
The Middle East

A Political and Economic Survey

Edited by Peter Mansfield

Some seven-tenths of this edition is entirely new. The sections covering the historical background have been retained from previous editions where appropriate, but the transformation of the Middle East since the publication of the third edition has required extensive rewriting and updating. Seven completely new chapters have been added, dealing with vital aspects of the Middle East situation such as the origins of the Palestine Problem, Soviet and American involvement, and the oil industry. Chapters on contemporary literature and the arts have been included for the first time. Fourth edition 3 maps $5.50

Between Old and New

The Ottoman Empire under Sultan Selim III, 1789–1807

Stanford J. Shaw

Sultan Selim III has traditionally been thought of as the first modern Ottoman reformer. Using documents found in the archives of Istanbul, Mr. Shaw reassesses this judgment, showing that Selim was much more of a traditional reformer, and that his continuance of old practices led to chaos, confusion, and the collapse of the reform movement. Harvard Middle Eastern Studies, 15. $15.00
