

In Memoriam
MARK W. ZACHER
(1938–2014)

Pioneer in the study of global governance. Author and editor of many books and articles, including Governing Global Networks: International Regimes for Transportation and Communications (with Brett Sutton, 1996); Pollution, Politics, and International Law: Tankers at Sea (with R. Michael M’Gonigle, 1981); “The Secretary-General and the United Nations Function of Peaceful Settlement” (International Organization, Fall 1966); “The Secretary General: Some Comments on Recent Research” (International Organization, Fall 1969); “The GATT and the Regulation of Trade Barriers: Regime Dynamics and Functions” (with Jock A. Finlayson, International Organization, Fall 1981); “Trade Gaps, Analytical Gaps: Regime Analysis and International Commodity Trade Regulations” (International Organization, Spring 1987); and “The Territorial Integrity Norm: International Boundaries and the Use of Force” (International Organization, Spring 2001).

Associate Editor,
International Organization
1995–1996
Member, Board of Editors,
1982–1987, 1989–1994, 1996–2001