A Report on the Congressional Fellowship Program, 1991-92 and 1992-93

The Congressional Fellowship Program is a professional level internship that gives academics, journalists, federal executives, and other professionals an opportunity to work on the staffs of senators, representatives, and congressional committees. Its goals are:

- to improve the quality of scholarship and teaching on Congress and American national politics;
- to enhance public understanding of Congress and policymaking; and
- to provide professionals from several fields with practical experience in Congress and insight into the legislative process.

Since 1953, the first year of the Program, there have been a total of 1,488 Fellows, including 232 political scientists, 192 journalists, 726 federal executives, 296 medical faculty, and others.

Although the first class of Fellows had only six members, in recent years the Program has grown to include between 40 and 50 Fellows each year. The political science and journalism Fellows are selected in nationwide competitions. Political science applicants must have completed their doctorates within the last fifteen years or be near completion, and reporters must have a bachelor's degree and between two and ten years of professional experience in newspaper, magazine, television, or radio reporting. Criteria for selection are quality training, demonstrated competence, maturity and responsibility, relevance of fellowship experience to career goals, and potential for professional advancement.

While the political scientists and journalists remain the core of the program and are supported by the APSA through contributions from corporations and foundations, the majority of each year's class of Fellows participates in the program through affiliate arrangements, including:

- federal executives (Grades 13-16) supported by agency training funds;
- Asian Fellows supported by the Asia Foundation;
- Health Policy Fellows, including medical faculty, supported by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation;
- anthropology faculty supported by the American Anthropological Association;
- German Fellows supported by The German Marshall Fund;
- Carl Albert Fellows supported by the Carl Albert Center at the University of Oklahoma; and
- a French Fellow supported by the Fondation Franco-Americaine in Paris.

In recent years, those who have funded political scientists and journalists include the Knight Foundation, Knight Ridder, Incorporated, the New York Times Company Foundation, MCI Communications Corporation, International Business Machines and the Poynter Fund.

The Walter and Phyllis Shorenstein family has provided funding to endow a Fellowship in the name of their daughter, Joan Shorenstein Barone. Joan was a well-known and highly respected producer for CBS News who died in 1985 at a tragically early age. The Joan Shorenstein Barone Fellowship is awarded annually to a broadcast journalist of special merit, and was given for the first time to a 1986-87 Fellow, Jean Powell, news reporter for KEZI-TV in Eugene, Oregon. Mark C. Curtis, Senior News Reporter, WEAR-TV, Pensacola, FL, has been named the 1992-93 Joan Shorenstein Barone Congressional Fellow.

The Poynter Fund contribution is designated to support a promising Fellow in print journalism. The first Poynter Fellow was Celia Chen (1985-86), staff reporter for the Wilmington, Delaware News Journal. The 1992-93 Poynter Fellow is Maureen Groppe, Staff Writer, South Bend (Indiana) Tribune.

In early 1991, MCI Communications Corporation awarded the Association a generous endowment to support the Congressional Fellowship Program in perpetuity. In addition to funding six political scientists and journalists, the gift provides financial support for up to two scholars from any field or discipline, or journalists, all of whom must have an analytical interest in public policy and in telecommunications. The APSA-MCI Communications Fellows are chosen annually through rigorous national competition. The first APSA-MCI Communications Fellow has been selected from among candidates competing for 1992-93 Congressional Fellowships. She is Shannon LeHere, former Deputy Bureau Chief, Westinghouse Broadcasting, Washington, DC. She is also a former News Director, WASH-FM, Metromedia Radio in Washington and former News Editor for Mutual Broadcasting System, Washington, DC.

The Fellowship Program commences in early November with an orientation period that includes meetings and seminars with members of Congress, congressional staffs, political scientists, journalists, lobbyists, government administrators, and others on a wide range of topics relating to Congress and national politics. During this time Fellows also begin exploring possibilities for assignments in congressional offices. These negotiations are conducted by the Fellows themselves, and their placements are decided by the Fellows and the offices in which they will work. Fellows begin work in House or Senate offices in early December, and serve in their initial assignments for about four and one-half months. In April they are encouraged to seek new assignments on the other side of the legislature so that each Fellow has an opportunity to experience both the House and Senate during the Fellowship year. Seminars for the Fellows are held throughout the year to supplement the orientation period, and each Fellow also makes one trip with a Senator or Representative to the member's home state or district to observe constituent work and campaign activities.

Kay Sterling is Administrative Director of the Congressional Fellowship Program. Christopher J. Deering, Associate Dean, Columbian College, The George Washington University, is Director for Academic Planning and Development. An Advisory Committee, whose members are listed below, provides overall policy guidance for the Program.
