CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions are invited from all over the world, and especially from scholars working in African universities. Articles written in languages other than English will be considered on their merits, and where necessary translation will be arranged. The average length suggested is 3,000 to 6,000 words, with occasional exceptions of up to 10,000 words. Notes on centres of African studies, research projects, and reports of recent conferences are also welcome.

All correspondence and contributions should be addressed to

THE EDITORS, THE JOURNAL OF MODERN AFRICAN STUDIES, at either UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, DAR ES SALAAM, TANZANIA
or UNIVERSITY PRESS, CAMBRIDGE, ENGLAND.

Each contributor will receive a copy of the number and 25 offprints of his article free of charge.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Subscriptions (40s. net per annual volume of four parts, post free) are payable in advance, and may be sent to any bookseller, or to Cambridge University Press, Bentley House, 200 Euston Road, London, N.W.1. Subscribers in the U.S.A. should send their subscriptions ($7.50 per volume) to Cambridge University Press, American Branch, 32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022.

A Study of Contemporary Ghana

Volume One: The Economy of Ghana

Edited by WALTER BIRMINGHAM,
I. NEUSTAD and E. N. OMABOE

This comprehensive study is the most ambitious yet undertaken of any of the emerging African States. 'The Economy of Ghana' examines the macro-economic structure and analyses in some detail each of the major sectors of the economy. It concludes with a discussion on economic policy and planning in the Ghanaian context. 75s

Politics in West Africa

W. ARTHUR LEWIS

'... the most perceptive and the frankest analysis of West African Politics yet published'. West Africa

'His intimate knowledge of affairs in Africa equips him outstandingly to point out not only what has gone wrong in Africa—but what should be done to put it right. Friends of Africa must pray that this little book will sell in hundreds of thousands'. Punch 32s

Communism in Africa

FRITZ SCHATTEN

A first attempt to give a general picture of communist African policy and of African reactions to the attempts of international communism to influence the second phase of the African revolution in a decisive manner. The author tries to trace the historical origins of communist policy in Africa. He provides a concise analysis of African nationalism, with its road to victory and its crisis, describing the theoretical background of Soviet and Chinese policy vis-à-vis developing countries. 32s

A History of Ghana

Portugal and Africa 1815-1910

R. J. HAMMOND

This narrative and interpretive history of Portuguese activities in and regarding Africa from 1815 to the creation of the Portuguese Republic in 1910 emphasizes the period 1870-1910. The author has used British archival material extensively as well as contemporary Portuguese sources, many of which have not been used previously. The book strives to make intelligible the Portuguese view on imperial questions, a matter generally neglected except by Portuguese historians. It affords a fresh view of British, as well as Portuguese, policy during the heyday of European expansion in Africa. Illustrated with contemporary Portuguese cartoons and several maps. Food Research Institute Studies in Tropical Development. September. $8.50

Political Parties and Political Development

Volume 6: "Studies in Political Development"

Edited by JOSEPH LAPALOMBARA and MYRON WEINER.

New questions about the potential roles of political parties for initiating, managing, and consolidating dynamic change and development are raised in this sixth of the Social Science Research Council's series. Effort is made to relate European and American experiences to current developments in the emerging areas of Asia and Africa.

Modernization and British Colonial Rule in Egypt, 1882-1914

By ROBERT L. TIGNOR. In occupied Egypt, British governmental programs were closely related to England's needs as an imperial power since Egypt was occupied because of its strategic position along the route to India. British presence there, however, inevitably led to modernization during the 32 years of British rule. During the first period the British were preoccupied with the prospect of imminent withdrawal. The second period emphasized programs for such reforms as hydraulic and agricultural modernization, wider education, and urban development. The final period covered the emergence of Egyptian nationalism, whose goals proved incompatible with British rule of Egypt in spite of efforts to deal with nationalism by repression or conciliation.

SOUTHERN AFRICA IN TRANSITION

Edited by JOHN A. DAVIS and JAMES K. BAKER

Articles by more than forty distinguished specialists and African politicians on the political and economic problems of South West Africa, Angola, Mozambique, the High Commission Territories, Rhodesia, Zambia, Malawi and South Africa; also on such questions as passive resistance, U.S. policy in Southern Africa, U.N. civilian operations, theories of multi-racial politics, the role of private European capital and African nationalist and Pan-African movements.

Cloth 60s., Paperback 22s. 6d.

ALGERIA: A REVOLUTION THAT FAILED

A Political History Since 1954

ARSLAN HUMBARACI

Within the framework of a survey of the country's history and an appraisal of the nationalistic revolution and its aftermath, the author draws on close personal experience of men and events in Algeria to portray vividly a people which has yet to become a nation.

Maps 50s.

MOROCCO: OLD LAND, NEW NATION

MARK I. COHEN and LORNA HAHN

Discusses and explains events in Morocco since independence: the difficulties the country has faced since 1956 in modernising her economy and society, and the strange contradictions of her national life—a radical foreign policy and a temporising domestic one, the formation of the Casablanca group and the entente with France, multi-party rule and an ineffective opposition.
