DRUG CONTROL POLICY

Essays in Historical and Comparative Perspective

Edited by William O. Walker III

Drug Control Policy is a detailed look at drug control policy as it has been shaped historically in the United States and other countries, most notably China and East Asia. William O. Walker has brought together leading scholars writing in the field to contribute essays that offer broad perspectives on the history of drug policy. Contributors are William O. Walker III, John C. McWilliams, David T. Courtwright, Kathryn Meyer, Jonathan Marshall, Douglas Clark Kinder, and William B. McAllister.

REFUGEES AND THE ASYLUM DILEMMA IN THE WEST

Edited by Gil Loescher

This is the first study of the asylum-refugee problem to examine not only the history of policies of receiving nations in the West but also some of the underlying causes of refugee movements. Past studies of the asylum problem have focused narrowly on the conditions in receiving countries and have failed to see the global interconnectedness of the refugee problem. The authors argue that resolving the asylum problem in the West requires policymakers to direct their attention toward the conditions outside of the industrialized countries that cause mass movements of populations as well as toward the improvement of their own asylum procedures. Contributors are Gil Loescher, Claudena M. Skran, Norman L. Zucker and Naomi Flink Zucker, James C. Hathaway, Philip Rudge, and Mark P. Gibney.

Ethical Issues in the Transnational Migration of People and Money

Edited by Brian Barry and Robert E. Goodin

In this innovative interdisciplinary work, a group of leading philosophers, economists, political theorists, and scholars of international relations examine questions arising from the increasingly salient phenomenon of the flow of people and money across national borders from five different ethical perspectives: liberal egalitarianism, libertarianism, Marxism, natural law, and political realism. Contributors are Brian Barry, Christopher Brown, Joseph Carens, Ann Dummett, John Finnis, Robert E. Goodin, David C. Hendrickson, Kurt Hübner, Deepak Lal, I. M. D. Little, Terry Nardin, Onora O'Neill, Philippe Van Parijs, Hillel Steiner, Susan Strange, Paul J. Weithman, and Jim Woodward.

BEYOND THE WELFARE STATE?

The New Political Economy of Welfare

Christopher Pierson

"Beyond the Welfare State? draws on a careful and exhaustive review of both the theoretical literature and empirical evidence on the contemporary Western welfare states and social democracy. Pierson's overview of the forces that propelled comparative welfare state development, crisis, and change is masterful, critical, and balanced. Packed with fresh insights and sharp reasoning, the book manages to pull together what it is important to know in the field of comparative welfare state studies. It is just about the best review of the literature currently available—a perfect text for upper-level university courses."

JOURNAL OF POLICY HISTORY

Donald T. Critchlow, Editor
Thomas F. Curran, Managing Editor

The JOURNAL OF POLICY HISTORY offers a new approach to policy analysis that is both historical and innovative. It provides a forum for scholars concerned with enriching our understanding of public policies and their development through historical inquiry and interpretation.

Not just a subfield in the social sciences, policy history as JPH presents it is an interdisciplinary approach to understanding public policy within a historical perspective — the choices that have been made and their alternatives.
