark comes a ray of hope Robinson, D. A. How far into brain function can neural networks take us? 	800 801 802 803 804 805 805 808 815
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands McCrea, D. A. Spinal interneuronal connections: Out of the dark comes a ray of hope Robinson, D. A. How far into brain function can neural networks take us? 	800 801 802 803 804 805 808 815 819
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands McCrea, D. A. Spinal interneuronal connections: Out of the dark comes a ray of hope Robinson, D. A. How far into brain function can neural networks take us? Alexander, G. E., DeLong, M. R. & Crutcher, M. D. Naturalizing motor control theory: Isn't it time 	800 801 802 803 804 805 808 815 819 823
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands McCrea, D. A. Spinal interneuronal connections: Out of the dark comes a ray of hope Robinson, D. A. How far into brain function can neural networks take us? Alexander, G. E., DeLong, M. R. & Crutcher, M. D. Naturalizing motor control theory: Isn't it time for a new paradigm? 	800 801 802 803 804 805 808 815 819
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands McCrea, D. A. Spinal interneuronal connections: Out of the dark comes a ray of hope Robinson, D. A. How far into brain function can neural networks take us? Alexander, G. E., DeLong, M. R. & Crutcher, M. D. Naturalizing motor control theory: Isn't it time for a new paradigm? Bloedel, J. R. Concepts of cerebellar integration: 	800 801 802 803 804 805 808 815 819 823
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands McCrea, D. A. Spinal interneuronal connections: Out of the dark comes a ray of hope Robinson, D. A. How far into brain function can neural networks take us? Alexander, G. E., DeLong, M. R. & Crutcher, M. D. Naturalizing motor control theory: Isn't it time for a new paradigm? Bloedel, J. R. Concepts of cerebellar integration: Still more questions than answers Fetz, E. E. Saving the baby: Toward a meaningful 	800 801 802 803 804 805 808 815 819 823 828 833
 Tanji, J. Cortical area-specific activity not yet found? Thompson, R. F. The cerebellum and memory Tsuda, I. Nonlinear dynamical systems theory and engineering neural network: Can each afford plausible interpretation of "how" and "what"? Van Gisbergen, J. A. M. & Duysens, J. Coordinate transformations in sensorimotor control: Persisting issues Van Ingen Schenau, G. J., Beek, P. J. & Bootsma, R. J. Is position information alone sufficient for the control of external forces? Winters, J. M. & Mullins, P. Synthesized neural/biochemical models used for realistic 3-D tasks are more likely to provide answers Authors' Responses Bizzi, E., Hogan, N., Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A. & Giszter, S. The equilibrium-point framework: A point of departure Gandevia, S. C. & Burke, D. Afferent feedback, central programming and motor commands McCrea, D. A. Spinal interneuronal connections: Out of the dark comes a ray of hope Robinson, D. A. How far into brain function can neural networks take us? Alexander, G. E., DeLong, M. R. & Crutcher, M. D. Naturalizing motor control theory: Isn't it time for a new paradigm? Bloedel, J. R. Concepts of cerebellar integration: Still more questions than answers 	800 801 802 803 804 805 808 815 819 823 828