The Homeless

CHRISTOPHER JENCKS

How widespread is homelessness, how did it happen, and what can be done about it? These are the questions explored by Christopher Jencks. He examines the standard explanations and finds that the deinstitutionalization of the mentally ill, the invention of crack cocaine, rising joblessness among men, declining marriage rates, cuts in welfare benefits, and the destruction of skid row have all played a role. Changes in the housing market have had less impact than many claim, however, and real federal housing subsidies actually doubled during the 1980s. $17.95 cloth

Welfare Realities

From Rhetoric to Reform

MARY JO BANE AND
DAVID T. ELLWOOD

In this book, two leading experts attempt what is nearly impossible: to examine welfare, its recipients, its providers, and the swirl of policy ideas with calm and clarity. Concentrating on the program called AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children), they examine the demographics of the populations receiving assistance, the duration of that aid—who receives benefits for a long time and who, only briefly, during important transitional periods—and the prospects facing AFDC recipients within the current administrative culture. Finally, the authors present recommendations for changing the current welfare system. $29.95 cloth

Modern Public Finance

JOHN M. QUIGLEY AND EUGENE SMOLENSKY, EDITORS

"These essays add up to a comprehensive, lucid, and very up-to-date presentation of the state of the art in public finance theory, with the presentation done by those who truly are the authorities."
—Dick Netzer, New York University

$39.95 cloth

Public Education

An Autopsy

MYRON LIEBERMAN

"This is a remarkable book. It provides by far the most comprehensive account yet of how the public schools are failing us and why. It is exhaustive in its detail, brutally honest—and politically incorrect. Everyone who cares about American education should read it. No one who does will ever look at the public schools in quite the same way again."

—Terry M. Moe,

Washington Post Education Review

$27.95 cloth

Losing Time

The Industrial Policy Debate

OTIS L. GRAHAM, JR.

"An experienced practitioner of the historian's craft reports the results of careful research in prose that is a pleasure to read...Because Graham takes pains to explain theories and debates clearly and eloquently, the book should appeal to the uninitiated. Because Graham's analysis is both comprehensive and insightful, the book should appeal to the experienced policy analyst who is already immersed in the debate."

—Frank Dobbin, Contemporary Sociology

A Twentieth Century Fund Book $16.95 paper

Divided Families

What Happens to Children
When Parents Part

FRANK F. FURSTENBERG, JR., AND
ANDREW J. CHERLIN

"Forests were felled to erect the mountain of literature about divorce and its aftermaths. But one might not gain a better grasp of this tangled, tragic process by reading all of it than by reading this one book...It is short, readable, [and] comprehensive."

—David Mehegan, Boston Globe

The Family and Public Policy $10.95 paper

NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS

GUIDELINES

The distinctive readership of the Journal, cutting across academic disciplines and national boundaries, makes the following points of particular importance to contributors.

*Whatever the specific subject matter, the relevance of conclusions to a broad understanding of policymaking should be made explicit.

*Whatever the national setting, the extent to which conclusions are generalizable to many nations should be explicitly discussed.

*Each article should show an awareness of the constraints that public institutions place upon policymaking.

*Jargon should be avoided; technical terms not widely understood should be clearly defined; and the conclusions of statistical analyses should be set out in prose, as well as being supported by quantitative information in tables, footnotes and text as appropriate.

PREPARATION OF MANUSCRIPT

The entire manuscript, including footnotes and references, should be typed double-spaced on one side only of A4 size paper, with a left-hand margin of at least  $1\frac{1}{4}$  inches ( $3\frac{1}{2}$  cm). Manuscript pages should be numbered consecutively.

The title of the article and the author's name and address should be typed on a separate page at the beginning of the article.

The second page should contain an abstract of not more than 150 words and the title of the article, but not the author's name.

Tables and Figures should be numbered consecutively in separate series. Each table or figure should be typed or drawn on a separate sheet. Every table or figure should have a title or caption and at least one reference in the text to indicate its approximate location.

STYLE

Spelling, capitalization and punctuation should be consistent within each article. Detailed advice on all matters of style is contained in Judith Butcher's book, Copyediting, Cambridge University Press (1975).

Headings of not more than two grades should be used and they should be typed on separate lines.

Numbered footnotes should be avoided; citation of references in the text is the norm. If there are a few points that require discussion in the article but not in the body of the text, numbered footnotes may be used. They may also be useful for technical details, e.g. statistical points that would interrupt the flow of the text. Numbered footnotes should be typed consecutively, double-spaced, at the end of the paper, starting on a new page.

References to publications should be placed in the text. Examples of correct styling for bibliographic citation where the author's name is mentioned in the text are Alford (1975), Biller (1976, 136-7), May and Wildavsky (1978), Ostrom, Parks and Whitaker (1978) and subsequently Ostrom et al. (1978).

At the end of the paper, all references should be consolidated in a single alphabetical list starting on a new page. Authors are particularly requested to verify that each text reference appears in the list, and vice versa. In addition to author(s) surname and first name(s) or initial(s), and the title of the book or article, references to books should always include the city of publication and publisher, and for journal articles the volume and part number. For example:

Alford, R. (1975) Health Care Politics. Chicago: University of Chicago Press.

Biller, R. (1976) On tolerating policy and organizational termination: some design considerations, Policy Sciences, 7, 2, 133-49.

Campbell, D. (1971) Reforms as experiments. In F. Caro (ed.), Readings in Evaluation Research. New York: Russell Sage.

May, J. and A. Wildavsky (eds.) (1978) The Policy Cycle. Beverly Hills: Sage.

SUBMISSION

Please submit the original manuscript plus three copies to: Professor Richard Rose, Journal of Public Policy, Centre for the Study of Public Policy, University of Strathclyde, Livingstone Tower, Glasgow, G1 1XH, Scotland.

COPYEDITING AND PROOF-READING

The editor and publishers reserve the right to copyedit and proof all items accepted for publication. Authors will review their copyedited manuscripts only if substantial changes have been made. Manuscripts which do not conform to the requirements about style and format may be returned for retyping.

Page proofs of articles will be sent to authors for correction of typographical errors only. Authors must notify the editorial office of any corrections within one week of receipt or approval will be assumed.

Submission of an article or other item implies that it has not been published or accepted for publication elsewhere. Authors are responsible for obtaining written permission to publish material for which they do not own the copyright. Contributors of material accepted for publication will be asked to assign their copyrights to Cambridge University Press.

Each author will receive 50 offprints of his article without charge. Additional copies may be purchased if ordered at proof stage.

The Journal of Public Policy is sponsored by the Centre for the Study of Public Policy, University of Strathclyde
