DR JEKYLL AND MR HYDE AFTER ONE HUNDRED YEARS

Edited by William Veeder and Gordon Hirsch

These original essays variously employ the insights of deconstruction, feminism, psychoanalysis, genre study, and intellectual and cultural history to provide a broad, contemporary perspective on Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde in its centenary. Richly illustrated, the volume also brings together the surviving fragments of the manuscript drafts of the novella and offers a comprehensive bibliography of studies pertinent to Stevenson's work and life.

*Paper $16.95 344 pages
36 halftones*

Library cloth edition $47.50

THE GAMBLER With the Diary of Polina Suslova

*Fyodor Dostoevsky
Edited by Edward Wasiolek
Translated by Victor Terras*

"The classic novel about compulsion, one of Dostoevsky's most autobiographical works, in a rich contextual setting."—Washington Post Book World

Paper $12.95 (est.) 406 pages

CREATING ELIZABETHAN TRAGEDY

The Theater of Marlowe and Kyd

*C. L. Barber
Edited by Richard P. Wheeler*

"Barber's analysis provides a powerful argument for how the Elizabethan theater functioned, not as a reflection of prevailing values, but as an independent locus for social transformation."—Leah S. Marcus, University of Wisconsin, Madison

*Paper $11.95 180 pages
Library cloth edition $29.95*

THE PLACE OF THE STAGE

License, Play, and Power in Renaissance England

Steven Mullaney

In this richly textured multidisciplinary work, Mullaney examines the social and ideological situation of popular drama in Renaissance England. He offers an original and historically grounded perspective on the emergence of popular theater and illustrates the critical, revisionary role it played in the symbolic economy of the period

*Cloth $24.95 192 pages
3 halftones, 1 map*

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF MRS. OLIPHANT

"Exhilarating. . . The vivacity of [the book] is a matter not merely of anecdote but of meticulous candour."—Susannah Clapp, London Review of Books

Paper $9.95 184 pages

ANOTHER KIND OF TRAVEL

Paul Lake

"The poems I like best in this clean and cunning book are 'An Apparition' and 'South of the City.' In them Paul Lake attempts to grasp the ungraspable, thus putting a strain on the imagination that makes for the irregular movement of the explorer's warily paced perceptions."

—Thom Gunn

*Cloth $20.00 Paper $7.95
80 pages*

A Spring Full of Books from Cornell

THE ETHICS OF CRITICISM

By Tobin Siebers. This bold and challenging book considers the implicit moral ethos in various schools of critical thought, including deconstruction, psychoanalysis, and New Criticism, and in writers as diverse as J. Hillis Miller and Hélène Cixous. "Powerful and controversial. . . Siebers identifies issues that could lead to a reorientation of critical debate."—Wallace Martin, University of Toledo. $29.95

PECULIAR LANGUAGE

Language as Difference from the Renaissance to James Joyce

By Derek Attridge. "A splendid book. It helps to show the immense usefulness of Derrida and deconstruction, not so much for the interpretation of texts as for thinking generally—and about conceptual structures in particular."—Jonathan Culler, Cornell University. $9.95 paper; $34.50 cloth

THE COMPARATIVE

PERSPECTIVE ON LITERATURE

Approaches to Theory and Practice

Edited by Clayton Koelb and Susan Noakes. Contributors: A. Owen Aldridge. Stanley Corngold. Jonathan Culler. Margaret Ferguson. Melvin J. Friedman. Wlad Godzich. W. Wolfgang Holdheim. Woon-Ping Chin Holaday. Juliet Flower MacCannell. Robert Magliola. Lowry Nelson, Jr. Michael Riffaterre. Aldo Scaglione. Susan Rubin Suleiman. Frank Warnke. Samuel Weber. Richard Weisberg. Ulrich Weisstein. Pauline Yu, and the editors. Paper $12.95; cloth $42.50

HISTORY, POLITICS, AND THE NOVEL

By Dominick LaCapra. LaCapra here provides historically informed readings of eight major novels: Stendhal's Red and Black, Dostoevsky's Notes from Underground, Eliot's Middlemarch, Flaubert's Sentimental Education, Mann's Death in Venice and Doctor Faustus, Woolf's To the Lighthouse, and Gaddis' The Recognitions, and explores how each text relates to its historical context in symptomatic, critical, and possibly transformative ways. $22.50

THE NOISE OF CULTURE

Literary Texts in a World of Information

By William R. Paulson. As contemporary science extends its influence into the humanities, literary scholars may come to regret their lack of contact with scientific thought. William Paulson here proposes a reorientation of the study of literature, both affirming its specificity and exploring its developing relations with science. $24.95

RULE OF DARKNESS

British Literature and Imperialism, 1830-1914

By Patrick Brantlinger. Brantlinger explores the complex and fascinating relationship between literature and imperialist, racist ideology in Victorian England. "An unusually full treatment of the imperialist idea as that idea developed during seven decades of the nineteenth century."—Elliot L. Gilbert, University of California, Davis. 12 illustrations. $29.95

INTELLECTUAL WOMEN

AND VICTORIAN PATRIARCHY
Harriet Martineau, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, George Eliot

By Deirdre David. "I find particularly refreshing the unflinching, tough-minded intelligence Deirdre David brings to her work on women. Her book challenges pious cant of all sorts—including the cant that sometimes creeps into feminist criticism."—Nina Auerbach, University of Pennsylvania. $24.95

New in Paperback

DRAMA OF A NATION

Public Theater in Renaissance England and Spain

By Walter Cohen. "A pioneering effort on a truly impressive scale."—Renaissance Quarterly. $14.95 paper

PRIMAL SCENES

Literature, Philosophy, Psychoanalysis

By Ned Lukacher. "An important study which offers new possibilities to those attempting to forge a path between deconstruction and Marxist or feminist criticism."—Comparative Literature. $9.95 paper
