

General Editor: ALAN B. MORRISON
Preface by Justice WILLIAM J. BRENNAN, Jr.

Fundamentals of american law

The American legal system is the most significant and influential in the world today, yet until the publication of this book, there has been no text providing both the basic rules and the theoretical concepts necessary to comprehend it. Fundamentals of American Law is not the work of a single author, but a collection of essays by acknowledged experts, all of whom are on the faculty of the School of Law at New York University. One of the elite law schools in America, the NYU School of Law offers this important text as part of its unique Global Law School Program.

Truly global in its intentions, this book will attract readers ranging from lawyers and legal scholars to business people and government officials; from those whose work regularly involves legal issues and who seek a better understanding of the law, to those international citizens who need to know the general workings but not the arcane specifics of America's state and federal legal systems; from the college student who's considering law school to the general reader who wants to gain a stronger appreciation of our laws and their design.

The basic principles of American law have never been so soundly and so thoroughly presented as they are here. With twenty-three chapters and a detailed index, Fundamentals of American Law not only provides a solid foundation, but will serve as a basic reference book for years to come.

Social Issues

Maximum Security

The Culture of Violence in Inner-City Schools

JOHN DEVINE

"This chilling report from within the belly of the beast charts the mutation of ghetto schools from educational into custodial institutions and the normalization of fear and violence in America's classrooms for the poor. A must-read for scholars, policy makers, and concerned citizens who seek to understand what's wrong with inner-city schools and how to fix it."—Loïc Wacquant, University of California, Berkeley

*Paper $15.95 292 pages

Out in Force

Sexual Orientation and the Military

EDITED BY GREGORY M. HEREK,
JARED B. JOBE, AND RALPH M. CARNEY

"A hopeful, compelling, and passionate book. The contributors demonstrate that good scholarship, careful social science research, and plain old logical reasoning can shed new light on public issues of consequence. After reading Out in Force, only the most rigid minds will claim that the exclusion of gays and lesbians is justified by anything other than prejudice."—John D'Emilio, Director of the NGLTF Policy Institute

*Paper $18.95 352 pages

Worlds of Desire: The Chicago Series on Sexuality, Gender, and Culture

Ethnicity, Crime, and Immigration

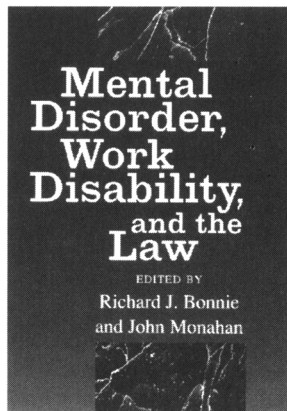

Comparative and Cross-National Perspectives

EDITED BY MICHAEL TONRY

In this, the first major cross-national examination of racial and ethnic differences in criminal offending, victimization, and disparities and discrimination in justice systems, nine leading scholars report on the latest research in Australia, Canada, Europe, and the U.S.

*Paper $22.50 456 pages

Crime and Justice: A Review of Research

Mental Disorder, Work Disability, and the Law

EDITED BY RICHARD J. BONNIE AND JOHN MONAHAN

In Mental Disorder, Work Disability and the Law, the editors bring together original work by leading scholars who have studied mental disorder and work disability. The authors' contributions build upon one another to create the first integrated account of the important policy issues at stake when law deals with the rights of mentally disordered citizens to work when they are able to, and to receive benefits when they are not.
