

Deuteronomy and the Deuteronomic School

Moshe Weinfeld

The emergence of the 'deuteronomic school' marks a turning-point in Israelite literature. The author's thesis is that its origin is to be found in scribal circles of the second half of the seventh century B.C., and he seeks to demonstrate this by an analysis of the literary form employed, by an investigation of the author's religious ideology, and by a study of their didactic aims and the affinities of their work with wisdom literature. £9

Essays on Religion and the Ancient World

Arthur Darby Nock

Selected and edited by ZEPH STEWART

The essays and book reviews of Arthur Darby Nock, scattered through many different publications, are a unique contribution to classical scholarship and the history of religion, especially to the study of paganism to early Christianity and Judaism. In these two volumes the most important of them have been collected. Frontispiece £15

The Life and Teaching of Naṛopa

Translated from the original Tibetan with a Philosophical Commentary based on the Oral Transmission by

Herbert V. Guenther

In the history of Tibetan and of Tantric Buddhism the Indian pandit Naṛopa occupies an unusual position. The life and teachings of this eleventh-century mystic mark the culmination of a long tradition and the beginning of a new and rich era in Buddhist thought. Paper covers £1.10

A Christian America

Protestant Hopes and Historical Realities

Robert T. Handy

American Protestants long cherished the belief that America would be a Protestant nation, and through much of the nineteenth century their concept of the church's role in civilization was dominant. Dr. Handy's authoritative historical study traces the influence of this concept upon American social and cultural life and shows how it affects the present crisis in American religious thought and practice. £3.60 OUP New York

OXFORD EARLY CHRISTIAN TEXTS

Tertullian: *Adversus Marcionem

Edited and translated by Ernest Evans

This work comprises the Latin text of Tertullian's five books, with a select apparatus criticus; and, on pages facing the Latin, an English version with brief explanatory notes. There is also a short introduction on Marcionism and its significance, and on Tertullian's opposition to it. Two volumes £8

Athenagoras: Legatio and *De Resurrectione

Edited and translated by William R. Schoedel, Professor of Classics and Director of Religious Studies, University of Illinois, Urbana

In the Legatio Athenagoras deals with the charge of 'atheism' so often levelled against the early Church in the Roman Empire. His efforts to reorientate the social and religious ideas of the Romans helps us to see the situation as many early Christians must have seen it, and this makes the work of great importance to the historian and theologian. £2.50

The Acts of the Christian Martyrs Introduction, Texts and Translation by

Herbert Musurillo, Professor of Classics, Fordham University

This new text offers a complete critical edition of all the authentic Acts of the Christian Martyrs from the earliest times down to Diocletian, with a general introduction reviewing the various problems connected with persecution. The light these texts throw on the beliefs and practices traditional in the early Church is of interest to historians and theologians alike. £6

Cyprian: De Lapsis and *De Ecclesiae Catholicae Unitate

Translated by Maurice Bévenot, Lecturer in Ecclesiology and Patristics, Heythrop College

The Latin text has been critically established anew from the manuscripts. That of the De Lapsis is here published for the first time, that of the De Unitate is reproduced from the author's The Tradition of Manuscripts (1961). The translations are drawn from Ancient Christian Writers: vol. 25. £1.75

Athanasius: Contra Gentes and *De Incarnatione

Edited by Robert W. Thomson, Professor of Armenian, Harvard University

Despite the importance of Athanasius's Contra Gentes—De Incarnatione no critical edition has previously been published. One of its most interesting features is that two recensions are known. The longer, authentically Athanasian one is here translated into English, while the variants of the 'short' (unauthentic) version have been indicated in the apparatus to the Greek text. £3.25

THE BUDDHIST TEACHING OF TOTALITY

Garma C. C. Chang

Emptiness—Totality—Mind-Only—these doctrines of Hwa Yen Buddhism provide a unique philosophical system which explains man, the world, and life as they are intuitively experienced in the practice of Zen. The school, increasingly regarded as the crown of Buddhist thought, arose in seventh century China and its teachings are here fully revealed for the first time to Western readers.

OPENING THE BIBLE

What relevance has the open Bible to contemporary society? Thomas Merton is particularly concerned with the Bible as a dialogue between God and man, and with modern attitudes and values in the light of its teachings. He discusses the positions of writers as diverse as William Faulkner and Marx and of other 'scriptural' writings in the world religions.

ALTAR FIRES

Essays in Sacred Literature

3rd Edition

A rich and allusive study of the Old and New Testaments, both the historical background and the literary content.

" . . . stimulating . . . makes the patriarchal characters of those distant times more effectively alive and meaningful than any interpretive chronicle I have ever read . . . "Miss Frieder writes with the soul of a poet, a heart that is open to all humanity, and a mind dedicated to the search for the eternal verities . . . does not espouse the cause of any denominational doctrine or dogma, but writes as one concerned solely with overcoming the powers of evil in the world, and in directing humanity to a higher and nobler way of life."

—William J. Fielding

ESSAYS IN RELIGION

2nd Edition

A "symposium": Jewish-Christian scriptures vis-à-vis the sacred literature of the East and the ancient Near East.

Followed by The Middle Years (on the rapport among European and Near Eastern Jewish, Moslem and Christian intellectual communities during the Middle Ages); The Inquisition; Christ and Buddha; and Paul and Felix—on the work of Felix Adler, founder of the Ethical Culture movement.
