
Begotten or Made?

Human Procreation and Medical Technique

Oliver O'Donovan

In this contribution to the current debate, a theologian sets modern ethical questions against their wider cultural and philosophical background. He includes discussion of transsexual surgery, the use of donors in human fertilization, embryo research, and in vitro fertilization.

Martin Niemöller

James Bentley

Martin Niemöller died recently at the age of 92, after a lifetime of distinguished service, first as warrior and then as peacemaker. James Bentley had many interviews with Niemöller, and his biography vividly brings to life the former U-Boat commander, Christian pastor, and opponent of Hitler, who strove for peace between east and west.

The Apocryphal Old Testament

Edited by H. F. D. Sparks

A team of scholars has translated these important non-canonical Old Testament books, which include Jubilees, The Odes of Solomon, and The Apocalypse of Elijah. Planned as a complementary volume to M. R. James's well-tried The Apocryphal New Testament, this new work is designed for general use, being easy to use, and up to date in its approach.

The Works of John Wesley

Volume 7

A Collection of Hymns for the Use of People called Methodists

Edited by Franz Hildebrandt and Oliver A. Beckerlegge

This volume is devoted to John Wesley's major contribution to Christian worship: a book of 525 hymns, many of them by Charles Wesley. The editors have preserved the integrity of the original work while providing fuller documentation than has ever previously been available, including a detailed account of all the tunes suggested by Wesley for the volume.

God, Jesus and Belief

The Legacy of Theism

STEWART R. SUTHERLAND

What way forward is there for Christian faith? To reject traditional faith wholesale is to squander a precious legacy; to defend it against the light of reason displays intellectual cowardice. Professor Sutherland here combines philosophy and theology to outline a personal creed which is both radical and revisionary. It may infuriate or inspire, but it cannot fail to be thought-provoking.

The Use of the Bible in Christian Ethics

THOMAS W. OGLETREE

This long-awaited book seeks to establish a common ground between the Bible and current debates in ethics. Criticizing and modifying some of the more influential modern ethical theories, it moves towards a coherent and comprehensive ethical theory, and discusses selected biblical treatments of the moral life.

Theology and Ethics

JAMES M. GUSTAFSON

'Professor Gustafson is a highly distinguished scholar, a widely cultured, up-to-date thinker, and a man eager to accept the sound conclusions of scholarship in Biblical studies as in every other field.' Church Times

Strange Gifts

A Guide to Charismatic Renewal

Edited by DAVID MARTIN and PETER MULLEN

The charismatic movement has created a sensation in the churches in the last fifteen years. Strange Gifts is an examination of its nature and influence and includes contributors from the whole spectrum of opinion offering analysis and interpretation.

240 pages, hardback £15.00 (0 631 13357 7)

The Making of a Moonie

Brainwashing or Choice?

EILEEN BARKER

The Moonies inspire fear and anxiety; stories of brainwashing, extraordinary rituals and phenomenal wealth abound. Eileen Barker here investigates them from the inside – she is the first non-Moonie to gain such privileged access – and gives a frank and hard-hitting account of why they join, who they are and why they act as they do.

Selfless Persons

Imagery and Thought in Theravāda Buddhism

STEVEN COLLINS

This book seeks to explain carefully and sympathetically the Buddhist doctrine of anattā (not self), which denies the existence of any self, soul or enduring essence in man.

'This is a valuable addition to the corpus of Buddhist commentary which the scholar of Buddhism or religious history would be unwise to ignore.'

A New Face of Hinduism

The Swaminarayan Religion

RAYMOND B. WILLIAMS

This is the first comprehensive examination in English of the Swaminarayan religion which originated in the Indian state of Gujurat. It is now widely practised by immigrant communities in East Africa, Britain and the USA, and Professor Williams' study provides a rare insight into these communities.

'not only very readable but also an excellent piece of research.'

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Contributions and books for review should be sent to the new Editor, Professor S. R. Sutherland, King's College, Strand, London, WC2R 2LS.
2. Articles submitted to the journal should in general be between 5,000 and 10,000 words long, though articles outside these limits will be acceptable if there is some good reason for their exceptional length or brevity. Articles in two or more parts may occasionally be accepted provided each part is independently intelligible. They should normally be in English.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
4. Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing, preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. The typescript should be prepared to accord as closely as possible with the typographical conventions of the journal.
5. Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered in one sequence throughout the article, and should preferably be typed in double spacing at the end of the article.
6. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
7. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within ten days of receiving them.
8. Correction should be kept to an absolute minimum. It should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorises otherwise.
9. All contributors of articles receive 50 free offprints. Reviewers will receive five or more offprints of their reviews.
10. If rejected manuscripts are to be returned, stamps or international coupons should be sent to cover postage, but it would normally be simpler just to retain a copy.
11. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
