

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF PSYCHIATRISTS

EDUCATION COMMITTEE

READING LISTS IN PSYCHIATRY

The Royal College of Psychiatrists has been publishing reading lists of papers since 1970, as a service to trainees, but not as a suggested syllabus for any particular course of training or examination. Since 1977 the Sections have been invited to submit specialized lists, prepared by small working parties. Discussion, editing and preparation in this format have been the responsibility of a Library and Reading Lists Sub-Committee of the Education Committee, with representation from all Sections and with trainee membership, the officers being the Chairman, Dr. John Bowlby (who resigned in 1980 after years of the closest attention to the project) and the Secretary, Dr. Andrew C. Smith.

These papers were originally given at a one-day meeting at the Institute of Psychiatry in July 1983. The authors are mainly postgraduate students from abroad, and all have first-hand experience of the countries they describe. Contents include: attitudes of Sudanese populations to mental illness; Nigerian psychiatry—past, present, future; psychiatric care in Brazil; psychiatry in Chile; development psychiatry—the Botswana model; mental health services in Mexico from pre-colonial times to independence; and psychiatric services in Iraq.

STOP SWEAT SIX WEEKS!

DRIONIC® THERAPY FOR THE HYPERHIDROTIC

● MODALITY

Battery operated device uses no chemicals. Tap water wetted pads in contact with treatment area allow for patient self-use. Four to ten treatments twenty minutes long, will inhibit excess sweat for six weeks. Minor re-treatment every six weeks needed to sustain inhibition.

● SAFETY

Repeated studies confirm safety and efficacy. Published clinical study available on request. Long term (over 12 years) hospital use of iontophoretic process recorded in England.

● EFFICACY

Each Drionic package includes a quantity of PersPrint® test paper. The patients can monitor their progress toward eliminating excess perspiration by comparing a 'before' sweat print to an 'after' treatment print.

● MECHANISM

Biopsies reveal hyperkeratotic plugs within sweat ducts as result of treatment current. Further confirmation of plug was shown in study using adhesive stripping to partially restore sweating.

To save valuable office time, you can confidently recommend Drionic to your patients for their home use.

The Safety Net.

Ticehurst House was established as a psychiatric clinic more than 200 years ago. Today it retains its position at the forefront of psychiatric care.

The reputation of Ticehurst House stems from the comprehensive service it offers to patients and to the medical and psychiatric professions.

The psychiatric team at Ticehurst House offers a full spectrum of treatments in the care of short and long term patients and specialises in the active care of short term patients, the treatment of alcoholics and the assessment and treatment of psychogeriatric patients.

The hospital responds promptly to requests for out-patient consultation and admission of patients. There are excellent liaison procedures between Ticehurst House and outside Consultants and G.P's.

The special facilities at Ticehurst House include a psychogeriatric assessment unit, the Newington Alcohol Treatment Unit and facilities for day care patients.

The hospital enjoys an excellent reputation for its cuisine. Bedrooms are spacious and equipped with nurse-call systems.

Ticehurst House is easily accessible by both road and rail, being close to Wadhurst in Sussex (70 minutes from Charing Cross), and stands in forty-eight acres of delightful gardens and grounds.
