

APPLICATIONS INVITED FOR RESEARCH GRANTS IN MISSION AND WORLD CHRISTIANITY

The Overseas Ministries Study Center, New Haven, Connecticut, administers the Research Enablement Program for the advancement of scholarship in studies of Christian Mission and Christianity in Asia, Africa, Latin America, and Oceania. Grants will be awarded on a competitive basis in the following categories:

Field research for doctoral dissertations

Post-doctoral book research and writing projects

Missiological consultations (small scale)

Planning grants for major interdisciplinary research projects

The Research Enablement Program is designed to foster scholarship that will contribute to the intellectual vitality of the Christian world mission and enhance the worldwide understanding of the Christian movement in the non-Western world. Projects that are cross-cultural, collaborative and interdisciplinary are especially welcome. The deadline for receiving 1996 grant applications is November 30, 1995. THE UNRELIEVED PARADOX

Studies in the Theology of Franz Bibfeldt

Edited by MARTIN E. MARTY and JERALD C. BRAUER

"It would be difficult to think of a theologian who better typifies the theology of our era than the equally beloved and vilified Franz Bibfeldt. . . . Here in one volume are the essays, letters, and assorted refuse of the one scholar who has been able to unite biblical fundamentalism, ecological feminism, and deconstructive polytheism with sex. . . . To the editors of this remarkable volume, on behalf of all contemporary theologians (pale imitations of the great Bibfeldt!), all I can say is, 'Thanks, we deserved this.'"

—WILLIAM H. WILLIMON
Duke University Chapel

"The best spoof of arcane, academic Christian theology to come along in quite some time."

—PUBLISHERS WEEKLY

"Franz Bibfeldt speaks not in tongues but in schnitzels and schweigers. The meister theologian says what others would like to say, indeed as if others had put the words in his mouth."

—MICHAEL HIRSLEY
Religion writer, Chicago Tribune

"... an otherwise extraordinary achievement..."

THE ODYSSEY OF A NEW RELIGION

The Holy Order of MANS From New Age to Orthodoxy

Phillip Charles Lucas

Traces the journey of a new religious movement from its start as a monastic-style New Age to its transformation into the more conventional Christ the Savior Brotherhood, an Eastern Orthodox sect. A remarkable story of social and spiritual change in contemporary America.

NEW RELIGIONS AND THE THEOLOGICAL IMAGINATION IN AMERICA

Mary Farrell Bednarowski

"... explores the big issues tackled by six fascinating American religions. Bednarowski is especially good at elucidating the theological daring of these new American religions." —Jon Butler, Church History

This careful examination of six new religions—Mormonism, Christian Science, Theosophy, Scientology, the Unification Church, and New Age thought—presents a balanced comparative account of their emerging theological systems.

HEIKO A. OBERMAN

In this wide-ranging volume, Heiko Oberman traces threads of continuity flowing to and through the Reformation. Many of his most important studies appear here in English for the first time.

Professor Oberman explores “experiential” mysticism; the tradition of humility; the “battle on two fronts” waged by the Wittenberg circle against Prierias and Eck; Luther’s medieval and apocalyptic conception of reformatio and its purpose; the pre-history of “confessionalization” in the Confession of Augsburg and its Confutatio by Luther’s Roman opponents; Zwingli’s plan for a Godly alliance in the southern Germanic ecumene, and the destructive tensions between Zwingli and Luther. In the final chapter he describes a model of three long-term “Reformations” that can also be seen as revolutions: the Conciliar Reformation, the City Reformation, and the Calvinist Reformation of the Refugees.

The often denied and generally misunderstood “continuities” between theological directions of the later Middle Ages, the theological reformation of the early sixteenth century, and subsequent developments are constantly illuminated through exacting detail and compelling insights.

INTRODUCING A NEW SERIES —

Columbia Series in Reformed Theology

This series provides theological resources from the Reformed tradition to inform the church today. Volumes in this series are intended for scholars, professional theologians, and for pastors and laity who are committed to faith in search of understanding.

The first two volumes—

Union with Christ

John Calvin and the Mysticism of St. Bernard

Dennis E. Tamburello

Cloth $16.00
Now available

This fascinating volume explores the mystical strand of thought that exists in the writings of John Calvin. It will challenge anyone who assumes that "mysticism" and "Protestantism" are incompatible.

"An illuminating demonstration of the fact these two figures (John Calvin and St. Bernard) understand the mystical union in Christ in remarkably similar ways. In the current widespread interest in spirituality, this discussion will play a significant role indeed....Significant as it is for Calvin studies...this work will know a significance beyond these limits." — Benjamin A. Reist, Stuart Professor of Systematic Theology, Emeritus, San Francisco Theological Seminary and the Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley

John Calvin's Exegesis of the Old Testament

David L. Puckett

Cloth $17.00
March

John Calvin's reading of the Old Testament was a departure from many of his contemporaries. David Puckett examines this often-neglected area of study of John Calvin's exegetical reasoning in this comprehensive and fascinating analysis. For anyone who wishes to understand the historical tensions that existed in Calvin's time with regard to the interpretation of scripture, this book will be of great value. For those who wish to understand Calvin's actual method of exegetical reasoning, a largely unmined source of information that reveals what he most valued as an exegete, this book will be invaluable.

PAUL K. CONKIN

REFORMED CHRISTIANITY IN ANTEBELLUM AMERICA

Paul Conkin offers the first comprehensive examination of mainline Protestantism in America, from its colonial era emergence to its years of decline preceding the Civil War. "A rare treat—a synoptic, fascinating, and splendidly written general treatment of reformed theology in America that is as intellectually acute as it is historically probing."—Jon Butler, Yale University

THE ESTABLISHMENT CLAUSE

LEONARD W. LEVY

SECOND EDITION, REVISED RELIGION AND THE FIRST AMENDMENT

Leonard Levy argues that, contrary to popular belief, the framers of the Constitution intended to prohibit government aid to religion even on an impartial basis. "Levy [is] one of the best of our constitutional historians. . . . This is a strong, admirable book—at times, even passionate."—New York Times Book Review

SEPARATISM AND SUBCULTURE

PAULA M. KANE

BOSTON CATHOLICISM, 1900–1920

Paula Kane explores the role of religious identity in Boston in the early twentieth century and argues that Catholicism was an integrating force among ethnic and class groups. "[One] of the best studies of the defining cultural struggle Catholics have endured . . . in twentieth-century America."—James T. Fisher, Yale University
