Insect Science and its Application

The International Journal of Tropical Insect Science

Aims and Scope

Insect Science and its Application deals comprehensively with all aspects of scientific research targeted on tropical insects (and related arthropods), and the application of new discoveries to such diverse fields as pest and vector management and the use of insects for human welfare.

A distinctive feature of the journal is its multi- and interdisciplinary nature, which transcends the traditional boundaries of entomology.

Its second feature is its concentration on the recording and reviewing of the progress of insect science in the tropical and subtropical regions of the world. Thus, without excluding any area of the wide field encompassed by insect science, the journal will accept manuscripts in environmental physiology, the regulation of development and reproduction, population modelling, chemical ecology, natural products chemistry, plant resistance, host/insect relations, behaviour of tropical pest species, epidemiology of tropical diseases, vector biology, pest and vector management research, entomo-meteorology, insects in relation to farming systems, forest entomology, insect pathology, social insects and arthropods, and the use of insects. It is the intention of the Editors to have manuscripts published rapidly, consistent with the needs of quality control.

In addition to articles of original research, the journal also publishes book reviews, announcements and reports of meetings and mini-reviews. Each regular issue of the journal contains a short review article on a critical or rapidly developing area of tropical insect science; normally the Editors will have invited an author to contribute such a mini-review.
