RELIGIOUS ADVOCACY AND AMERICAN HISTORY

Edited by Bruce Kuklick and D. G. Hart

Religious Advocacy AND American History

EDITED BY BRUCE KUKLICK
AND D. G. HART

Religious Advocacy and American History explores the general question of bias and objectivity in higher learning from the perspective of the role of religious convictions in the study of American history. The contributors to this book, many of whom are leading historians of American religion and culture, address primarily two related questions. First, how do personal religious convictions influence one's own research, writing, and teaching? And, second, what place should personal beliefs have within American higher education?
