Isolation of Pathogenic Fungi

'OXOID' MYCOLOGICAL PEPTONE has been developed specially for the preparation of culture media for the isolation and diagnosis of pathogenic fungi, particularly from material heavily contaminated with bacteria. Fungi grown on media containing this peptone produce their characteristic form and pigment, allowing rapid and certain diagnosis.

'Gross characters of Dermatophytes' ('Oxoid' note No. L/1) has been specially prepared to assist identification and is available on request.

Other 'OXOID' Laboratory Preparations include:—

Desiccated Ox-Bile	Desiccated Ox Heart
Agar-Agar	Bacteriological Liver Extract
Bile Salts	Bacteriological Yeast Extract
Bacteriological Peptone	'Lab-Lemco'
