

AEROSPACE HISTORIAN is the award-winning aviation historical journal noted for its mixture of authentic first-person accounts, illuminating and illustrated articles, and serious pieces. It is published by Kansas State University for the Air Force Historical Foundation whose purpose is to preserve the traditions and publish the history of aerospace power with special emphasis on the United States Air Force. In striving to meet these goals, the Foundation relies heavily on the publication of AEROSPACE HISTORIAN and sponsorship of appropriate educational and cultural activities. AEROSPACE HISTORIAN contains articles, book reviews, museum news, photographs, and other features stressing the importance and relevance of the lessons of the past for the present and the future. It appears in March, June, September, and December.

Untouchable

An Indian Life History

James M. Freeman. This is the autobiography of Muli, a 40-year-old untouchable, as told to an American anthropologist. Muli combines rich descriptions of daily life with perceptive observations of his social surroundings, describing in detail what it is like to be at the bottom of Indian life, and what happens when an untouchable attempts to break out of his accepted role. Chapters describe the setting and background of Muli's caste and village, tell how the information was collected, offer a suggested perspective for interpreting the story, and provide a discussion of the interviewer's role in creating the life history. Illustrated. $18.95

The Study of Chinese Society

Essays by Maurice Freedman

Selected and Introduced by G. William Skinner. Twenty-four major essays by the late Maurice Freedman, a brilliant scholar and teacher who profoundly affected the course of anthropological research into Chinese society. Parts 1 and 2 contain his pioneering papers on the Chinese in Singapore and other areas of Southeast Asia. His papers on Hong Kong, which constitute Part 3, showed social scientists what could be learned from observation in "residual China." Part 4 gives us Freedman at his best: eight elegant efforts to reconstruct the religious and kinship patterns of traditional China by a judicious comparison of recent fieldwork and the written record. Part 5 consists of essays on the challenges and problems that Chinese society presents for social anthropologists. $28.50

Drinking, Homicide, and Rebellion in Colonial Mexican Villages

William B. Taylor. Based on criminal trial records and related documents from central Mexico and Oaxaca, this investigation of three areas of social behavior analyzes how peasants conceived of their role under Spanish rule, how they behaved under stress, and how they felt about their Spanish overlords. In examining the character of village uprisings, typical relationships between killers and their victims, and the drinking patterns of the late colonial period, the author finds no warrant for the familiar picture of sullen depredation and despair.

REVIEWS IN AMERICAN HISTORY

edited by Stanley I. Kutler and Stanley N. Katz

"Reviews in American History has made itself an indispensable publication. No one interested in American history can afford not to read it."—Professor Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., The City College, The City University of New York

"Most of the reviews are not only longer but far superior pieces of critical analysis than the pedestrian summaries and/or pedantic nitpicking that pass for reviews in most scholarly journals."—Choice

"Reviews in American History is quite simply the only authoritative voice covering the entirety of this major scholarly field in depth. . . . It is central and irreplaceable for anyone wishing an understanding of what is going on in this field."—Laurence Veysey, Professor of History, University of California, Santa Cruz

Studies in Family
Kinship and Demography

Published by the National Council on Family Relations

Editor: Tamara K. Hareven

Associate Editor: Robert Wheaton

THE JOURNAL OF FAMILY HISTORY is an interdisciplinary scholarly undertaking, which publishes relevant research in history, demography, anthropology, and sociology—in the liberal arts as well as in the social sciences. Articles are published which

- advance the theory and methodologies used in the field
- present the results of recent research work in hitherto neglected areas
- provide up-to-date résumés of existing scholarship
- review major scholarly works in Family History

Its first eleven issues included special issues on Sexuality and the Family in France; Papers from the Collum Shelby Davis Center at Princeton University; and The Family in Latin America. In addition to articles on the United States and Western Europe, studies have appeared on Japan, Kenya, Latvia, and Jamaica.

FORTHCOMING:

The June, 1979 issue will publish historical essays on Women, Work, and the Family which were commissioned for a conference sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation, with contributions by Ankarloo, Bennett and Elder, Dubnoff, Hareven, Oppenheimer, Rainwater, and Tilly. In December, 1979 a second issue of papers edited by Lawrence Stone from the Collum Shelby Davis Center will appear. A special issue focusing on family history in Central and Eastern Europe, edited by Michael Mitterauer of the University of Vienna, is now in preparation. General issues in the coming year will include, among others, articles on the application of network theory to kinship relations (Richard Smith), on aging (Stearns, and Chaudacoff & Hareven), on household structure in medieval Macedonia (Hammel), and on the nature of charivari in Northern Italy (Klapisch).

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: For One Year: Institutions $18.00, Individuals $15.00, Students $10.00, National Council on Family Relations Members $10.00, Association for the Study of Family History and Historical Demography Members $10.00. Checks should be made payable to The National Council on Family Relations, 1219 University Avenue Southeast, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55414.

Comparative Studies in Society and History is a forum for presentation and discussion of new research into problems of change and stability that recur in human societies through time or in the contemporary world. It sets up a working alliance between specialists in all branches of the social sciences and humanities. Debate and review articles bring the general reader in touch with current findings and issues.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions may be descriptive, analytical or theoretical. Any article not in itself comparative may be accepted if it lends itself to comment that will place it in comparative perspective. Correspondence with the editors prior to the submission of articles will help to enable them to obtain such comment or a companion study. Emphasis in comparative studies may be either on similarities or, if these are significant enough and call for some recasting of generalisations, on differences. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editors, Comparative Studies in Society and History, Department of History, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109.

Two copies of each contribution, preferably accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope, should be submitted. Both text and footnotes should be clearly typed with double spacing and wide margins; footnotes should appear on separate pages at the end of the article. Illustrations may be included by arrangement with the editors.

Contributors will receive 50 offprints. Any additional offprints must be ordered on receipt of the first proof.

Claims for missing issues will be considered only if made immediately upon receipt of the subsequent issue.
