International Organizations Law Review

Editors-in-Chief: Niels B. Blokker and Ramses A. Wessel

The International Organizations Law Review is a peer-reviewed journal that only publishes articles that have passed through an anonymous review process. After the Second World War, the law of international organizations developed as a separate, but not separable, discipline within the sphere of public international law. The International Organizations Law Review functions as a discussion forum for both academics and practitioners active in this discipline.

Responsibilities to Protect

Perspectives in Theory and Practice

Edited by David Whetham and Bradley J. Strawser

Following the humanitarian horrors of the 1990s, the international community began to seek consensus on a new norm to help address the tension between upholding the sovereign right of states to administer their own internal affairs, and the pressing need for civilian populations to be protected from their own government in certain situations. The result was the responsibility to protect initiative from the UN, accepted as an emerging norm and based on existing legal structures although not itself necessarily accepted as law.

The Law Reports of the Special Court for Sierra Leone (2 vols.)

Volume I: Prosecutor v. Brima, Kamara and Kanu (The AFRC Case)

Edited by Charles C. Jalloh and Simon M. Meisenberg

The book, which is only the first in a series of edited law reports that will capture the entire jurisprudential legacy of the tribunal, fills the gap for a single and authoritative reference source of the tribunal's jurisprudence. This volume, which consists of two books with a DVD and is edited by two legal experts on the Sierra Leone court, presents, for the first time in a single place, a comprehensive collection of all the interlocutory decisions and final trial and appeals judgments issued by the court in the case Prosecutor v. Brima, Kamara and Kanu. It contains the full text of all substantive judicial decisions, including the majority, separate and concurring as well as dissenting opinions. It additionally provides relevant information for a better understanding of the case, such as the indictments, a list of admitted exhibits and a list of documents on the case file.

- November 2012
- ISBN 978 90 04 18911 9
- Hardback (2033 pp.)
- Two volume set with CD-ROM
- List price EUR 459.- / US$ 617.-

Foreword

From its inception, the collection, publication, and dissemination of important international legal materials has been among the primary functions of the American Society of International Law. These materials were originally published as a section of the American Journal of International Law, and for the past 50 years they have been produced as a freestanding publication. Throughout this period, International Legal Materials has filled a critical need by giving scholars and practitioners access to primary source materials that were often difficult to find.

Today, with the advent of the Internet, many of these materials are widely available. But the explosion of online information related to international law has made it impossible for busy international lawyers to sift through the vast array of documents and identify those that are truly significant. Happily our editorial staff, working with our Editorial Advisory Committee, devotes the time and expertise to selecting the most significant materials and highlighting them in International Legal Materials and our blog, International Law in Brief. In addition, the Society's ASIL Insights series provides analyses of particularly high-profile developments.

Beginning in 2007, we have introduced all documents published in International Legal Materials with a prefatory note by experts from among our membership. These notes provide summaries of the documents and offer insight into their significance. In this volume, we feature notes by Djurdja Lazic, Charbel Moarbes, Peter M. Olson, Jonathan P. Worboys, and Ryan Harrington. We are extremely grateful to these authors, and we are confident that you will find their contributions of value.

We invite your comments and suggestions as we continue our efforts to meet the evolving needs of the international legal community.

Sincerely,

Mark David Agrast
Chair
Editorial Advisory Committee

INTERNATIONAL LEGAL MATERIALS®

Statement of Editorial Policy

International Legal Materials is a core publication of The American Society of International Law that reproduces texts of documents reflecting the broad scope and evolution of international law. The range of covered subjects has expanded from traditional topics such as international organizations, jurisdiction, and international trade to include developments in fields such as intellectual property, environmental law, nuclear non-proliferation, human rights, and international criminal law.

International Legal Materials serves as both a bi-monthly information service and a widely recognized archive of international law documents for a diverse, global community of legal scholars, government officials, private practitioners and institutions sharing a common interest in international law. To meet the varied demands of such a readership, documents are selected from world-wide sources on the basis of their present and future legal significance.

International Legal Materials is prepared for publication in Washington, D.C., with both the advice of the Editorial Advisory Committee and the assistance of Corresponding Editors around the world. In order to reproduce the texts of selected documents under tight production schedules, the best available source is used, whether electronic or printed.

Guidelines for Submission of Documents

The ILM Office welcomes any effort to bring suitable documents to the Office's attention. Electronic files or web links are required for publication, although printed texts can be used for initial deliberations regarding republication.

The authenticity (i.e., official version status) of submitted documents must be easily verifiable. This is facilitated by submitting files or print versions which are clearly attributable to the original source, or by providing links to documents on the original source's official website.

If the official version of a document is not available in English, an unofficial translation is acceptable. The original text must accompany such a translation.

Introductory Notes

Introductory Notes are brief articles from one to three pages in length which are intended to provide background information for a document reproduced in ILM.

For example, an Introductory Note for a treaty might include a short history of the negotiations, the dates of signature, and entry into force. An Introductory Note for legislation would give its history and international significance, while one for judicial proceedings would provide the background of the case.

The views of authors in Introductory Notes are their own and do not necessarily reflect those of either the American Society of International Law or the Managing Editor.

Acceptance of Materials and Corrections

Print submissions cannot be returned. Translators and others submitting material will be notified of the acceptance of their document for publication.

Once a translation or Introductory Note has been accepted for reproduction, the American Society of International Law will send a publication agreement to the author.

Translators and Introductory Note Authors shall be acknowledged in International Legal Materials.

In some cases minor editorial or typographical alterations may be made without contacting the author or translator. Major corrections will be sent to the author or translator for approval. Corrected Introductory Notes or translations must be returned within the time specified.

International Law In Brief

The Attorney-Editor of International Legal Materials also publishes the blog International Law In Brief, which contains objective abstracts of recently released documents pertinent to international law.

Documents abstracted in International Law In Brief are later considered for reproduction in International Legal Materials.

The archive of the International Law In Brief blog is located at The American Society of International Law website (<http://www.asil.org>). A search engine provides an easy way to find abstracts of specific documents.

The International Law In Brief blog is free, and subscription is available via RSS feed.
