A wide variety of currencies were used in Africa during the period of this study. Wherever possible, I have converted local currencies to pound sterling. I have also used the Maria Theresa thaler (MT$), which circulated widely in the northern Savanna and East Africa from the end of the eighteenth century. Cowries were also used in large parts of West Africa. Unless otherwise specified, all weights and measures are metric.